special to The New York Times CHTAURA, Lebanon, Sept. 23-Elias Sarkis, a 52-year-old banker, was inaugurated today as the sixth President of Lebanon under the protection of the Syrian Army and some Lebanese soldiers. He called upon all sides to strive for peace in the Lebanese civil war, which began a year and a half ago.

Yasir Arafat, the Palestinian guerrilla leader, announced in a letter to President Sarkis that be would order his forces to observe the cease-fire in all of Lebanon to make the new President's task easier. Both the Palestinians and their Lebanese leftist and Moslem allies had bitterly opposed the election of Mr. Sarkis last May by the Lebanese National Assembly.

Inauguration of Sarkis Is a Gain for the Objectives of Syria in Mideas

By JAMES F. CLARITY Special to The New York Times

DAMASCUS, Syria, Sept. 23-After oearly four months of military occupation in more than half of Lebanon, Syria ap-pears to be achieving some of the goals of the intervention. But many of Syria's objectives in Lebanon still pose serious problems for the rule of President Hafez -Assad.

The loauguration today of Elias Sarkis as the Lebanese President, who was elected in May with Syria's full political and military support, was one of Mr. Assad's first goals. But Syria has many other ob-jectives to Lebanon and the mere inauguthe view of officials and diplomats, that Syria's involvement in Lebanoo is aboot to diminish or that its occupation forces -15,000 troops and 500 tapks—are soon to be brought home. ation of Mr. Sarkis does not mean, in Eliss Sarkis, who was loaugurated yes-terday as President of Lebanon, is a quiet man who leads a secluded life. quiet Uotil he announced his candidacy last spring, he bad never held a news ference.

Mr. Sarkis is a Maronite Catholic. He was born July 20, 1924, the son of a shopkeeper in the mountain village of Shibaniyah, 22 miles east of Beirut, where Christians and Moslem Druses lived in pages for emptying lived in peace for centuries. He brings to the awesome task of trying to restore peace in Lebanon the background of a technocrat and the reputation of a meticulous administra-

A former governor of Lebanoo's Cen-tral-Bank, Mr. Sarkis first came to prominence in 1958 wheo he was named head of the Presidential Office under Gen. Fuad Chebab, who was President from 1958 to 1964. He has never sewed as a cabinet minister, although he was an uosuccessful candidaté for president six years ago. ## "America and God's Will" by Reverend Sun Myung Moon almost like a tug-of-war between God and Satan with man as the prize. Goodand Evil have been struggling to win man to their respective sides.

would not only have been successful Israel, but also would have gone on the unite all the Arab nations and Asia, linking the East and West. By unifying the world under the sovereignty of God. He would have established t Kingdom of God on earth at that time, Israel and Judaism, however, did not fully realize their responsibility. Jesus was not accepted as the Messiah. and finally was crucified on the cross. Thus, God's Kingdom remained unfulfilled. However, Jesus opened the way to spiritual salvation and started. Christianity which is spiritually in the position of the Second Israel.

delivered at the God Bless America Festival, Washington Monument, September 18, 1976

Honorable Citizens of the United States and world delegates: I would like to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all of you for "Meeting us at the Monument." Tonight we are celebrating America's Bicentennial in the Name of God. For you and me, this is an historical moment.

Tonight I would like to speak on the subject "America and God's Will."

God is eternal, unchanging, unique and absolute. If those are the qualities of God, His purpose. of creation must also be eternal, unchanging and absolute. In the beginning, God's ideal was to create one world of unity and harmony.

Today, however, our world has no unity or harmony. Instead there is much division, disharmony, confusion, and chaos. Individually, our minds are separated from our bodies, and our families, races, nations and our world are torn apart. This reality is in total contradiction to God's original intention. Clearly something is fundamentally wrong.

Victory over Evil

Religion has an explanation. It says that this world-wide division is the result of our first ancestors' rebellion against God, the Fall of Man.' In order to save fallen man, God sent the Messiah. His purpose was to restore man back to his original state before the Fall. Therefore, Salvation is the same as Restoration.

The Fall of Man brought about this fallen world. Disobeying God's Word, man rebelled against Him. This put him in the position to be overpowered by Satan's lies. And so, finally man united with Satan, receiving Satan's personality and love instead of God's personality and love.

To be restored as an original man, we must reverse the process of the Fall. This time we must separate ourselves from Satan, reach out to God whom we have lost, and obey His Word. In this way we can receive God's personality and His love.

Selfishness is Unhappiness

God is supremely selfless and supremely public minded; whereas Satan is absolutely self-centered and only out for himself.

God's formula to restore man is for us to become God-like. This means that we must become completely selfless and public minded. Each of us must become a person who is able to sacrifice himself for the sake of others.

Such a selfless and public minded person will prosper because he is the image of God. The selfish, self-centered person will decline because he is the opposite of God. This is God's rule.

Human history has been a history of struggle, a history of war. It has been Therefore in history the evil side has always taken the aggressive and offensive position. Good has been passive and defensive; yet, God is on the side of Good. In the end, the good side always wins the victory. The good side is always the underdog; yet, it comes out victorious and expands.

For example, during World War I and World War II, the evil sides attacked first; yet, they were the ones to be defeated. Today, there is much talk about World War III. This time Evil, represented by the Communist nations, is challenging the free world, provoking conflicts and war everywhere. But again based on God's formula, the ultimate victory will surely be on the side of God.

Has the Messiah Completed His Work?

There is another formula in God's Work of Restoration. Before God sends the Messiah to restore man, He always prepares a central religion and a chosen nation as the foundation to receive the Messiah.

According to this formula, God established Judaism as the first central religion, and Israel as the first chosen nation. Upon this base God sent Jesus Christ as the Messiah. His hope was that the chosen nation and religion become one with Jesus to establish the Kingdom of God on earth and restore the world to God.

For this purpose, God prepared Judaism and Israel for nearly 4,000 Biblical years. If they had recognized Jesus Christ as the Messiah and worked with Him in a spirit of sacrifice, He A Quick Historical Glimpse The early Christians marched toward Rome only to find terrible persecution For 400 years the blood of many martyrs was spilled. Their sacrifice atoned for the loss of 4,000 years of God's preparation for the Messiah. The Christians finally triumphed in Rome and Christianity became the state religion. Thus Rome came to occupy the position of the Second Israel physically and received the blessing of God.

At that time God expected th Papacy and Rome to completely un and unselfishly build the unified wc left unaccomplished at the time of Jesus.

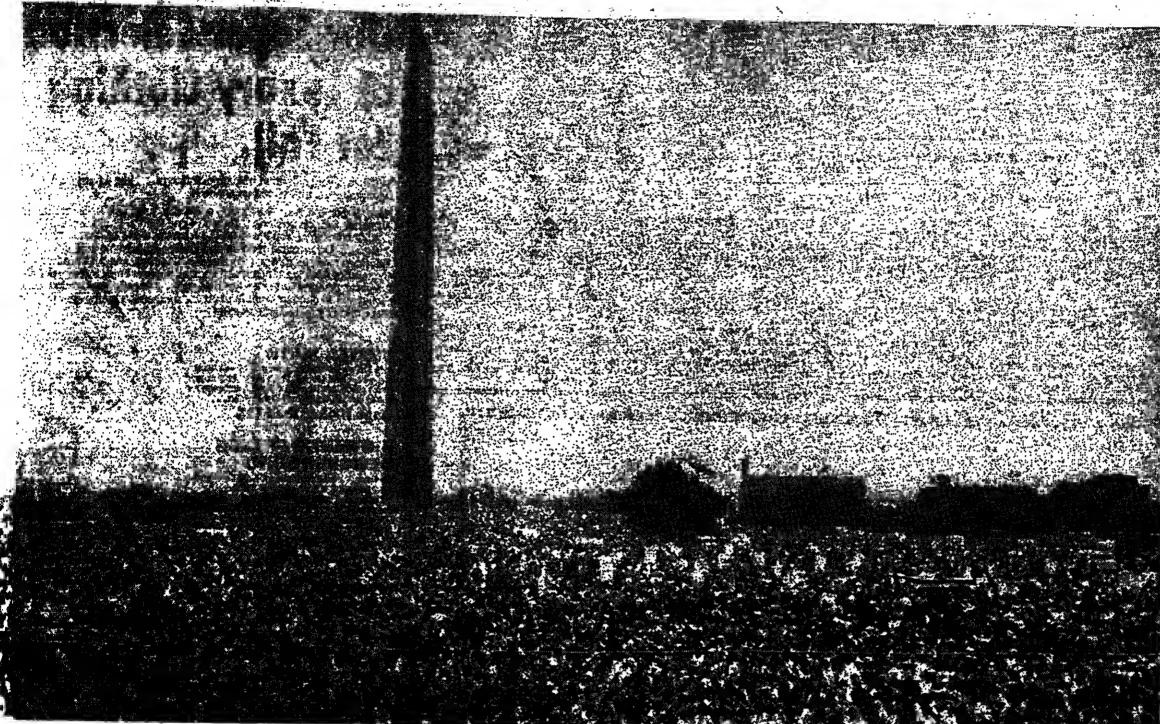

However, the Papacy also did realize the significance of its missio and often used its power for its owr glory. There was abuse and corrupt in the Church and it departed from will and expectation of God. The dignity of the Papacy fell.

In reaction, humanism arose and Protestantism called for the reformation of the Church. Instea heeding the call, the Papacy and t Roman authorities increased their persecution of the reformers.

During that period, it was no coincidence that Henry VIII, Kir England, also revolted against Rc Catholicism and, enacting a new through Parliament, founded the

Israel, the United States and Korea Are Brothers

These three religions are indeed three brothers in the Providence of God. Then, Israel, the United States and Korea, the nations where these three religions are based must also be brothers. Because these three nations have a common destiny representing God's side, the Communist bloc as. Satan's representative is trying to isolate and destroy them at the U.N.

Therefore these three brother nations must join hands in a unified effort to restore the United Nations to its original purpose and function. They must contribute internally to the unification of world religions and externally to the unification of the world itself.

Have you heard about "Godism"? "One World Under God" is the unchanging, eternal and absolute desire of God. This goal will be realized; yet, in order to accomplish this goal, the unity of religions is the first and essential task. When all men worship one God as Father, accept one Messiah and uphold one Godism, an absolutely God-centered way of life; then the dwelling of God will be with men. It will be only a matter of time to see the Kingdom of God here on earth.

The United States of America, transcending face and nationality, is already a model of the unified world. She must realize that the abundant blessings which God has been pouring upon this land are not just for America, but are for the children of God throughout the world. Upon responsibility as a world leader and the chosen nation of God.

Israel did not meer the expectation of God, nor did Rome, nor did Great Britain. Now what about America?

To inspire America to avoid the same mistakes, to inspire America to sacrifice herself for the sake of the world, and to inspire America to work towards "One World Under God", God summoned Reverend Moon to this country to proclaim God's new revelation. And in particular, God called me to lead the young people of America, the leaders of tomorrow, back to God.

Today America is plagued with problems: racism, juvenile delinquency, and immorality. Christianity is declining. Communism is rising. The menace of Communism is everywhere. Of all these problems, atheistic Communism is the worst. It is not just America's problem; it is the problem of free men everywhere; it is the problem of all religious people; it is the problem of God, Himself.

"I Love America"

Ladies and gentlemen, at this crossroads of human history, we must listen to the calling of God. God prepared America for 200 years. This is with Godism, she must free the Communist world, and at last, build the Kingdom of God here on earth. God has chosen America as the flag bearer. America must rise up. Today. Tomorrow may be too late.

I not only respect America but truly love this nation. I respect and love her as a great nation, as a godly nation, and as the central nation in God's Providence. She is now at the threshhold of her third century. She must not disappoint God. Today let us pledge to God Almighty that we shall do His Will. We shall never let Him down. Never!

Today in this holy place, let us together lay the cornerstone of the Kingdom of God on earth. Let us all join together as the co-workers of God. Let us be the pioneers of His Kingdom.

My dear brethren who long for unity, this is the place of commitment, the moment of decision. If you are willing to give your sweat, your blood, and your very lives to the call of God, then in this sacred moment before heaven and earth and before all mankind, let us shout it out. We know we can build the Kingdom of God here on earth, in His power, but with our own hands.

May God bless you and your homes, and forevermore, God bless America. Thank you very much.

resident of Miners' Union Opens a Convention That He Did Not Want

By BEN A, FRANKLIN ial to The New York Times

GINCINNATI, Sept. 23-Arnold R. Miller. former West Virginia coal miner was elevated four years ago to the idency of the United Mine Workers America, opened here today a miner tion convention that he did not want that may adopt positions he will not and perhaps cannot survive.

The 10-day gathering was called by Mr. Miller's union opponents. He opened the gathering before 2,000 delegates with an appeal to unite behind his leadership. Before a large photo-mural of the late John L. Lewis, the coal miners' presi-dent for 40 years and a titan in the labor movement, Mr. Miller was given a brief standing ovation.

The meeting opened in Ciocinnati's Convention Center, where an increasingly aggressive anti-Miller majority on the mine workers' international executive board contrived months ago to hold this convention nearly a year earlier than Mr. Miller had planned. The convention was symbolic of his loss of control of the political apparatus of the tich, 277.000-member union.

At one point in his 50-minute speech this afternoon, Mr. Miller was applauded for saying: "The changes you make in the constitution should not be made because yon support my policies and my administration or because you oppose them. Your decision about our constitution should be made in the best interests of the United Mine Workers of America." It was his most rousing response. Whether this meant the members con-

Even though Mr. Miller appointed gen-erally friendly delegates to the key con-vention committees that have been meeting here since last week, there is certain to be an attempt on the convention floor to force a constitutional, change that would shift much of his presidential au-thority to the anti-Miller executive board

CLEAR

A marriage of solid-state integrated circuitry, infra-red electro-optics and the latest in direct-drive engineering that produced the most accurate, reliable, noiseless turntable ever invented.

And the most sensational. We call it the Accutrac 4000. And s the first turntable in the world that lets you re-arrange the playing order of a record, just by pushing a button

Suppose you want to hear selec-tions 5, 3 and 7. Simply press the buttons marked 5, 3 and 7. Accutrac's miraculous infra-red scanning beam, located in the head of the tonearm, reads the surface of the record and directs the tonearm to follow your instructions.

And it can do this, by cordless remote control, even from across the room. What's more, since the tonearm is electronically directed to the record, you never have to touch it. Therefore, you never risk dropping the tonearm accidentally and scratching a record, or damaging a stylus.

It cues electronically, too... For example, if your listening is interrupted for any reason, the infra-red eye will return the stylus to the same groove it left, within a fraction of a revolution. Even the best damped cue lever can't provide such accuracy. Or safety.

And since the servo-motor that drives the tonearm is decoupled the instant the stylus goes into play, both horizontal and vertical friction. is virtually eliminated. To provide the most accurate tracking possible.

Transcript of First Campaign Debate Between Ford and Can

Following is a transcript of last night's debate between President Ford and Jimmy Carter in the Walnut Street Theater in Philadelphia, as recorded by The New York Times through the facilities of ABC News. The moderator was Edwin Newman of NBC News. The questioners were Frank Reynolds of ABC News, Elizabeth Drew of The New Yorker and James P. Gannon of The Wall Street Journal.

MCDERATOR:Good evennig, 1'm Edwi 1 Newman, moderator of this first debate of the 1976 campaign between Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Republican candidete for President, and Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Democrabic candidate for Presideot.

We thank you, President Ford and we thank you, Governor Carter, for being with us tooight.

being with us tooight. There are to be three debates between the Presidential candidates and one between the Vice Presidential candidates. All are being arranged by the League of Womeo Voters Education Fund.

Tonight's debate, the first between Presideotial caodidates in 16 years and the first ever in which an incumbent President has participated, is taking place hefore an audience io the Walnut Street Theater io Philadelphia, just three blocks from Independence Hall.

The television audience may reach 100 million io the United States and many millions overseas.

Tonight's debate focuses oo domestic issues and economic policy. Questions will be put hy Frank Reynolds of ABC News, James Gannoo of the Wall Street and Elizabeth Drew of the New Yorker magazine.

Under the agreed rules the first ouestion will go to Governor Carter. That was decided by the toss of a coin. He will have up to three minutes to answer. One follow-up question will he permitted with up to two minutes to reply. Presideot Ford will then hava two minutes to respood.

The cext question will go to President Ford with the same time arrangements and questions will continue to be alter oated between the candidates. Each man will make a three-minute statement at the end, Governor Carter to go first.

President Ford and Governor Carter do not have aoy notes or prepared remarks with them this evening.

Mr. Reynolds, your question for Governor Carter.

Q: Mr. Presideot, Goveroor Carter, Goveroor, in an interview with The Associated Press last week, you said these debates would alleviate a lot of concero that some voters have about you, Well, ooe of those concerns is oot an uncommon one about candidates in any year is that many voters say they really don't know where you stand. Now, you have made jobs your No. 1 priority and yoo have said you are committed to a drastic reduction in unemployment. Can wa say now, Governor, in specific terms, what your first step would be next January if you are elected to achieve that?

Stesses Econonic Strength

CARTER: Yes, First of all is to recognic the tremendous ecocomic strength in this country and to set the putting hack to work of our people as a top priority.

This is an effort that ought to be done primarily by strong leadership in the White House, the inspiration of our people, tha tapping of business, agriculture, industry, labor and government at all levels to work on this project.

We'll oever have an end to the inflationary spiral and we'll never have a balanced budget until we get our people back to work.

Following is a transcript of last ight's debate between President ord and Jimmy Carter in the Walnut creet Theater in Philadelphia, as reorded by The New York Times rough the facilities of ABC News.

And I think this would be easy to accomplish, to get jobs done, without having strong inflationary pressures that would be necessary. I would not favor the payment of a given fixed income to people aod oot say they're not able to work. But with tax iocentives for the low-income group, we can build up their income levels above the poverty level and not make welfare more profitable than work.

Carter Specifics Doubted

FORD: I doo't believe that Mr. Carter has been any more specific in this case than he has heen on many other iostances. I notice particularly that be didn't endorse the Humphrey-Hawkins hill which he bas on occasion and which is iocluded as a part of the Democratic platform. That legislation allegedly would help our unemployment, but we all know that it would have controlled our economy, it would have added $10 to $30-billioo each year in additional expenditures by the Federal Government. It would have called for export cootrols, on agricultural products.

In my judgment the best way to get jobs is to expand the private sector, where five out of six jobs today exist in our economy. We cao do that hy reducing Federal taxes as I proposed about a year ago wheo I called for a tax reduction of $28 billion—three quarters of it to go to private taxpayers and one quarter to the husiness sector. We could add to jobs in the major metropolitao areas by a proposal that I recommended that would give tax incectives to business to move into the inner cities and to expand or to build new plaots so that they would take a plant or expand a plant where people are and people are currently unemployed.

We could also belo our youths with some of the proposals that would give to young people an opportunity to work and learn at the same time just like we give money to young people who are going to college. Those are the kind of specifics that I think we have to discuss on these debates, and these are the kind of programs that I'll talk about oo my time:

MODERATOR: Mr. Gannon, your question to President Ford.

Q: Mr. President, I would like to contioue for a moment on this question of taxes which you have just raised. You have said that you favor more tax cuts for middle-income Americans —even those earning up to $30,000 a year. That presumably would cost the Treasury quite a bit of money in lost revenue. In view of the yery large budget deficits that you have accumulated and that are still in prospect, how is it possible to promise further tax cuts and to reach your goal of balancing the budget?

Wants to Limit Spending

FORD: At the time, Mr. (Sannon, that I made the recommendation for a $28 billion tax cut-three quarters of it to go to individual taxnayers and 25 percent to American business-I said at the same time that we had to hold the fid on Federal spending, that for every dollar of a tax reduction we find to have an equal reduction in Federal expenditures—a coeffor-one proposition—and I. recommended that to the Coogress with a budget ceiling of $395 billion and that would have permitted us to have a $28 billion tax reduction. In my tax reduction program for midde-income taxpayers, I recommended that the Congress increase personal exemptions from $750 per person to $1,000 per person. That would mean, of course, shat for a family of four that that family would have a $1,000 more personal exemption—money that they could spend for their own purness money that the covernment sit and decide if there's more good than bad. And from the analysis that I've made so far, it seems to me that that tax bill does justify my signature and my approval.

Change in Philosophy Seen

CARTER:Ford is changing considera-bly his previous philosophy. The present tax structure is a disgrace to this country. It's just a welfare program for the rich. As a matter of fact, 25 percent of the total tax deductions go for only 1 percent of the richest people in this country, and over 50 percent of the tax credits go for the 14 percent of the richest people in this country. When Mr. Ford first became President in August of 1974, the first thing he did in October was to ask for a $4.7 billion increase in taxes on our people in the midst, of the heaviest recession since the great depression of the 1940's. And in January of 1975. he asked for a tax change, $5.6 billion increase on low-and middle-income pri-vate individuals, a $6.5 billion decrease on the corporations and the special inon the corporations and the special in-terests. In December of 1975 he vetoed the roug-ly $18 to $20 billioo tax-reduction hill that had been passed by the Congress and then be came back later on in January of this year and he did advocate a $10 billion tax redoc-tion but is usual to a sifest by a $5tion, but it would be offset by a $6 billion increase this coming Jaouary in deductions for Social Security pay-ments and for unemployment compensation. The whole philosophy of the Republican Party, including my opponent's, has been to pile oo taxes for how-income people to take them off oo the corporations. As a matter of fact, since the late sixties when Mr. Nixon took office, we've had a reduction in the percentage of taxes paid by corporations from 30 percent down to about 20 percept. We've had an increase in taxes paid by individuals, payroll taxes from 14 percent up to 20 percent. And this is what the Republicans have done to us. And this is why tax reform is so important. ..

MODERATOR:Mrs. Drew, your question to Governor Carter?

Geowardor Carter, you proposed a oumber of new or enlarged programs, including-jobs, health, welfare reform, aid to education, aid to the cities, changes in social security and bousing subsidies. You've also said that, you want to balance the hodget by the end of your first term. Now you baven't put a price tag on those programs, but aveo if we price them conservatively and we count for full employment by the end of your first term, and we count for the economic growth that would becur during that period, there still isn't enough money to pay for those programs and balance the budget by any estimates that I've been able to see. So in that case, what would give?

Offers Projections on Economy CARTER: Well, as a matter of fact it is if we assume a rate of growth of our economy equivalent to what it was during President, Johnson, President Kennedy, even before the Vieinamese. War, and if we assume that at the end of tha four-year period we can cut our unemploymeot. rate down, to 4. 4½ percent, under those circumstances, even assuming no elimination of unnecessary programs and assuming an increase in the allotment of money to finance programs, increasing as the inflation rates does, my economic projections, I think by the House and the Senate committees, have, been with the $60 billioh extra amount of money that can be spent in fiscal year 'SI, which will be the last year of this next term. Within that $60-billioo increase there would be fit the programs that I promised the American people. it's just predicated on very modest, but I think accurate, suggestions of employment increases and a growth in our national economy equal to what was experienced under Kennedy, Johnson, before the Vietnam WAr.

An Additional Tax Break

FORD: If it is true that there will be a $60 billion surplus by fiscal year 1981, rather than spend that money for all the new programs that Governor Carter recommends and endorses, and which are included in the Democratic platform, I think the American taxpayer ought to get an additional tax break—a tax reduction of that magnitude. I feel that the taxpayers are the ones that need the relief. I don't think we should add additional programs of the magnitude that Governor Carter tails about:

It seems to me that our fax structure today has rates that are too high, but I am very glad to point out that since 1969, during a Republican Administration, we have had 10 million peopla taken off of the tax rolls at the tower end of the taxpayer area. And at the same time, assuming that I sign the tax bill that was mentioned by Mr. Gamion, we will in the last two tax bills have increased the minimum tax on all wealthy taxpayers. And I believe that by eliminating 10 million taxpayers in the last enght years, and by putting a heavier tax burden on those in the higher tax brackets, plus the other actions that have been taken, we can give taxpayers adequate tax relief. Now it seems to me that as we look es the recommendations of the Budget. Committee and our own projections, there isn't going to be any $60 billion dividend. I've heard of those dividends in the past—it always happens. We expected one at the time of the Vietnam war, but it was used up before we ever ended the war and taxpayers nevergot the adequate relief they deserve. Q: Mr. President, when your came into offica you spoke very eloquently of the need for a time for heating, and very early in your Administration you went out to Chicago and your announced, you proposed a program of case-by-case pardons for draft resisters to restore them to full citizenstip. Succe 14,000 young then took advantage of your offer, but another 90,000 did not.

In granting the pardon to former President Nixon, sir, part of your rationale was to put Watergate behind us to—if I may quote you again—truly end our long national nightmare. Why does not the same rationale apply now, today, in our Bicentemiat year, to the young men who resisted in Vietnam, and many of them still in exile abroad? "We Gave Them Ample Time"

FORD: The amnesty program that I recommended in Chicago in September of 1974 would give to all draft evaders and military deserters the opportunity to earn their good record back. About 14 to 15,000 did take advantage of that program. We gave them ample time. I am against an across the board pardon of draft evaders or military desert-

Now in the case of Mr. Nixon, the reason the perdon was given was that, when I took office this country was in a very, very divided condition. There was hatred, there was divisiveness people had lost faith in their Government in many, many respects. Mr. Nixon resigned, and I became Presidenit: it seemed to me that if i was to adequately and effectively haddle the problem of high inflation, a growing recession, the involvement of the Uoited States still in Vietnam that I had to give 100 percent of my time to those two major problems:

Mr. Nixon resigned. That is disgrace.

The first Presideant out of 3g that ever resigned from public office under pres-dressed adequately by this Administration.

But I hope to have a complete responsibility on my shoulders to help bring about a fair criminal justice system and also to bring about an end to the divisiveness that has occurred in our country as a result of the Vietban war.

MODERATOR:Mr. Gannon.

Q:Governor Carter, you have promised a sweeping overhaul of the Federai Government, including a reduction in the oumber of Government agencies. You say it would go dowo about 200 from some 1,900. That sounds, indeed, like a vary deep cut in the Federal Government: But iso't it a fact that you're not really talking about fewer Federal employees or less Government spending but rather that you are talking about reshaping the Federal Government, not making it smalker?

Cut Georgia Bureaucracy

CARTER: Well I've been through this before. Mr. Gannoo, as the Governor of Georgia. When I took over we had a hureaucratic mess, like we have in Washington oow, and wa bad 300 agencies, departments, bureeus, commissions, some fully budgeted, some not, but all having responsibility to carry out. They were in conflict. And we cut those 300 agencies and so forth dowo substantially. We eliminated 278 of them. We set up a simple structure of government that could be admioistered fairly and it was a tremeedous success. It haso't been undone aince I was there. It resulted also in an ability to reshape our court system, our prisoo system, our education system, our mental health programs and a clear assignment of responsibility and authority and also to have our people once again understanding control of our suprement.

I intend to do the same thing if I'm elected President. When I get to Washington, coming in as an outsider, one of the major responsibilities that I will have on my shoulder is the complete reorganization of the executive branch of government.

We now have a greatly expanded White House staff. When Mr. Nixoo went into office we bad $3.5 million spent on the White House and its staff. That has escalated now to $16.5 million in the last Republican Administration. This oeeds to be changed. We need to put the responsibilities back on the Cabinet members.

We also need to have a great reduction in agencies and programs. For instance, we now have in the health area. 302 different programs administered by 11 major departments and agencies, 60 other advisory commissions responsible for this. Medicaid's lo one agency; Medicare's in a different one. The check on the quality of health care's in a different one. None of them are responsible for health care itself.

This makes it almost impossible for us to have a good health program. We have just advocated this past week a consolidation of the responsibility for energy. Our country now has no comprehensive energy program or policy. We have 20 different agencies in the Federal Government responsible for the production, the regulation, the information about energy, the conservation of energy, spread all over government.

This is a gross waste of money, so tough competent management of goverament, giving us a simple, efficient, purposeful and manageable government will be a great step forward and if I'm elected—and I intend to be—then it's going to be done.

And there was some very testimony given by Governsuccessor, Governor Busby, Senate committee a few  $\pi$ on how he found the Medicai when he came into office Governor Carter. He test, these are his words—the Governor of Georgia—he say: the Medicaid program  $\Rightarrow \chi$ shambles.

Now let me talk about w done in the White House as fa ral employees are concerned, order that I issued after I bece dent was to cut or eliminate spective 40,000 increase in Fe ployees that had been schedul predecessor. And in the term heen President—some two y have reduced Federal employ 11,000.

In the White House staff its. I became President, we had 540 employees. We now had 485 employees, so we'ev made significant reduction in the n employees on the White Hou working for the President.

So I think our record of cuttemployees plus the failure oo of the Governor's programs to save employment in Georgia, which is the better plan. MODERATOR: Mrs. Drew.

Q: Mr. President, at Vail, a: Republican convention, you any that you would now emphasi oew areas; among those were it housing and health and improver ational facilities for Americao, you also added crime. You also tioned educatioo. For two years been telling us that we couldn't c much in these areas because we o't afford it; and io fact we dt a $50 billion deficit oow. In re to Governor Carter a little bit 1 you said that if there were to b surplus in the next few years thought it should be turned bad the people in the form of tax 1 So how are you going to pay for new initiatives in these areas you nounced at Vail you were going to stress?

Talks of Economic Upturn

FORD: Well, in the last two ye as I indicated hefore, we had a v tough time. We were faced with he inflation, over 12 percent; we v faced with substantial unemploym But io the last 24 months we've true the economy around and we've brow inflation down to under 6 percent, we have reduced the—well, we had added employment of aboot four lioo in the last 17 months to the p where we have 88 million people w ing in America todav—the most in history of the country.

The net result is, we are goin have some improvement In our ceipts. And I think we'll have a decrease in our disbursement. We pect to have a lower deficit in year 1978. We feel that with this provement in the economy; we with more receipts and fewer disk ments we can; in a moderate way crease—as I recommended—over next IO years a new parks prothat would cost $1.5 billion, down our national-park system.

We have recommended that in, housing program we can reduce de payments and moderate moothly p meots. Bot that doesn't cost my r as far as the Federal Treasury is cerned. We believe that we can d better job in the area of crime, that requires tougher sectencing, m datory certain prison sentence those who violate our criminal la We believe that you cao revise Federal criminal code, which has been revised in a good many ye That doesn't cost any more money. We believe that you can do st thing more effectively with a mode increase in money in the drugprogram. We feel that in education can have a slight increase-not as increase. It's my understanding Goveroor Carter has iodicated th approves of a $30-hillion expense by the Federal Government as f. education is concerned. At the pr time we're spending roughly $3. lion. I doo't know where that r would come from. But as we look at the quality programs — joh, health, ede-crime, recreation—we feel that move forward with a bealthier my, we can absorb the small ne cost that will be required. Q: Sir, in the next few years you try to reduce the deficit. you spend money for these p that you have just outlided, o you, as you said earlier, return er surplus you got to the py the form of tax relief.

There are several things that can be dooe specifically that are not oow belog done.

First of all to channel research and development funds into areas that will provide large numbers of jobs. Secondly, we need to have a commitment in the private sector to cooperate with government in matters like bousing, for a spall investment of taxpayers' money in the housing field can bring large numbers of extra jobs and the guarantee of mortgage loans and the putting forward of 202 programs for housing for all the people and so forth to cut down the roughly 20 percent unemployment that now exists in the construction industry.

Another thing is to deal with our needs in the central cities where, the unemployment rate is extremely high, sometimes among minority groups, or those who don't speak Eoglish, or they were black or young people or 40 percent unemployment.

Here a C.C.C. type program would be appropriate to channel money into the sharing with private sector and also local and state government to employ young people who are now out of work. Another very important aspect of our economy would be to increase production in every way possible to hold down taxes on iodividuals and to shift the tax burdens on to those who have avoided paying taxes in the past.

These are kinds of specific things, none of which are being done now, that would be a great help in reducing unemployment.

There is an additional factor that needs to be dooe and covers it very succinctly, and that is to make sure that we have a good relationship between management-business on the one hand and labor on the other.

In a lot of places where unemployment is very, we might channel specific targeted jobs or opportunities by paying part of the salary of unemployed people and also sharing with local governmeots the payment of salaries which would let us cut down the unemployment rate much lower before we hit the inflationary level.

But I believe by the end of the first full year of the next term, we could have the employment rate down to 3 percent, adult unemploymeot, which is about 4 to 4½ percent overall, control inflation rates and have a balanced growth of about 46 percent around 5 percent which would give us a balanced budget.

Q: Governor, to the event you are successful and you do achieve a drastic drop in unemployment, that is likely to create additional pressure on prices. How willing are you to consider an incomes policy. In other words, wage and price controls?

We now have such a low utilization poses. money that the government wouldn't have to spend. But If we keep the iid oo Federal spending, iwhch I think we can with the help of the Congress, we can justify fully a $28 billion tax reduction.

Io the budget that I submitted to the Coogress in January this year 'I recommedded a 50 percent cutback in the rate of growth of Federal spending. For tha tast 10 years the budget of the United States has grown from about 11 percent per year. We can't afford that kind of growth in Federal spending. And io the budget that I recommeded we cut it io half, a growth rate of 5 to 5 ½ perceot.

With that kind of kimitation oo Federal spending we can fully justify tha tax reductions that I have proposed, and it seems to me with the stimulant of more money in the hands of the taxpayers and with more money in the haods of husiness to expand, to moderaize, to provide more jobs, our economy will be stimulated so that we'll get more revenue and we'll have a more prosperous economy.

Q: Mr. Presideot, the Congress has passed a tax bill which is before you oow which did not meet exactly the sort of outlice that you requested. What is your intention oo that bill, since it doesn't meet your requirements? Do you plan to sign that bill?

Doesn't Meet Criteria

FORD: That tax bill does oot entirely make the criteria that I established. I think the Congress should have added another $10 billon reduction in personal incoma taxes, including the increase of personal exemptions from $750 to $1,000.

And Coogress could have dooe that if the hudget committees of the Congress, and the Coogress as a whole, had oot increased the speoding that I recommended in the hudget.

I'm sure you know that in the resolutions passed by the Googress, they bave added about $17 billion lo more spending by the Congress over the budget that I recommended. So I would prefer in that tax bill to have an additional tax cut and a further limitation on Federal spending.

Now, this tax bill—it hasn't reached the White House yet, but is expected in a day or two—it's abcut 1,500 pages. It has some good provisions in it. It has left out some that I have recommended, unfortunately.

On the other band, when you have a bill of that magnitude, with those many provisions, a President has to

I might say, too, that if we see that these goals cannot be reached—and I believe they're reasonable goals—then I would cut back oo the rate of implementation of new programs in order to accommodate a balanced budget by fiscal year 'S!, which is the last year of the oext term.

I believe that we ought to have a blanced budget during normal economic circumstances. And these projections have been very carefully made. I stand behind them. And if they solud be in error slightly on tha down side, then I'll phase in the programs that we've advocated more slowly.

Q: Governor, according to the budget committees of the Congress that you referred to, if we get to full employment—what they project at a 4 percect uncmoloymeot—and, as you say, even allowing for the inflation in the programs, there- would oot be anything more than a surplus of $5 billion by the end of, by 1981. And conservative estimates of your programs would be that they'd be about $85 to $100 billion. So bow do yoo say that you're koing to be ahle to these things and helance the budget?

CARTER: Well, the assumption that you have described as different is in the rate of growth of our ecocomy. Q: No. They took that into account in those figures.

· Sticks to $60 Billion Figure

CARTER: I believe that it's accurate to say that the committees to whom you refer with the employment rate that you state, and with the S to 5½ percent growth rate to our economy, that the projections would be a $60 billion increase in the amount of money that we'd have to spend in 1981 compared to oow.

And in that framework would be fit any improvements in the programs. Now this does not ioclude any extra control over unnecessary spending, the weeding out of obsolete or obsolescent programs. We'll have a safety version built in with complete reorganization of the executive branch of Government, which I am pledged to do. The present burbaucratic structure of the Federal Government is a mess.

And if Pm elected Presdient that's going to be a top priority of mine to completely revise tha structure of the Federal Government, to make it economical efficient, purposeful and manageable for a changa.

And also, I'm going to institute zerobase budgeting, which I used for years in Georgia, which assesses every program every year and eliminates those programs that are obsolete or obsolescent. So with these projections, we will have a balanced budget by fiscal year 1981, if I'm elected President, keep my promises to the American people. And sure. So wheo yon look at the penalty that be paid, and wheo yon analyze the requirements that I had to spend all of my time working on the economy, which was in trouble, that I inherited; working on our problems in Southeast Asia which were still plaguing us, it seemed to me that Mr. Nixon had been penalized enough by his resignation in disgrace and the need and necessity for me to concentrate on the problems of the country fully justified the action that I took. Q: I take it then, sir, that you do not believe that it is that you are going to reconsider and think about those 90,000 who are still abroad. Have they not been penalized enough many of them been these for years?

Ford's '74 Offer to Evaders

FORD: Well, Mr. Carter has indicated that be would give a blanket pardon to all draft evaders. I do not agree with that point of yiew. I gave in September of 1974 an opportunity for all draft evaders, all deserters, to come in voluntarily, clear their record by earning an opportunity to restore their good citizenship. I think we gave them a good opportunity—I don't think we should go any further.

Nixon and Draft Violators

CARTER: Well I think it's very difficult for President Ford to explain the difference between the parton of President: Nixon and his attitude toward those who violated the draft laws. As a matter of fact I don't advocate amnesty. I don't advocate perdon. There's a difference in my opinion and in the course of the ruling of the Supreme Court and according to the definition in the dictionary.

Amnesty means that you—that what you did was right. Pardon means that what you did, whether it's right or wrong, you're forgiven for it. And I do advocate a pardon for draft evaders. I think it's accurate to say that two years ago when Mr. Nixon—Mr. Ford put in this amnesty that fibree times as many deserters were excused as were the ones who evaded the draft.

But I think that oow is the time to heat our country after the Vietnam war and I think that what the people are concerned about is not the pardon or the amnesty of those who evaded the draft but whether or not our ourrent system is fair.

We've got a a short distinction between white collar crime. The big shots who are rich, or influential very seldom go to jzil; those who are poor and who have no influence quite often are the ones who are punished. And the whole subject of crime is ona that concerns our people very much and I believa that the fairness of it is a major problem that addresses our leader and this is something that haso't been adduce the overall number, or merely put them in different departments and relabel them. In your energy plan, you consolidate the oumber of ageocies into one, or you would, hut does that really change the overall?

Cites Gains in Georgia

CARTER: I can't say for sure that we would bave fewer Government employees when I go out of office than I when I come in. It took me about three years to completely reorganize the Georgia government.

The last year I was in office our budget was actually less than it was a year before, which showed a great improvement. Also, we had a two percent increase in the number of employces tha last year. But it was a tremendous shift from administration jobs into the delivery of services.

For instance, we completely revised our prisoo system. We established 84 new mental health treatment centers. And we shifted people out of admioistrative jobs io to the field to deliver better services. The same thing will be done at the Federal Government level.

I accomplished this with substantial reductions in employees in some departments. For instance, in the Transportation Department we had—we cut back abont <sup>25</sup> percept of tha total oumber of employees. In giving our people better mental health care, we increased the number of employees.

But the efficiency of it, tha simplicity of it, the ability of people to understand their own government and control it was the substantial benefit derived from complate reorganization.

We have got to do that at the Federal Government level. If we don't, the bureaucratic mess is going to continue. There's oo way for our people now to understand what their government is. There's no way to get the answer to a question.

When you come to Washlogton to try to—as a Governor—to try to begin a new program for your peopla, like the treatment of drug addicts, I found there were 13 different Federal agencies that I had to go to to manage the drug treatmeot program. In the Georgia government we only had one agency responsible for drug treatment. This is the kind of change that would be made. Aod it would be of tremendous benefit in long-range planniog, io tight budgeting, saving the taxpayers' money, making the Government more efficient, cutting down on bureaucratic waste, having a clear delineation of authority and responsibility of employees, and giving our people a better chance to understand and control their Government.

abilities of Atomic Power

ER: Well among my other exs in the past, I've been a nu-gineer, and did graduate work eld. I think I know the capabillimitations of atomic power. energy policy of our nation it has not yet been established is Administration. I think althe automobile manufacturers come forward and say they can't meet the amendments that the Congress has put forth, this Republican Administration has delayed the implementation dates.

In addition to that, we ought to have shift toward the use of coal, particularly in the Appalachian regions where the coal is located, a lot of very high quality, low-carboo coal, low-sulfur coal is there, it's where our employ-ment is needed. This would help a great deal.

So mandatory conservation measures -yes. Encouragement by the President for people to voluntarily conserve-yes. And also the private sector ought to be encouraged to bring forward to the public the benefits from efficiency. One bank in Washington, for instance, gives lower interest loans for instance, who adequately insulate their homes or who buy efficient automobiles. And ne major manufacturing companies, some major manufacturing companies, like Dow Chemical, has through very effective efficiency mechanisms cut down the use of energy by as much as 40 percent with the same out-prod-uct. These kinds of things ought to be done, they ought to be encouraged and currorted and even required by the supported, and even required by the Government, yes.

MODERATOR: President Ford?

Comprehensive Energy Program FORD: Governor Carter skims over a very serious and a very broad subject. In January of 1975 I submitted to the Congress and to the American people the first comprehensive energy pro-gram recommended by any President. It called for an increase in the produc-tion of energy in the United States. It called for conservation measures so that we would save the energy that we have. If you're going to increase domestic oil and gas production—and we have to—you have to give to those producers an opportunity to develop Congress and to the American people producers an opportunity to develop their land or their wealth. I recommended to the Congress that we should increase coal production in this country from 600 million tons a year to a billion 200 million tons by 1985. In order to do that we have to improve our extraction of coal from the ground, we have to improve our utilization of coal-make it more efficient, make it cleaner. In addition we have to expand our re-search and development. In my pro-gram for energy independence we have increased, for example solar energy research from about $84 million a year to about $120 million a year. We're going as fast as the experts say we should. In nuclear power we have increased the research and development, under the Energy Research and Development Agency very substantially, to insure that our nuclear power plants are safer, that they are more efficient, and that we have adequate safeguards. I think you have to have greater oil and gas production, more coal produc-tion, more nuclear production and in addition you have to have energy con-Servation

MODERATOR: Mr. Gannon.

Q: Mr. President, I'd like to return for a moment to this problem of memployment. You have vetoed or threat. ened to veto a number of job bills passed or in development in the Demo-cratic Congress — Democratic-con-trolled Congress. Yet at the same time the Government is paying out, I think it is $17 billion, perhaps $20 billion a year in unemployment compensation caused by the high unemployment. Why do you think it is better to pay out unemployment compensation to dent I've vetoed 56 bills. Congress has sustained 42 vetoes. As a result, we have saved over $9 hillion in Federal expenditures. And the Congress by overridisg the hills that I did veto, the Congress has added some $13 billion to the Federal expenditures and to the Federal deficit.

Now, Governor Carter complains about the deficit that this Administration has had. And yet he condemns the vetoes I have made that have saved taxpayers $9 billion and could have saved an additional $13 billion. Now he can't have it both ways. And therefore, it seems to me that we should hold the lid, as we have, to the best of our ability ao we can stimulate the private economy and get the jobs where the jobs are-five out of six--in this economy.

MODERATOR: Govednor Carter. Says Unemployment Too High

CARTER: Well, Mr. Ford doesn't seem to put into perspective the fact that when 500,000 more people are out of work than there were three months ago, while we have 2½ million more people ont of work than were when he took office, that this touches human beings. I was in a city in Pennsylvania not too long ago, near here, and there were about four or five thousand people in the audience-it was on the train trip. And I said how many adults here are out of work. About a thousand raised their hands

Mr. Ford actually has fewer people now in the private sector in con-farm jobs than when he took office. And still he talks about success. Seven point oine perceot unemployment is a terrihle tragedy in this country. He says he's learned how to match

He says he's learned how to match unemployment with inflation. That's right: We've got the highest inflation we've had in 25 years right now. Ex-cept under this Administration. And that was 50 years ago. And we've got the highest unemployment we've had, under Mr. Ford'a Administration, since the Control Comparison the Great Depression.

This affects human beings. And his insensitivity in providing those people a chance to work has made this a wel-fare administration, and not a work administration.

He hasn't saved $9 billion with his vetoes. There's only been a net saving of $4 billion. And the cost in unemployment compensation, welfare compen tion and lost revenues has increased $23 hillion in the last two years. This is a typical attitude that really causes havoc in people's lives, and then it's covered over by saying that our coun-try has naturally got a 6 percent unemployment rate, or 7 percent unemploy-ment rate and a 6 percent inflation. It's a travesty. It shows a lack of leadership.

And we've oever had a President since the war between the states that vetoed more bills. Mr. Ford has vetoed four times as many hills as Mr. Nixon per year. And 11 of them have been

One of his bills that was overriddenhe only got one vote in the Senate, and seven votes in the House, from Republicans. So this shows a breakdown in leadership. MODERATOR: Under the rules, I robbed the average taxpayer and have benefitted those who are powerful and who can employ lobbyists and who can get their C.P.A.'s and lawyers to help them benefit from the roughly 8,000 pages of the tax code. The everage American person can't do it. You can't hire a lobbyist out of unemployment compensation checks.

Q: Governor, to follow up on your answer. In order for any kind of tax relief to really be felt by the middle-and lower-income people you need about, according to Congressional committees on this, you need about $10 billion. Now you listed some things-the defer-ral on foreign income as estimated-that would save about $500 million. This, you said, was $1.4 billion. The estimate of at the outside, if you eliminated all tax shelters, is $5 billion. So where else would you raise the revenue to provide this tax relief—would you, in fact, do away with all business deductions, and what other kinds of preferences would you do away with?

Unfair Business Deductions

CARTER: I wouldn't do away with all business deductions. I think that would be a vary serious mistake. But if you could just do away with the ones that are unfair you could lower taxes for everyone. I would never do enything that would increase the taxes for those who work for a living or who are presently required to list all their income. What I want to do is not to raise taxes hut to eliminate loopholes. And this is the point of my first statistics that I gave you-that the present tax benefits that have carved present tax benefits that have carved out over a long period of years—50 years—by sharp tax lawyers and by lohbyists heve benefitted just the rich. But these programs that I described to you earlier—the tax deferrals for overseas, the gifts and the tax shelters, why they only apply to people in the $50,000-a-year bracket or up, and I think this is the hest way to approach think this is the hest way to approach it. It's to make sure that everybody pays taxes on the income that they earn and make sure that you take whatever savings there is from tha higher income levels and give it to the tower-and middle-income families.

Mentions Controversial Interview

FORD: Governor Carter's answer tonight does not coincide with the an-swer that he gave in his interviews to The Associated Press a week or so ago. In that interview Governor Carter indicated that he would raise the taxes on those in the medium or middle-income brackets or higher.

Now if you take the medium or midde-income taxpayer — that's about $14,000 per person—Governor Carter has indicated publicly in an interview that he would increase the taxes on about 50 percent of the working people of this country.

I think the way to get tax equity In this country is to give tax relief in this country is to give tax relief to the middle-income people who have an income from roughly $8,000 np to $25,000 or $30,000. They have been short-changed as we have taken 10 million taxpayers off the tax rolls in the last eight years and as we have added to the minimum tax provisions to make all people pay more taxes.

I believe in tax equity for the middleincome taxpayers, increasing the per-sonal exemption. Mr. Carter wants to increases taxes for roughly half of the taxpayers of this country.

in the performance of the Congress under the present leadership.

So it seems to me instead of the anti-Washington feeling being aimed at everybody in Washington, it seems to me that the focus should be where the prohlem is, which is the Congress of the United States and particularly the majority in the Congress.

They spend too moch money on themselves. They have too many em-ployees. There's some question about their morality. It seems to me that in this election, the focus should not he oo the executive hranch but the corrections should coma as tha voters vote for their members of the House of Representatives or for their United States Senator. That's where the problem is and I hope there will be some corrective action taken so we can get some new leadership in the Congress of the United States.

Q: Mr. President, if I may follow up. I think you made it plain that you take e dim view of the majority in the Congress. Isn't it quite likely, sir, that you will have a Democratic Congress in the next session, if you are elected Presi-dent. And hasn't the country a right to ask whether you can get along with that Congress; or whether we'll have continued confrontation?

Chance for G.O.P. Majority

FORD: Well, it seems to me that we have a chance—the Republicans—to get a majority in the Honse of Repre-sentatives. We will make some gains in the United States Senate. So there will be different mine in the different will be different ratios in the House, as well as in the Senate, and as Presideot I will be able to work with that Congress.

But let me take the other side of But let me take the other and on the coin, if I might. Supposing we had had a Democratic Congress for the last two years and we had had Governor Carter as President. He has, in effect, said that he would agree with all ofhe would disapprove of the vetoes that I have made; and would have added ignificantly to expenditures and the deficit in the Federal Government.

I think it would be contrary to one of the hasic concepts in our system of government-a system of checks and balances. We have a Democratic Congress today; and fortunately we've had a Republican President to check their excesses with my vetoes.

If we have a Demcratic Congress next If we have a Demorance Congress next year, and a President who wants to spend an additional $100 billion a year, or maybe $200 hillion a year, with more programs, we will have, in my judg-ment, greater deficits with more spending, more dangers of inflation.

I think the American people want a Republican Presideot to check on any excesses that come ont of the oext Coogress, if it is a Democratic Con-

MODERATOR: Governor Carter. Called Matter of Leadership

CARTER: Well it's not a matter of Republican and Democrat. It's a matter of leadership or no leadership. Presi-dent Eisenhower worked with a Democratic Congress very well. Even Presi-dent Nixon, because he was a strong leader at least, worked with a Democratic Congress very well.

While Mr. Ford has vetoed, as I said earlier, four times as many hills per year as Mr. Nixon, Mr. Ford quite often pnts forward a program just as a public relations stunt and never tries to put through the Congress by proposes. The Federal Reserve has an independent status that ought to be preserved. I think that Mr. Burns did take a typical, erroneous Republican attitude in the 1973 year when inflation was so high. They assumed that the inflation rate was because of excessive demaod and therefore put into effect tight constraint on the economy and very high interest rates, which is typical also of the Republican Administra-tion, and tried to increase the tax payments by individuals and cut the tax payments hy corporations. I would have done it opposite. I think the problem should have been addressed by increasing productivity by having put people back to work so they could purchase more goods, lower income taxes oo individuals, and perhaps raise them, if oecessary, oo corporations in com-parison. But Mr. Burns in that respect made a very serious mistake. I would not want to destroy the independence of the Federal Reserve Board. But I do think we ought to have a cohesive economic policy with at least the chair-man of tha Federal Reserve Board and the President's terms heing the same and letting the Congress, of course, be the third entity with independence sub-ject only to the President's veto.

Praises Reserve Board

FORD: The chairman of the Federal Reserve Board should be independent. Fortunately he has been during Demo-cratic as well as Republican Administrations. As the result in the last two years we have had a responsible mone-tary policy. The Federal Reserve Board indicated that the supply of money would be held between 4 to 4½ and 7 and 7½. They have done a good job in integrating the money supply with in iotegrating the mooey supply with the fiscal policy of the Executive and Legislative branches of the Government. It would be catastrophic if the ment. It would be catastrophic if the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board became the tool of the political party that was in power. It's important for our future economic security that that job be nonpolitical and separate from the Executive and the Legislative hranches.

MODERATOR: Mrs Drew.

Q: Mr. President, the real problem with the F.B.L.—in fact all of the intelli-gence sgencies—is there are no real laws governing them. Such laws as there are tend to be vague and open-ended. Now, you have issued some executive orders, hut we've learned that leaving these agencies to executive discretion and direction can get them and, in fact, the country, in a great dtal of trouble. One President may be a decent man, the next one might not

So, what do you think about trying to write in some more protection by getting some laws governing these agencies?

Talks of Reorganization

FORD: You are familiar, of course, with the fact that I am the first Presiwhit the fact that I am the first Presi-dent in 30 years who has reorganized the intelligence agencies in the Federal Government: the C.I.A., the Defense In-telligence Agency, the National Securi-ty Agency and the others.

We've done that by executive order. And I think we've tightened it up; we've straightened out their problems that developed over the last few years.

It doesn't seem to me that it's needed or necessary to have legislation in this particular regard. I have recommended you're familiar with this-legislation that would make it very proper, and in the right way, that the Attorney General could go in and get the right for wiretapping under security cases. This was an effort that was made hy the Attorney General and myself, working with the Coogress. But even in this area, where I think oew legisla-tion would be justified, the Congress has oot responded. So I fell in that case, as well as io the reorganization of the intelligence agencies, as I've done, we have to do it by executive order.

idle people than to put them to work in public service jobs?

Economy the Immediate Problem

FORD: The bill that I vetoed, the one for an additional $6 billion, was not a hill that would have solved our unemployment problem. Even the propo-nexts of it admitted that no more than 400,000 jobs would be made available. Our analysis indicates that something in the magnitude of about 150,000 to 200,000 jobs would be made available. Each one of those jobs would have cost the taxpayers $25,000. In addition the jobs would not be available right now. They would not be available right now. They would not have materialized for about nine to 18 months.

The immediate problem we have is to stimulate our economy now so that we can get rid of unemployment. What we have done is to hold the lid on spending in an effort to reduce the rate of inflation. And we have proven, I think very conclusively, that you can reduce the rate of inflation and increase jobs.

For example, as I have said, we have added some four million jobs in the last 17 months. We have now employed 88 million people in America, the larg-est number in the history of the United States

We've added 500,000 jobs in the last we've anded 500,000 jobs in the last two months. Inflation is the quickest way to destroy jobs. And by holding the lid on Federal spending we have been able to do a good job, an affirma-tive job in inflation and as the result have added to the jobs in this country. I think it's also many states the second se I think it's also appropriate to point out that through our tax policies we have stimulated added employment throughout the country: the investment tax credit, tax incentives for expansion and modernization of our industrial capacity.

It's my opinion that the private sec-tor, where five out of the six jobs are, where you have permanent jobs with the opportunity for advancement, is a better place than make work jobs under the program recommended by the Congress.

Q: Just to follow up. Mr. President: the Congress has just passed a $3.7 billion appropriation bill which would provide money for the public works jobs program that you earlier tried to kill by your veto of the authorization legislation. In light of the fact that in the past three months-I wonder if you have rethought that question at all; whether you would consider allowing this program to be funded, or will you veto that money bill?

FORD: Well, that bill has not yet come down to the Oval Office, so I am not in a position to make any judgment on it tonight. But that is an extra $4 billioo that would add to the deficit which would add to the inflationary pressures, which would help to destroy obs in the private sector-not make jobs, where the jobs really are.

These make-work, temporary jobs dead-end as they are-are not the kind of jobs that we want for our people.

back to the subject of taxes. You have said that you want to cut taxes for the middle and lower income groups, CARTER: Right.

Q: But unless yon're willing to do such things as reduce the itemized deductions for charitable contributions or home mortgage payments, or inter-est, or taxes, or capital gains, you can't really raise sufficient revenue to provide an overall tax cut of any size. So how are you going to provide that tax relief that you're talking ebout?

Calls Tax System Disgrace

CARTER: Now we have such a gross-ly unbalanced tax system—as I said earlier, it is a disgrace—of all the tax benefits now, 25 percent of them go to the I percent of the richest people in this country. Over 50 percent—53 to he exact—percent of the tax benefits go to the 14 percent richest people in this country, and we've had a 50 per-cent increase in payroll deductions cent increase in payroll deductions since Mr. Nixon went in office eight years ago.

Mr. Ford has advocated since he's been in office over $5 billion in reduc-tions for corporations, special interest groups and the very, very wealthy who derive their income not from labor-but from investments. That a got to be changed. A few things that can be done: we have now a deferral system so that the multinational cororations who invest overseas-if they make a million dollars in profits overseas they dont' have to pay any of their taxes unless they bring their money back into this country. When they don't pay their taxes, the average American pays the taxes for them.

Not only that, but it robs this country of jobs, because instead of coming back or poss, because instead or coming back with that million dollars and creating a shoe factory, say in New Hampshire or Vermont, if the company takes the money down to Italy and builds a shoe factory, they don't have to pay any factory on the money taxes on the money.

Another thing is a system called DISC, which was originally designed and proposed by Mr. Nixon to encour-age exports. This permits a company to create a dummy corporation, to export their products and then not to pay the full amount of taxes on them. This costs our Government about $1.4 billion a year, and when those rich corporations don't pay that tax, the average American taxpayer pays it for him. wl

Another one that's very important is the business deductions, jet air-planes, first class, travel, the $50 martini lunch. The average working person can't take advantage of that, but the wealthier can

Another system is where a dentist can invest money in say, raising cattle, and can put in $100,000 of his own money, borrow $900,000—that makes a million—and mark off as great. amount of loss through that procedure. There was one example, for instance, where somebody produced pornograph-ic movies. They put in $20,000 of their own money and got $120,000 in tax savings.

These special kinds of programs have

The Governor has also played a little fast and loose with the facts about vetoes. The records show that Presi-dent Roosevelt vetoed on an average of 55 hills a year. President Truman vetoed on the average, while he was President, about 3 88 bills a year. I understand that Governor Carter when he was Governor of Georgia vetoed be-tween 35 and 40 bills a year.

My average in two years is 26. But the process of that we have saved $9 billion.

And one final comment. Governor Carter talks about the tax bills and all of the inequities that exist in the present law. I must remind him the Democrats have controlled the Congress for the last 22 years and they wrote all the tax bills.

Q: I suspect that we could continoe on this tax argument for some time, But I'd like to move on to another area. Mr. President, everybody seems to be running against Washington this year. And I'd like to raise two coincidental events and ask you whether you think perhaps this may have a bearing on the attitude throughout the country. The House Ethics Committee has just now ended its investigation of Daniel Schorr, after several months and many thousands of dollars trying to find out how he obtained and caused to be pubhow he obtailed and caused to be pub-lished a report of the Congress that probably is the property of the Ameri-can people. At the same time, the Sen-ate Select Committee on Standards and ate select Committee on Standards and Conduct has voted not really to begin an investigation of a United States Senator because of allegations against him thath e may have been receiving corporate funds illegally over a period of vers. of years.

Do you suppose, sir, that events like this contribute to the feeling in the country that maybe there's something wrong in Washington, and I don't mean just in the Executive branch but throughout tha whole Government?

Standards in Executive Branch

FORD: There is a considerable anti-Washington feeling throughout the country. But I think the feeling is misplaced. In the last two years, we have restored integrity in the White House and we've set high standards in the executive branch of the Government.

The anti-Washington feeling, in my opinion, ought to be focused on the Congress of the United States. For example, this Congress very shortly will spend a billion dollars a year for its housekeeping, its salaries, its expen-ses and the like. The next Congress will probably be the first billion-dollar Congress in the history of the United States.

I don't think the American people are getting their money's worth from the majority party that run this Con-gress. We, in addition, see that in the last four years the number of employees hired by the Congress has gone up substantially-much more than the gross national product, much more than any other increase throughout our society.

Congress is hiving people by the drove and the cost as a result has gone up. And I don't see any improvement with the Congress.

I think under Presidents Nixon and Eisenhower they passed about 60 to 75 percent of their legislation. This year Mr. Ford will not pass more than 26 percent of all the legislative proposals he puts forward. This is government by stalemate and we've seen almost a complete hreakdown in the proper relationship between the President. who represents this country, and tha Congress, who collectively also represent this country.

We've had Republican Presidents before who have tried to run against Democratic Congresses and I don't think it's the Congress who's Mr. Ford's opponent; but if be insists that I be responsible for the Democratic Congress of which I have not been a part, then I think it's only fair that he be responsible for the Nixon Administration in its entirety, of which he was a part.

That, I think, is a good balance. But the point is that a President ought to lead this country. Mr. Ford, so far as I know, except avoiding another Water-gate, has not accomplished one single major program for this country.

And there's been a constant squab-bling between the President and the Congress and that's not the way this country ought to be run.

I might go back to one other thing. Mr. Ford has misquoted an A.P. news Mr. Ford has misquoted an A.P. news story that was in error to begin with. That story reported several times thet I would lower taxes for low-and mid-dle-income families and that correction was delivered to the White House and I am sure that the President knows about this correction, but he still insists of penearing an erroneous statement on repeating an erroneous statement.

MODERATOR: President Ford, Governor Carter, we no longer have enough tima for two complete sequences. We have only about six minutes left for questions and answers. For that reason we will drop the follow up questions at this point but each candidate will still be able to respond to the other's answers. To the extent that you can, gentlemen, please keep your remarks brief. Mr.Gannon?

Q: Governor Carter, one important part of the Government's economic policy apparatus that we haven't talked about is the Federal Reserve Board. I'd like to ask you something about what you said and that is that you believe that a President to have a chairman of the Federal Reserve Board whose views are compatible with his own. Based on the record of the last few years, would you say that your views are compatible with those of Chairman Arthur Burns, And if not, would you seek his resignation if you are elected?

Wants Both to Have Same Terms

CARTER: What I have said in that the President ought to have a chance to appoint his chairman of the Federal Reserve Board to have a co-terminus term, in other words, both of them serve the same four years. The Congress can modify the supply of money by modifying the income tax laws. Tha President can modify the economic structure by public statements and general attitudes in the budget that he MODERATOR: It is now time for the closing statements, which are to be up to four minutes long. Governor Carter, by the same toss of the coin that direct-ed the first question to you, you are to go first now.

"Time to Talk About the Future"

CARTER: Well, tonight we've had a chance to talk a lot about the past. But I think it's time to talk about the future.

Our nation in the last eight years has been divided as never before. It's a time for unity. It's a time to draw ourselves together. To have a President and a Congress that can work together, with mutual respect, for a change, cooperating for a change, in the open for a change. So the people can understand their own governmant.

It's time for government, industry, labor, manufacturing, agriculture, education, other entities in our society to cooperate. And it's a time for government to understand and to cooperate with our people.

For a long time our American citizens have been excluded, sometimes misled, sometimes hava heen lied to. This is not compatible with the purpose of our nation.

I believe in our country. It needs to be competent. The government needs to be well-managed, efficient, economi-cal. We need to have a government that's sensitive to our people's needsto those who are poor, who don't have adequate health care, who have been cheated too long with our tax progranis, whn've been out of jobs, whose families have been torn apart.

We need to restore the faith and the trust of the American people in their own government.

In addition to that, we've suffered because we haven't had leadership in this Administration. We've got a gov-ernment of stalemate. We've lost the visioo of what our country can and ought to be.

his is not the America that we've known in the past. It's not the America that we have to bave in the future. I don't claim to know all the answers. But I've got confidence in my country. Our economic strenght is still there. Our system of government-in spite of Vietnam, Cambodia, C.I.A., Watergate-is still the best system of government on earth.

And the greatest resource of all are the 215 million Americans who still have within us the streogth, the character, the intelligence, the experience, the patriotism, the idealism, the compssion, the serse of brotherhood on which we can rely in tha future to restore the greatness to our country. We ought not to be excluded from our government anymore. We need a President that can go in who derives his streogth from the people. I owa the special interests nothing. I owe everything to you, the peopla of this country.

And I believe that we can bind our wnunds. I believe that we can work together. And I believe that we can tap the tremendous ontapped reservoir of innate strength in this country. That we can once again have a government as good as our people and let the world knnw that we still know and hope for ---that we still live in the greatest and the strongest and the best country on earth.

'$60 Billion Surplus'

MODERATOR: President Ford. Trust and the Presidency

FORD: On Nov. 2 all of you will make a very, very important decision. One of the major issues in this cam-paign is trust. A President should never promise more than he can deliver and a President should always deliver everything that he's promised. A Presi-dent can't be all things to all people. A President should be the same thing to all people.

Another issue in this campaign, Governor Carter has endorsed the Democratic platform, which calls for more spending, bigger deficits, more inflation and more taxes. Governor Carter bas embraced the record of the present Congress, dominated by his political party. This calls for more of the same.

Governor Carter in his acceptance speech called for more and more programs, which means more and more government, I think the real issue in this campaign and that which you must decide on Nov. 2, is whether you should vote for his promises or my perform-ance in two years in the White House.

On the first of July we had a wonder-ful 200th birthday for our great coun-try. It was a superb occasion. It was a glorious day. In the first century of our oatioo's history our forefathers gave us the floest form of government in the history of mankind. In the secand century of our nation's history our forefathers developed the most productive industrial nation in the history of the globe.

Our third century should be the century of individual freedom for all our 215 million Americans today and all that join us.

In the last few years government bas gotten bigger and bigger. Industry has gotten larger and larger; labor unions bave gotten bigger and bigger and our children have been the victims of mass edocation. We must make this next century tha century of the individual. We should never forget that a govern-ment big enough to give us everything we want is a government big enough to take from us everything we have. The individual worker in crafts throughout the United States should not be a small cog io a big machine. have his rights sanctioned and broadcur chi'dren in their education should have an opportunity to imand their abilitie .

'v mother and father during the Depression worked very hard to give me an opportunity to do better in our great ccuntry. Your mothers and fathers did the same thing for you and others.

Betty and I have worked very hard to give our children a brighter future in the United States, our beloved country.

You and others io this great country have worked hard and done a great deal to give your children and your grandchildren the blessings of a better America.

I believe we can all work together to make the individual in the future have more and all of us working together can build a better America.

MODERATOR: Thank you President Ford. Thank you Governor Carter, Our thanks also to the questioners and to the audience in this theater. Wa much regret the technical failure that caused a 28-minute delay in the broadcast of the debate, Wa believe, however, that everyone will agree that it did not de-tract from the effectiveness of the debate nor from its fairness.

The next Presidential debate is to take place on Wednesday, Oct. 6, in San Francisco at 9:30 P.M. Eastern daylight time. The topics are to be foreign and defense issues. As with all three debates between the Presidential candidates and the one between the Vice-Presidential candidates, it is being ar-ranged by the Leagua of Womao Voters Education Fund in the bope of promoting a wider and better-informed participation by the American people in the election io November.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 23-This was a rare quiet evening for Senator Wal-ter F. Mondale —a stroll across the Yale campus, dinner at his botel and, of course watching television in his room. His day began before 7 A M in Wiscom His day began before 7 A.M. in Wiscon-sin, but he spent most of it campaigning in President Fund's home state.

The choice of Michigan was deliberate. Michiganders who turned on the early evening television news probably saw the Democratic Vice - Presidential cominee somewhere in their state giving a speech, cutting a mammath state giving a speech, somewhere in their state giving a speech, cutting a mammoth peanut-shaped cake, walking the main street of a small rail-road city and everywhere denouncing Gerald Ford, a few hours before the President debated Jimmy Carter on tele-

Lights-Camera-Candidates!

The 1976 Presidential debates resemble the Lincoln-Douglas debates, to which they are inevitably compared, as much as a town meeting resembles-well, a television spectacular. In 1858, the debaters, equipped only with their wits and vocal cords, reached audiences of up to 20,000, including lusty becklers, as they spent hours rebutting each other. In 1976, the debaters' setting from which they were seen and heard last night by an estimated 90 million Americans was to the original Illinols version what a supersonic jet is to the Wright Brothers' first flying machine-though the jet developed engine tronble that put the debate into a holding pattern for almost half an bour.

In the strict sense of the word, the joint appearances of Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter are not really debates. They are rather-as was true of the 1960 Kennedy-Nixon debates-an adaption of "Meet the Press," a giant TV show of Meet the People. The key characteristic of true debates, an extemporaneous give-and-take between adversaries, is barely present in these carefully premeditated and rehearsed presentations. Any points that either of the candidates may have scored last night over the other-and we shall comment later on the substance of the debates - were less likely the result of impromptu response or instant rebuttal than the recitation of carefully prepared positions.

Even with their limitations, these exposures of the Presidential candidates do perform an enormously important service. They give the electorate an opportunity to see, hear and compare the men who compete for the nation's highest office. There is a world of. difference between such a confrontation and the voter's day-to-day effort to absorb and digest, piecemeal and . second-hand, the reported statements; speeches, charges and counter-charges.

In a country of continental aize, with its vast regional differences, the view of national candidates becomes hlurred and distorted as the contestants tailor their speeches to the special interests of different audiences and surroundings. In Philadelphia's Walnut Street Theater last night Messrs. Ford and Carter had to speak to all Americans.

The exercise is not without built-in flaws and potential dangers. Tha debates' inherent weakness is their show-business nature; their heavy reliance on rehearsal and grooming by professional image-makers; the concern for appearance over substance.

The more serious risk is that the mesmerizing format may bypass real issues while creating artificial but politically exploitable ones. It was in this fashion that the Kennedy-Nixon debates conjured up the false specter of a missile gap and the fictitious Quemoy crisis.

Even in their flawed form, however, the Kennedy-Nixon debates allowed the American people a hard, comparative look at two men. The camera's harsh eye may well be the best available tool to permit an insight. into the real man under the politician's disguise.

In their paradoxical way, despite pancake makeup and electronic alchemy, the mass-audience. debates shrink the nation's size, strip the candidates of the protective shield forged by their managers and force them to appear in millions of American living rooms in something like their true colors. Character, integrity, compassion, intelligence-or lack of them-do have a way of showing through.

Slicing the Big Apple

Mayo: Beame's proposals for dividing New York into S2 new community districts in accordance with charter changes adopted last November have, predictably, generated some vigorous protests at bearings in the five boroughs this week.

What is remarkable is the extent to which the Planning Commission has succeeded in fulfilling a charter mandate to create districts that provide coterminality of most municipal services, at the same time preserving, as far as possible, some sense of historical neighborhood identity. After more than three centuries of chaotic municipal growth, it was impossible to satisfy these complex conditions to everyone's satisfaction. Some modifications no doubt will be in order. But the Planning Commission is to be commended for a difficult job well done.

Not so commendable is the persisting opposition of some City Council members who fear this move to shift city government closer to the people will undermine their own prerogatives. Others, including Mayor Beame has all-or even most-of his (or ber) faculties cannot find a sufficient number of illegally parked cars at any time, and in virtually any place in this city to meet any "productivity" quota devised by even the most beartless of taskmasters.

If any such agent really is at wit's end where to find illegal parkers, we strongly recommend a visit four weekday mornings out of five to virtually any alternate parking street where-during the three hours when parking is prohibited along one curb-the agent will find . ample quantities of double-parked cars all ready for ticketing. They rarely if ever are, thanks to one of those old New York customs long winked at by the authorities. We're only disclosing the secret now in the interest of helping any harassed parking agents maintain their productivity-and their honesty,

Of Vietnam and U.S. Domestic Politics

To the Editor:

Ambassador Scranton's denial that domestic politics influenced the U.S. decision to veto Vietnam's application for U.N. membership sets a new standard of disingenousness in this election year. This rejection of normalized relations with Vietnam is ostensibly based on the Ford Administration's contention that Vietnamese unwillingness to provide immediately a full accounting of all M.I.A.'s shows that Hanoi lacks the "commitment to peace and humanitarianism necessary for membership in the General Assembly."

In the light of the heavy U.S. responsibility for the current strained relations with Vietnam, President Ford would do well to demonstrate his own concern for this, and for candor and responsibility in both domestic politics and foreign policy.

Following Mr. Ford's lead, the State Department has objected to "selective application of pest agreements" in dis-missing Hanol's insistence on discussing American commitments to "heal the wounds of war" with reconstruction aid, although its own demands distort the meaning of the agreements and the mutual obligations that they specify. It is thus hardly surprising that the Vietnamese should press the U.S. to make a sincere effort to beal the wounds of war by belping to repair the estimated total of $12 billioo to $15 billion of war damage inflicted on their country by American actions. Moreover, Secretary Kissinger's secret · · · · ·

To the Editor:

Recent disclosures concerning abuses of the Parking Violations Bureau are no surprise. For years the people of this city have had to deal with petty martinets eager to make life in our town an unbearable frustration. Meter people are simply the most obvious example of this sad phenom

On many occasions I have been witness to the daily injustices perpetrated on hapless motorists by overzealous traffic agents and their compatriots at the Parking Violations Bureau bearing offices. It is truly an education in the ways of capricious law enforcement just to attend one or two bours of these veritable starcnamber proceedings.

The alleged "violator" of one of the myriad parking regulations in effect sumply doesn't stand a chance - not with the city in such bad financial shape. Examples of the arbitrary, capricious and often quite illegal enforcement of parking regulations are legion and often pitiful,

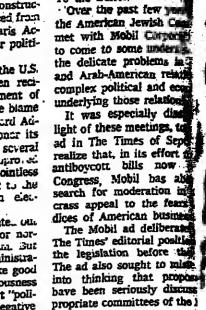

To be sure, there must be effective regulation of parking in a city where automobiles are often the bane ot everybody's existence. Does ticketing an elderly motorist while he sits in his car waiting for his teeble wife to come out of the optometrist's office serve such a purpose? Does issuing a summons to some poor soul while be

To the Editor. pledge of $3.25 billion in reconstruction aid was specifically divorced from the complex issues of the Paris Accords and given "without prior political conditions."

The key missing element in the U.S. approach to Vietnam has been reciprocity and the acknowledgement of mutual obligations. To shift the biame to the Vietnanese , hen the Ford Auministration has requised to Lonor its aid com in leats, required several relations and maintained a pointless economic embargo is an insuit to the intelligence of the American e.e.torate.

Recognizing the fatuousness of Mr. Scranton's insistence that "politics played no part" in this negative and futile refusal to make a constructive approach to the new realities in Southeast Asia, wiser counsel has succeeded in removing Vietnam's U.N. membership application from the snare of ward politics.

Although he shares a similar misunderstanding of the importance of reciprocity in the Vietnam issue, Governor Carter has at least raised the issue of honesty toward the American gresse: Ithaca, N.Y., Sept. 17, 1976

(who has grossly underfunded the new community boards, in his current hndget), see the boards as a threat to strong central rule-as indeed they are to a limited degree.

New Yorkers, fed up with years of strong central misrule and councilmanic ineptitude, were not unmindful of these considerations when they endorsed the charter reforms last year. It is not unreasonable to hope that municipal government in a city of 8 million can be made more democratic and more responsive when some of the authority concentrated in City Hall is shared with neighborhoods organized on a more human scale of around 150,000 people.

If citizens will seize the opportunities that this charter reform offers, the new community districts could become vital centers of a more viable, more livable New York. Decentralization need not be a threat to politicians who have the good of the city at beart if they adopt the enlightened attitude of Councilman Edward L. Sadowsky of Queens, who observed: "Any avenue that gives people a chance to participate is good. I don't expect my workload to diminish, and I don't view it as a threat . . ."

Parking Unlimited

The accusation that agents of the Parking Violations Bureau often place summonses on legally parked cars to achieve a daily "productivity" quota-and yesterday the Traffic Department did admit to the quota chargeis surprising to any New Yorkers who daily observes unticketed violations-and don't we all?

The Right to Food

Massive human problems are generally such a subliminal part of daily life that they lie uncomprehended just beyond the general consciousness. It was that way for years with the nuclear peril, with the buman attacks on the earth's environment, with overpopulation-and . so it still is with the problem of bunger throughout the world. Mere consciousness seems to advance in tiny increments; hut no matter how small, each step in any of these fields constitutes a major contributloo to mankind's efforts to construct a civilized global order.

Thus, the passage of the "Right-to-Food Resolution" by the House this week, though superficially only a symbolic act, is apt to have Bignificant substantive consequences. Two years ago in the wake of substantial American grain sales and poor barvests almost everywhere, global hunger hecame a major concern of governments and individuals all over the world, culminating at the World Food Conference in Rome. Since then, consciousness of the problem has declined and the focus of general attention has moved elsewhere.

But the issue is no less important now and the Rightto-Food Resolution has the virtue of pulling American governmental attention back into focus in a number of constructive ways. It reaffirms the commitments Congress has made in a variety of statutes to feed zation-from space navigation to the formulation of husiness strategy in the corporate world. Yet so highly abstract is the nature of most modern mathematical research that only on rare occasions is some major advance achieved whose nature is comprehensible to non-mathematiclans.

An example is the recent successful proof of the fourcolor conjecture, one of the classic problems that has engaged mathematicians of many nations during the past two centuries. It can be stated simply: Given a map of any kind, perhaps of the countries of the world, or the states of a nation, or of all America's counties, etc., what is the minimum number of colors required so that no two adjacent regions-countries, states, counties or whatever-are shown in the same color? Almost a century ago it was proved that five colors would suffice, but the conjecture that four colors would be enough has haffled generation after generation of the world's most talented mathematicians.

Now the four-color conjecture has been proved by two University of Illinois mathematicians, Kenneth Appel and Wolfgang Haken. They had an invaluable tool that earlier mathematicians lacked-modern computers. Their present proof rests in part on 1,200 hours of computer calculation during which about ten billion logical decisions had to be made.

The proof of the four-color conjecture is unlikely to be of applied significance. Nevertheless, what has been accomplished is a major intellectual feat. It gives us an important new insight into the nature of two-dimensional space and of the ways in which such space can be broken into discrete portions.

America's bungry citizens and it stresses the importance of taking bunger and food distribution into account in the formulation of foreign policy.

Most important, it reaffirms the essential insight animating the plans developed at Rome: that the world's food problems are attacked most effectively by helping the world's poorest and hungriest people to increase substantially their food - producing capacities. Unless those countries receive significant assistance specifically designed to achieve greater food production, the problem of hunger in the developing world will remain critical. So far the American ald affort has not matched the challenge. The resolution calls on the Administration to provide Congress with a five-year projection of aid levels. While the United States has generally approved the United Nations target of devoting an amount equal to 0.7 percent of gross national product to aid for developing countries, this country's aid levels have declined steadily from 0.53 percent of gross national product in 1960 to something between 0.23 and 0.27 percent in the mid-70's.

Those aid levels put the United States in the group of donor countries making the most limited developmental contributions. The Right-to-Food Resolution should assist Congress to assess and improve this nation's actions to help the world's hungry feed themselves.

The Single-Family Home 'to the Editor:

it seems to me that President role in his Sept 15 speech at the Univer SUY of Michigan wes the navour cities and thereby the nation a vas disservice by encourseing "home own ersnip for every American tamily that wants:to owo a home." First, single-family dwellings, traditionally built in the suburbs or in rural communities, drain the cities of their most productive citizens, erode the municipal tax base and thereby accelerate the cycle of the cities' decline. Second, suburban and rural communities which attempt to absorb an invadiog populatioo become urbanized themselves and simply extend the ills of a congested and poiluted city. Third, single-family dwellings are the most destructive and prodigal alternative in terms of energy, ecology and natural resources, including food-produciog arable land.

There is, however, a silver lining for the home-building contractors, the highway lobby and the mortgage lend-ARTHUR MOKIN ers. New York, Sept. 16, 1976

To the Editor:

I work for a community center at 110th Street and Fifth Avenue - so your story of the dead baby and the dog came close to our oeighborhood. and could have happened in one of our buildings. One hopes, though, we have enough neighborhood sense left that persons would have known of the emergency and offered belp.

One point which I would like to make in view of this tragedy is that the summer food program was not all scandal it fed ... any mungry unduren, and the hardest part of my summer was turning away older persons like Joanne Basboid, who were also obviously hungry and without means. Next summer I hope that the investigators of scandal will also research the facts of bunger and provide a more realistic program for food and for other occessities so that persons like Joanne may have somewhere to turn. and household status of nearly 60,000 Manhettan blacks (mostly, central Harlem residents and together totaling about one-third of the island's blacks) make that clear. About nine in ten men were day laborers; service workers and skilled wage earners. They were far poorer than other working-class New Yorkers.

Their households differed from those poor urban and rural Southern 0 blacks in 1880. Enlarged bouseholds, often containing two or more families along with kin and unmarried lodgers, were far more common. But these adaptive responses to Northern urban poverty did not entail widespread family disorganization. The study of about 14,000 black households (mostly between 125th Street and 140th Street west of Lenox Avenue) shows the following: · 85 percent of these householdsabout six in seven-had at their core either .a husband and wife or two parents and their children.

• Households in which 'a husband was absent-especially those beaded by young women-were relatively insignificant. Three percent of all households were headed by women under inst: 32 these nearly 60,000 blacks were headed by women under 30 and contained three or more children! · Older working-class men held their own as fathers. Three in four males aged 45 and older were unskilled or service workers. And three in four .households beaded by men that old were headed by men with those occupations. • Five in six children under the age of six lived with both parents. Central Harlem was not Mecca in the 1920's. But neither was it Sodom. The obstacles to decent living encountered by poor Harlem blacks are well known, but a "pathological" family life was not one of them. Their behavior makes that clear. On the eve of the Great Depression, the emerging black ghetto was not filled with broken and disorganized poor black families. Far more family disorganization followed the migration of the Southern black poor to Northern cities between

York City in 1925. The occupations 1940 and 1970 than before 1930. This evidence offers no comfort whatsoever to poor ghetto blacks in 1976: men, women and children ravaged by institutional racism, chronic unemployment and welfare dependency. It cannot. Instead, it shows that "historical" and "cultural" explanations for their current vulnerability and suffering are spurious. It directs attention to the recent failings of an economic and

Miss Nomer On the Debate

By James Reston

After somebody pulled the plug on the Ford-Carter rebate, the President and the Governor naturally asked for equal time to question the Average American Voter.

Moderator (Ed Newman): Please identify yourself.

Voter: My real name is Miss No-mer. I'm middle-aged, Middle-Amer-undecided, middle-aged, Middle-America concerned citizen from Chapel Hill, halfway between Grand Rapids, Mich., and Plains, Ga.

Moderator: The President and the Governor have some questions; but first, what did you think of their debate?

Voter: Too long and too complicated. Ford: I need your advice and any-way your vote. Do you believe in the American free-enterprise system or in government regulation of business?

Voter: Both. I believe in the freeenterprise system provided we regu-, iate the hell out of it.

Carter: I'm Jimmy. Carter and letely I've been running away from the Presidency. The President says infletion is our main problem and I say unemployment is our main problem. What do you think?

Voter: I think it's a lousy question. If I have to choose between bigh prices and unemployment, I think I'll stay home in November-if I still bave a home to go to.

Moderator: The President and the Governor believe in democracy and have both said that they will rely on your judgment and ahide by your decision, but they insist you must choose between infletion and unemployment. Voter. Who, me?

Moderator: Yes, you Voter: Well, I'm sort of a practical guy and I try to be fair about these things. If Big Business helps me, or Big Unions belp me, or Big Govern-ment belps me, I'm for all of them, one at a time, but it all depends. Ford: I assume you're for a balanced-budget? Voter: I've never had one myself or seen one anywhere else, but I'm definitely for it. Carter: I assume you want us to have the best military security and social security in the world, clean industrial growth, and the best health and welfare services?

Voter: Sure, I want us to be No. I in.everything. Ford: How do you suggest thet we do all these things and still balance the budget?

Voter: All we need is common sense. If we eliminate waste, if we get rid of the tax loopholes that benefit only the rich, if we get the loafers off welfare, and if we stamp out corruption, discrimination, pride, greed, booze and sex, it should be easy.

Moderator: This discussion is getting out of hand. You have to indicate how all this is to be done.

Voter: Thet's their problem. I'm not running for President: I'm just giving them policy guidance.

Ford: Doo't you think experience in running the White House is important? Voter: Not if it's run in the next few years as it was in the last few years. Carter: When you compare Republican Presidents like Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Nixon and Ford with Democratic Presidents like Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy and Johnson, whet do you think?

Voter: I think somebody else must be saving the Republic; but I'm not interested in the past.

Ford: You have to admit things are getting better. The rate of inflation and unemployment are not going up as fest as they were a year or so ago. Voter! But they're still going up.

Ford: How do you think the debates came out?

. Voter. I think Georgia Tech's ahead but you were way ahead on vetoes. Carter: Who do you suppose cut off the sound when I was talking?

Voter: Maybe it was Gene Mc-Carthy or some plumber.

Moderator: Okay, but what kind of President do you, as a representative of the people, really want?

Voter. We want a strong leader who will leave us alone; a conservative innovator, who can get the country going again but not too fast; somebody we know intimately but who is young and new.

Moderator: Anything else? Voter: He should, of course, produce peace and prosperity, clean up our moral pigsty, and reconcile the old Biblical virtues with the new life styles. He should be a man of faith but conceal it, He 'should know all about human frailty but deny it, and be recklessly candid but keep his mouth shut about abortion, busing, sex and religion.

Moderator: One final question: Who impressed you during the debate? Voter: I thought that young woman Elizabeth Drew was pretty good.

Governor Walker, Carter organizers believe, will campaign for Mr. Carterdownstate, where Mr. Walker is a powerful vote-getter. Thus, depending on the course of the national campaign, they still see a strong possibility for a Carter victory here-particularly because, slow and limited as the Carter effort in Illinois may be, even less appears to be happening on behalf of Mr. Ford.

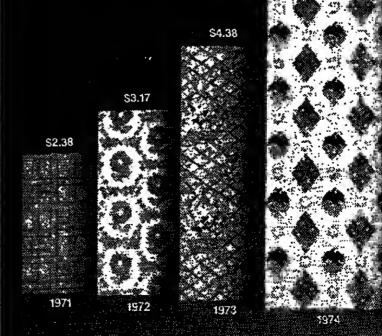

Experienced Tenth District Democrats cautiously agree with that outlook. "A vacuum exists as far as Carter is concerned," one of them said. "He needs to come in and evoke a personal reaction. There's a reservoir of good will for him, and not such strong opposition as there was to McGovern, but Carter needs to give us a cause to go out and work for."

Rossetti, Too, Is Expected to Hold Democratic Leadership Rule Despite Coalition's Judgeship Gains

By THOMAS P. RONAN

Patrick J. Cunningham, the Bronx Democratic leader, and Fraok G. Rossetti his Manhattan counterpart, appeared yes-terday to be safe in their leaderships for some time despite their defeat by the antiorganization New Democratic Coalition in contests for party Supreme Court nominations.

Coalition delegates defeated two Cun-niogham candidates for nominations Wednesday night at the judicial conven-tion for the First, Judicial District [Man-hattan and the Bronx]. traditional Democratic concerns in the quiet, lady-like and somewhat tentative speaking style that has had her cam-paign staff worried from the start. "The traditional bread-and-butter issues of jobs and inflation are para-mount in this state," she began. "Ener-gy pricing—energy pricing is of crucial importance to Connecticut—a very major problem for our immediate fu-ture. We are 82 percent dependent on ture. We are 82 percent dependent on oil for our energy, as opposed to 43 percent for the natioo as a whole." "There is an 8 percent unemployment rate natioowide," she said, "but the July rate in Connecticut was 9.5 per-cent, and in urban areas it was worse. In Ansonia, it was 14.7 percent, Bridge-port 10.6. Senator Weicker, who is campaigning only on weekends until Congress ad-journs sometime next month, respond-ed in his broad and effusive style, which relies heavily on shirt-sleeved, arm-waving crescendoes of scowing, angry phrases such as "you're darned right" and "we'd damn well better." "I've always tried to level with the electorate, and today will be no excep-tion," he began. "I don't intend to baby' the voters with softhall solutions, or to 'Mickey Mouse' the issues. Hot air is easy to recognize in a political campaign.

What made America great, Senator

Weicker said, was social concern and backbone, "and very frankly, those qualities have been missing for too long."

"Make-work programs," he said by way of example, "are as wrong as the Republican philosophy that everything will work out all right if you leave it alone. We have to concentrate on the problem's rather than on traditional philosophies."

His own guiding philosophy, he said, is that a Senator should lead people, not be led by people, "Sacrifice for the people, not sacrifice to the people,"

The only real point for dispute came when a questioner from the audience, which was composed of the editors and publishers of the state's fat and prosperous weekly newspapers, asked about oil policy. Mrs. Schaffer, who has been pushing the issue and goading Mr. Weicker on it; called for increasing Government regulation. Mr. Weicker, who has only begun to respond, came out for less regulation and more sacrifice on the part of consumers.

"Well, there are some people in my party, I know, who wish I could give a direct answer on that," Senator Weicker quipped in an allusion to stillwidespread disaffection to him among Republicans, both for his role in Water-gate and for his personality, which is sometimes described as self-righteous and abrasive.

Having gotten a laligh, Senator Weicker took off with the question and delivered a paean to American tech-nology and to those in the political system who had made it flower. Mrs.

Schaffer, when her turn came, was left to trail along and make "ma too," sound interesting if she could.

"That's the trouble I always have with Lowell," Mrs. Schaffer said after the luncheon, when knots of well-wish-ers gathered around the candidates and offered appraisals of the performance. "He always takes broad positions, and I want to talk specifically. I wouldn't say there was any real confrontation

The Mayor's subcommittee on cotermi-nalicy recommended comparatively few of Williamsburg asked not to be shifted changes from present boundaries. Most to the Busbwick, district, which is prechanegs were proposed to meet the re-dominantly black.

Residents of the racially mixed Prospect alignment, which will go into effect Jan. 1, have at least 100,000 residents. But the redrawn lines produced lond cries of protest from residents of half a .dozen Brooklyn neighborboods during nearly five hours of testimony at Borough Hall. Heights section said they wanted to re-main part of the Crown Heights district rather than be linked to the more affluent Brooklyn Heights.

Finally, with the use of huge molds or forms, steel-reinforced coocrete boxes are built in the tunnel to provide for two levels of double-track line, with a support wall separating the tracks;

a support wall separating the tracks; and then cootinuous, welded rail (with-out noisy joints) is laid. All of this requires scores of men io hard hats, yellow raincoats and boots, many of them sloshing around in puddles of water in the still unpaved sections of the tunnel. John A. Tremko, divisioo construc-tion engineer for the Transit Authority, notes that the tuncel is below the water table. Therefore, it is susceptible to leaks both from the top and the bot-tom and requires concerete patching as well-as pumping.

Park Ground Restored

After the coocrete floor of the tunnel is laid, little holes-"weep holes"are cut into it so the water underneath are cut into it so the water underneam can bubble up and then be pumped out. "Otherwise." says Mr. Tremko, "the pressure of the water is so great that it would break through."

The main delay in completing the Manhattan-Jamaica line via 63d Street will be in finishing a 5.8-mile section called the "superexpress" bypass along the Long Island Rail Road right of way between Sunnyside and Forest Hills in Queens.

According to the Transit Authority, trains should be running between Man-hattan and a new station at Northern Boulevard, Queens, by 1983 or 1984. Transfers can be made at that station to the Queens Boulevard line.

At the Manhatian end the 63d Street line will curve underneath Central Park in two great arcs to link up with the IND Sixth Avenue (Avenue of the Americas) and BMT Seventh Avenues lines just south of the park. Already the massive tunnel work of those two arcs is virtually complete, and the park land above, where it was torn up, has been restored, including a playground and a pond. Workmen are busy installing track in the tubes, and the tunnels will be used to store sub-

Private Strike Fund

Millwrights were getting a lnt of over-time work just before the walkout, and the extra money, in a sense, went into the Martin family's private strike fund. All the hig hills, like the house and car payments, have beeo paid for the oext three months.

This time the Martins were ready. A few miles away, "Big Jne" Lockwood, a jovial, 55-year-old metal pourer, was manning the picket line at the Rouge plant. He and many others were ready,

"Put it like this," he said, "my hills are paid up for the oext couple of months. Guys who have managed their husiness pretty well while they wss working can do that."

If the strike against Ford — now in its second week — last very long, some younger workers and some imprudeot ones will undouhtedly find themselves in the same position Mr. Martin was in oine years ago. But thousands of others have evideotly girded for the strike, financial-

The degree of an individual's prepared-ness is determined partly by his status within the industry. In the end, the state of preparedness will probably have a major bearing on what he is willing to settle for in a new three-year cootract with Ford. And it will have a major bearwith Ford. And it will have a major bear-iog oo when he wants to call it quits, 'cod the strike and ratify a settlement. Mr. Martin, for example, is part of the group - skilled tradesmen - who proba-hly could hold out the loogest. It is also the group that is the most militant and articulate within the union, aod is the votiog unit considered most likely to block a settlement at ratificatioo time.

Like other members of the skilled trades, Mr. Martin feels strongly that the differential between their wages and the wages of unskilled assembly-line workers must be increased. Skilled workers' wages now are about 30 percent bigher than those of productioo workers, and Mr. Martio thinks they should be 45 to 50 perceot higher. "We need at least a 50-to-75 cent per hour differential over production work-ers," Mr. Martin said, "and some people are going as high as a dollar. They're sinal people." To become a skilled tradesman, ao ap-prentice must undergo extensive schonl-ing. On weeknights for the last three years, for example, Mr. Martin has been required by the Ford management to at-tend Henry Ford Community College and study such subjects as drafting, algebra, geometry and trigonometry. He gets extra "incentive pay" for doing so. $500 Gross Weekly Wage

The family might not have made it through had not Mrs. Martin got-teo a job as a maid io a hotel. Now Jim Martin is ooe of more than 165.000 U.A.W. members whn again are striking Ford. But this time things are a lnt different. Now he is an apprentice millwright, a skilled worker who maio-tains the machinery and keeps production going at a Detroit area casting plant. $500 Gross Weekly Wage Also, he has been working seven days a week. With overtime and incective pay, the earns a gross weekly wage of about $500. That is what has enabled him to prepare for the strike. None of this means that Mr. Martin -or many of his co-workers — are really enthusiastic about the strike. "I think if you talk to mnst people, whether they're in the skilled trades nr on the line, they'd rather be working," he said. ## "Depends on what we get," is the worker's stock answer. But what's important to one worker is not necessarily what's important to the next one.

Mr. Martin cares a lot about the skilled trades wage differential. But he says that he and others are confused about the U.A.W.'s key demand, the one that is the time as a means of opening up more jobs. Talk to Mr. Lockwood, though, and it is a different story. The reduction of working time is "very important, for the simple reason that the higher seniority man can stand more time off. He's al-ready got a secure job. ## Tumult Marked Life of Author Of the 1549 Book BY GEORGE DUGAN

The original book of Common Prayer was produced in 1549 hy Thomas Cranmer, Archbishop of Canterbury, who next to William Shakespeare, is probably the most quoted of English writers.

After rising from humble farming stock, Cranmer was appointed to the see of Canterbury io 1532 and soon became King Henry VIII's chief instrument for overthrowing papal supremacy in Eogland.

In 1533 he annulled Henry's marriage to Catherine of Aragon and three years later pronounced a similar judgment on the King's marriage to Anne Boleyn. He also married Henry and Anne of Cleves, and later granted their divorce.

After Henry's death in 1547, Archhishop Cranmer became one of the most influential counselors to the young Edward VI.

In 1548 he discussed the draft of the proposed book with a conference nf scholars and the next year Parliameot commissioned the prioting of the "First Praver Book of Edward VI," known thereafter as the Book of Common Prayer.

Book Simplified Services

Cranmer's purpose in writing the book was to simplify and condense the Latin services of the medieval church and to produce in English a single, con-venient and comprehensive volume as an authoritative guide for priests and worshipers. Despite subsequent revi-sions, much of the richness of Cranmer's language has remained in use nver the centuries.

Oo the accession of Mary Tudor in 1553, Archbishop Cranmer was accused of high treasoo, tried and sentenced, hut the Queen spared his life. He was later tried for heresy and sentenced to death, hut then made several recantations affirming his belief in papel supremacy.

These were written, as he later asserted "for fear of death," but it was only a temporary lapse. He renounced his recantations and died at the stake in Oxford, on March 21, 1556.

Approaching the Search for Child-Care: Realistic Attitude Hel

By RICHARD FLASTE

When affluent working parents set out to find someone to care for their children, often they're looking for somebody at least as wonderful as Mary Poppins.

They want her to be tutor, nurse and housekeeper. She should be bright, articulate, attractive, stimulating for the children. And if she cooks native dishes from her exotic homeland, that would be fine, too.

But while $100 to $200.a week may seem to be a significant amount of money, it rarely buys all those things. money, it rarely buys all mose things. Parents who start out looking for per-fection in the person who will share the childrearing—the disciplining, the training, the loving—usually find they are asking for more than the market offers. After weeks or months of searching, they settle for a person with one or two of the qualities that really matter to them. matter to the

Joseph and Karen Lane (he runs an advertising agency; she's in public re-lations) experienced a good deal of initial tension and idealism as they sought someone to care for Robin, now 41/2 years old, and later Tracy, now 11/2.

"You Have to Be Right"

The choice, after all, can be one of The choice, after his can be one of the most important that parents make. "In business if you're right 50 percent of the time, "you're doing fine," Mr. Lane said, "but in this you just have to be sight." to be right."

In time the Lanes became more re-laxed and more practical. Mrs. Lane came to the conclusion that too many mothers want to replace themselves totally, they want everything to be done as if they were home,"

She decided, she said, "not to re-create myself." It was unnecessary, as well as unrealistic-"Even if I were home all the time, I wouldn't be raising the children alone; they'd be raised partly by the neighbors, partly by television or by relatives."

Parents have to come to grips with a number of questions. Do they want a nursemaid or a housekseper (as a child gets older the latter may be more child gets older the latter may be more useful than the former)? Agencies will-invariably tell them that the woman who can be reasonably good at both child care and cleaning is rare indeed. Is it necessary for the woman to live in? If it is, she'll be more difficult to find "Mone at the more tofar to find-"Most of the women today have their own families and their own lives," Leah Rose of the Arit Agency said. Moreover, many nursemaids are leery of being on call-24 hours a day.

There are a variety of ways to begin the search. Obvious sources are the employment agencies listed in classified advertising sections of oewspapers advertising sections of oewspapers along with the situations-wanted ads. One agency that might be over-looked, however, is the State Employ-ment Service, New York State, for in-stance, has a household hranch in each borough. The state agency charges no fee to employer or employee (private agencies charge each up to 18 percent of the first month's salary) and all of its applicants must have checkable references before they can be placed. If the agencies fail to-belp, or insist that your requirements are unreasonable then advertise for someone yourself. There are the large daily newspapers, of course, but a lesser-known paper that has pleased some parents is The Irish Echo, "The voice of Ireland in America," which has the advantage of appealing to immigrants who may not be so settled here that they would shun live in work.

Newspaper advertising does pose Newspaper advertising does pose some problems. According to Sarah Jones, a lawyer who did it, yon have to be prepared for "some crazy people to answer those ads." Mrs. Jones, who has two daughters, said that advertis-ing meant "you have to screen very carefully.". In any case, you would want to in-terview carefully. But Mary Walsh, of the Avalon Nurses Registry, asserts that "parents don't know bow to inter-view," She said it takes years of cr-perience to know just when to be susperience to know just when to be sus-picious and when to be pleased.

Some Pointers

Nevertheless, a number of agencies and parents who've been through the experience several times have some Interviewing pointers to pass on:

"If the worker is an alien, remem-ber to ask to see the "green card,", which is proof from the immigration authorities but the worker is bere as a legal resident. a legal resident. The provident record meticulously. Are there unexplainable gaps in the job history? Take references with a grain of Take references with a grain of salt. According to one agency, some references are written by relatives and friends. Others might be glowing sim-ply because the former employer wanted to be nice. It is a good idea to follow up the references with a phone call:

Sarah Jones advised that you have your child with you at the interview to see just how the prospective em-ployee relates to children, although admittedly in a strained situation. Dr. James Wolff, a professor of pediatrics at Columbia University who pediatrics at Columbia University who has had unusual success with house-hold belp—the same woman bas taken care of his soo. Timmy, for 17 years —said that if he were starting over he'd ask questions to determine the woman's flexibility.

Things to Look For

Things to Look For For instance, what are her feelings about toilet training? If she sounds too rigid, he'd steer clear. Rigidity, be thinks, is a sign of friction ahead. Is the nursemaid supposed to take the child to stimulating places, such as the zoo or the park? Then the parents might want to find out if she knows how to get around the city. Susan Weyerhaeuser, a graduate studeot, hired e woman from Barbados who seemed awfully sullen for a while. It turned out that she was just terrified. She had no idea of how to get around. She had no idea of how to get around. Mrs. Weyerhaeuser has unexpectedly found herself training the woman, who loves children, to somehow negotiate urban perils.

Which makes a point. If Mrs. Weyerhacuser bad turned the woman away hecuser bad turned the woman away because the city frightened ber, an 'affectionate person would bave been lost. So careful interviewing can back-fire. There are parents who swear that the most important thing is not an-swers to questions but their own "gut reaction."

Anyway, once you've found some-body you like, it may be hard keeping her. The demand appears greater than the supply. And if the woman is good but just doesn't like you she can find a job elsewhere. The Lanes found that the best way to relate to Doris Lampert was to trust ber. Mrs. Lane said she believes that Mits. Lampert wants to do a good job and will get as much done around the house as possible. Mrs. Lane said emphatically, "I don't make lists."

And five days a week, as Mrs. Lam-pert goes about cleaning the Lanes' house, taking Robin to school and bathing Tracy, she is thankful that there are no lists to plague her. As she held Tracy in her arms re-cently in the shingled house on a tree-framed street in Rye, N.Y., Mrs. Lampert

"Cooking relaxes me," said Leon Hirschbaum, a lawyer whose trim physique belies both his passion for food and his 68 years. "I love to shop for food and cook dinner after a day of legal problems, and when I bave insomnia, I sometimes bake at 3 or 4 in the morning."

When he does decide to cook, Mr. Hirschbaum does not find himself in want of recipes. His collection of cookbooks numbers well into the thousands and fills walls of bookshelves in the . kitchen, bedrooms and cellar of his house in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn.

Although the collection is international in scope, Mr. Hirschbaum'a real pride is the unusually complete group of Jewish cookbooks published in the United States, Australia, Germany and France, among others. His prize is a work published in London in 1874, "The Easy and Economical Book of Jewish Cookery," by Mrs. J. Atputel, who was a cook to the Baroness Lionel de Rothschild, to whom the book is dedicated.

"Jewish cookbooks are hard to come by," Mr. Hirschbaum said. "In olden days, I suppose, the recipes were hand-ed down through the generations by word of mouth, and if there were cookbooks, they were probably lost as Jews moved from country to country. And in modern times, publishers feel Jewish cookbooks appeal to a limited market, since the cuisine does not have a very great reputation and non-Jews do not buy Jewish cookbooks—as non-Italians buy Italian cookbooks. Most, therefore, bave heen published by synagogue groups around the country.

Devises His Own Variations

Not content to merely enjoy food vicariously by reading his books, Mr. Hirschbaum also cooks from them, combining recipes and techniques for a given dish, then devising his own variation, also hased on his experiences at several cooking schools and in his travels abroad on business for O'Dwyer and Bernstein, the law firm with which he is associated.

"My Irish friends say I make the best soda bread and Irish stew, and almost every week someone calls me up and asks me to bake this cheesecake for some special occasion," he said, indicating the gilded cake waiting to be tasted.

Because the Jewish New Year, Rosb ha-Shanan, and the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, are at band, Mr. Hirsch-baum also did some research on foods for them.

The most traditional and symbolic of those foods is honey, eaten to sig-nify a sweet year ahead. It may be baked in golden brown boney cakes, served as a dip for apple slices or used as the base for noant, the candy for which there is a recipe below. The traditional challah loaves for these days are baked into spiral rounds as a symbol of ascendant hopes for the New Year, and Jews are admonished to eat a new fruit, one that has just come back into season and

Leon Hirschbaum's Golden Cheesecake

Among families who break the Yom Kippur fast with a dairy dinner, cheesecake is generally considered the traditional dessert. The following is a rich, golden and creamy creation developed by Mr. Hirschbaum. through persistent trial and error.

Because it is baked in a water-bath, it has a texture much like a delicate, satiny custard, but since it does not brown on top for the same reason, it looks most attractive served upside down, with its outer covering of golden brown crumbs. Those who are strictly kosher can. substitute zweiback for the crisp amaretti macaroons and small curd cottage cheese for the ricotta.

Mr. Hirschbaum baked this cake in a 3-inch deep round aluminum pan with an 11-inch-diameter on top, tapering down to 81/2 inches on bottom; a 10-inch round pan, also 3 inches deep, can be substituted, but do not use a spring form.

Then there were the other dreams, less showy perhaps, but still ambitious: the sales clerk who wanted to be a doctor, the teacher who wanted to be a lawyer, the editor who wanted to be a publisher and the three or four secretaries who wanted to be anything but secretaries. Such dreams delight Barbara Sher, a 41-year-old psychotherapist and past president of a Manhattan human potential growth center called Group Laboratories. As president of Women Success Teams, Miss Sher is leading a series of three-part seminars designed to teach women to work as teams to achieve their individual goals, professional or personal.

With a team on your side, it makes sense to shoot for the big stakes. Miss Sher says, 'not just a desk closer to the window or a few more dollars in your pay envelope."

At this point in the presentation, someone inevitably protests, as some-one did the other night in the meeting room of a midtown hotel, "But I have no training, no skills ..." "Winning is a skill," Miss Sher replied, "one that can be learned. It pilled, "one that can be learned. At comes easily to some people who were raised in a winning atmosphere, sur-rounded by a supportive family, but it does.not come easily to most women." Borrowed Techniques

Women's Success Teams, formed last January, aims to replace that family. By its own admission, the program borrows techniques from seve disciplines-from est to Zen. It also borrows concepts from the business world, devices such as flow charts, time management systems and accountability systems, which require members to report on daily progress toward goals at weekly team huddles. But the essential feature of Women's Success Team is a built-in buddy system like the one pioneered 40 years ago by Alcoholics Anonymous and widely used today by other self-help groups, including SmokEnders. In theory, the buddy system means

"They feel that the department and City Hall don't give two hoots about them or their families," he added.

Mr. Weaving said the "informational picketing" would be part of a renewed legal campaign by the union to stop the work-schedule changes and to win e 6 percent retroactive wage increase. He said no illegal job actions would be authorized.

But Ken McFeeley, who resigned as the president of the P.B.A. last May, said officers were threatening wildcat strikes be-

An editorial from

No American Boycott

THE ARABS' DECISION to establish an Arab boycott of Israel is their husiness. But their attempt to establish an American boycott of Israel is something very different. It runs against American interests, American values and the American grain. That is the elementary distinction made hy the Coogress in writing anti-secondary-boycott provisions into the tax reform bill. Whether a tax hill should be the vehicle for a measure related to foreign policy is an interesting question for the lewyers. The rest of ns can take satisfaction that legislative teeth are being pnt into the diplomatic jawhone wielded quietly hy the administration in the last few years. It is precisely in those last few years, of course, that the Arabs' practice of a secondary hoycott, one directed at American firms that trade with lersel or that have lewish or Zionist" officers, has spread to encompass husiness deals measured in the hundreds of millions of dullars. Seldom has the inadequacy of diplomacy and the necessity for legislation been so overwhelmingly demonstrated.

Opponents of the new legislation argue, in effect, thet Arab nations are so determined to compel Americans to support their boycott of Israel that, if flouted, they will take their billions in husiness elsewhere and perheps even diminish the flow of their oil. No one would be surprised if some Arab-American deals are junked in conspicnous and symbolic protest. But it is demonstrably false that gaining American support of their boycott is so important to the Arabs that, to that end, they will jeopardize the thick economic and political ties they have huilt np so carefully with the Uoited States in recent years. Arabs are spending billions on arms produced by the very manufacturers who sell to Israel, for instance. They are doing so presumably because they see more advantage to themselves in ignoring the boycott than in enforcing it. In the past, American companies had little incentive to help bring the Arabs to this sensible vicw of their own self-interest. Now the American companies have an incentive. Now, tno, an American company declining to participete in the Arah boycott will not face the same risk of paying a financial pen-alty for honoring the United States' longstanding anti-secondary-hoycott policy. One-needs to step back a pace. We think it entirely healthy and useful that the boycott issue has come to the fure. It goes to the basic framework in which the United States and the Arab world are trying to expand and deepen a relationship that has been, until relatively recently, narrnw and formal and sometimes even antagonistic. That there is potential for greet mutual advantage in the relationship is evident. to everyone. That is all the more reason to try to move it forward on the basis of mutual respect. It makes no more sense for Arabs to demand that Americans now boycott Israel than for Americans to demand that Arabs now trade with Israel. We would not contend that, for all Arabs, it is easy to accept the waye of the open international system they are trying tn join. Arah states have made impressive progress, however, in halting discrimination against American (or other foreign) firms and individuals on strictly religious or ethnic grounds. The administration's diplomacy, by the way, has been quite effective in this regard. It will be harder for Arabs to accept that they cannot force Americans to discriminate in trade against a third country. But it denigrates their intelligence, and it underestimates their general passion .... for modernization, to say that they must stick fast in their traditional ways. Certainly Americans should not be encouraging them to do so.

Why is Oronoque Village an exceptional place to live . . . and a rare value? Many reasons.

Privacy, for one. In six different models, no one lives above or below you. And every home has a fireplace, a full basement for storage (or to finish as work or playroom at extra cost) and its own garage underneath. All in a screne setting, surrounded by peaceful paths and sparkling streams.

Superb location, too. Rolling, tree-clustered countryside in the heart of Fairfield County, central to many corporate headquarters, cultural attractions, shopping complexes, transportation connections and boating facilities.

A lively place for lively people. Indoors and out, activities abound . . . at our community centers, swimming pools, golf course* and clubhouse*.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23-Traces of the in industrial workers. They were found there industrial chemicals called PCB's widespread in the environment in the late have been found in 78 samples of Ameri-"can mothers' milk, but the significance of this is not known, scientists said today. An informal concensus of scientists and doctors at a meeting today was that the spinence does not warrant abandoning preast feeding, but that the whole probtem of PCB's in human health requires that more study than it has had to date. The meeting, at the National Institutes of Health, in Bethesda, Md., was called by a committee of the Department of "Health, Education and Welfare and by the Environmental Protection Agency to review and evaluate the protection agen-cy's sampling of PCB's in buman milk. Previous studies have shown traces of the chemicals present in samples of moth-ers' milk in Sweden, Germany, Japan, Canada and occasionally in the United States.

Nationwide Survey Under Way Uoder contract with the protection agency, scientists at Colorado State University have embarked on a nationwide sampling survey to determine the scope of this kind of contamination in the United States. The purpose of the meeting today was to discuss the first results of the sampling and to suggest paths of fu-

Tha chemicals under study are a group called polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB's) which have been in use since 1930. Only in recent years have they been found to be hazardous to bumans and animals. At present, the chemicals are used pri-marily as insulating fluids in large electria cal transformers and related apparatus. As early as the mid 1930's, PCB's were kinked to some occupational poisonings

Sprinter-Doctor Is Running Swine-Flu Program inU.S.

high school or college, and without a. coach

At a time when he could have conveniently phased himself out of world-class competition and into the over-thehill gang, Dr. Meriwether has decided to continue his run-for-fun routine.

"I still feel very strongly that regular exercise for every human is desirable," the lanky hematologist said, citing the physiological benefits of his after-hour pursuit, which includes a practice on Saturday morning. "Then there are the psychological rewards. Obviously, things don't always go well at the office. I think it's important to point to something you've accomplished for that day. I can do that with running." The opportunity to compete against Steve Williams, Harvey Glance, Donald Quarties and niner great sprinters is a third element for Dr. Meriwether, but one that "is expendable. I don't have to compete to enjny running," he said, during an interview at his office. But I welcome competition, I enjoy the camaraderie, and I think the time element is something I can manage." Dr. Meriwether has had to modify his fitness schedule to meet the urgency of America's most amhitious oational vac-America's most aminious outload vac-cination program. No longer can he squeeze in a jng around the Washing-ton. Mall at lunch hour, although a white towel and training bag were visi-hie hehind the door of his office, perhaps just in case.

Bicycle Faster Than Bus

Dr. Meriwether lives in Silver Spring, Md., with his wife, Myrtle, and their two daughters, Mitzl, 6, and Margo, 2. It is a 40-minute commute to his office by car; he has been known to make the I4-mile trip on a hicycle in only 55 minutes.

bike and still beat the hus in," he says. BA.M. on most days. During what he langhingly termed "the good old days" in the frantic early months of the swine flu program, he sometimes stayed until 4 A.M., trying to catch up with the countless inquiries: Is the vaccine safe? ("It is.") When will distribution begin? (Oct. 1.) Is all the fuss really necessary? ("Yes.")

The other day, Dr. Meriwether re-ceived a copy of a letter sent to Presi-cent Ford by a woman in San Jose, "Calif. The woman was upset after hav-ing received not one but four of the blue cards ("A Message About Swine Fiu") that were mailed to the 30 mil-lion Americans on Social Security.

This is shocking waste and typical of the federal bureaucracy, even under Republican Administration," Mrs-Geraid F. Twist wrote, perhaps wondefining if the Government was trying to tell her something with the excess cards. "The spendiog of public funds should he a public trust."

Working on a Shoestring

"If a citizen calls his Congressman and asks about swine flu," Dr. Meri-wether said, pointing out his window toward the Capitol, "I'm obligated to respond to that question. And we do. The average citizen has access to my hone number.

Because the swine flu program was-"unanticipated, unplanned, unsched-uied," and fell in the middle of the fiscal year, Dr. Meriwether has a limited staff of two full-time assistants and "a coupla of quarter-timers." "I don't know what the Department of Defense is like," he said, referring to the problems of appropriations. "But we have oo secret funds." For the longest time, many sportsminded Americans wondered about Dr. Meriwether. How could someona with no previous experience come so far so fast? And what about his strange uni-form of a white hospital T-shirt, yellow swim trunks and brightly colored suspenders.

Even his wife seemed surprised when he qualified for the United States team to the 1971 Pan-American Games and traveled to China several years ago traveled to China several years ago with a touring American squad. "I think privately my wife would like ma to continue running;" he said, still wearing his belt huckle from the Pan-Am Games on his business clothes. "She hasn't said, 'look you're getting up in years, and it's time to give up this kid's stuff."

Fast Pace Not Slowing Him

In the last five years, since he first burst onto the sports scene, Dr. Meri-wether has worked in leukemia research at the Baltimore Cancer Research Hospital and the Harvard Medical Unit at Boston City Hospital, and he has completed a one-year White House Fellowship program. The change in work habits has seen no appreciable decline in his leg speed. "I can't sense any slowing up," he

There have been some refinements. Dr. Meriwether now detaches his sus-penders for a 220-yard dash because the strap fell off his right shoulder as he ran turns. The early embarrassment of having to change clothes in his car before a one-hour workout at Potomac Valley High or Kensington High "is old hat with me now." He carries starting hlocks, spikes and other equipment in the trunk.

Just as running offers a challenge, Dr. Meriwether found a similar oppor-tunity when Dr. Theodore Cooper, tha assistant, secretary of health, ap-proached him about heading the swina flu program.

"I saw it as a challenge—obviously of significant health benefit," he said. "I had to make a decision whether to be a part of it. It was an easy decision.

Target for Critics

Less certain are persistent skeptics, who wonder how the country got in-volved in a $135 million project and who ask, 'Meriwether, did that soldier die, or is this some kind of game you ale, or is this some kind of game you. guys are up to?" "Some people think it's a Meri-wether-Cooper way of celebrating the Bicentennial," he said. By the time Dr. Meriwether is ready to run in the first track meet of the indoor season in January, most Amer-icans should have received their shots. Normally one of the meet popular for Normally one of the most popular fig-ures at meets, Dr. Meriwether may be able to gauge the public's reaction to the program during traditional pre-race introductions.

"It would he an excellent idea if I knew how many people had gotten the shot," he said. "If I was the only guy in the arena who got the shot, I wouldn't want to be standing out there when they interview are when they introduce me."

A Month of Mahlermania

By JOHN ROCKWELL

USTAV MAHLER has been a lively figure at the center of our orchestral repertory for some 15 years now, thanks largely to the recordings by Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic.

But New Yorkers bave never had such a concentrated dose of Mahler as the Philharmonic is about to prescribe, Mahier Month begins Sunday night in Carnegie Hall. By Oct. 25 it will have included not only all the symphonies (the 10th represented only by its one completed movement), but numerous songs as well.

Sunday's opening concert, at 8:30 P.M., offers' Erich Leinsdorf conducting the "Songs of a Wayfarer," with Frederica von Stade as soloist, and the Symphony No. 5. Then James Levine comes in for concerts next Friday, Oct. 2, 6, 8 and 9, and Pierre Boulez finishes things off Oct. 16, 17 and 25. All to-gether there will be 13 different solo singers and 5 choruses comprising 350

None of the concert are so far sold out; tickets are available at the Carnegie Hall box office or through Chargit, 239-7177, (516) 354-2727, (914) 423-2030 or (201) 332-6360.

Frederica von Stade, Sunday soloist in the Philharmonic's Mahler Month.

The series will also be taped and broadcast in chronological order nationally over the 200-station Philharmonic radio network. The local trans-missions will be weekly on WQXR, starting Dec. 5 at 3 P.M.

Although Mahler died.65 years ago, his music was for years dismissed as vulgar. It was the time of Neo-Classi-cism and Serialism, of an austere modernism that rejected Mahler's cosmic rhetoric as passé. Yet Mahler's stylistic diversity, his habit of undercuttiog his defenders of the Romantic faith, those who put their trust in Sibelius.

Through the decades of neglect, a few Mahler disciples kept the flame alive, above all Bruno Walter and Otto Klemperer. And with Mr. Bernstein's highly dramatic, flamboyant way of sbaping the music, a Mahler fad began in earnest.

By now, it's no longer a fad: Mahler s a staple for symphonies and singers alike, What appeals to present day mu-sic lovers is the very emotionalism that 20th-century composers have repressed for so long. Today we don't find the stylistic disjunctions in Mahler's music disturbing, on the contrary, they seem sympathetic, reaching out to embrace all aspects of human experience,

The available recordings attest to Mahler's popularity. In the United States there are three complete cycles of the symphonies on sale—as well as 12 ver-

The Feininger and Struss exhibitions are retrospectives that survey two very lengthy and remarkable careers. Mr. Feininger, who will be 70 in De-cember, began his photographic work while he was an architectural atudent at the Baubaus in Weimar in the 1920's, and he became one of the most celebrated—and also one of the most unusual—of the photographers who worked for Life magazine in its heyday. tirement in Hollywood. Miss Bonney, who is $2, has like-wise had a long and many-sided career in photography, but the present show is limited to pictures of French Interior and fashion design in the 1920's and 1930's-a neighborly tribute to the new Cooper-Hewitt Museum, due to open in October, with pictures drawn entirely from its collection. A more comprehensive survey of Miss Bon-ney's work is scheduled for a later date.

BUNUEL AND BRESSON

The Anthology Film Archives has just reopened for a new season in its compact little house at 80 Wooster Street, south of Spring Street (226-.0010). The archives are a repository of films, classical and experimental. In its collection are the world's master film makers, and on its screen you will often see the most avant-garde work by filmmen known only to advanced students of tha arts. The theater is small and informal, but its work is more than merely showing films. It preserves prints and does research. Tickets on sale weekdays, 11 A.M. to 4 P.M., but half of them are held for sale from one hour before screening time.

NIGHT HIRING ON S.I.

Staten Island after dark is quite another place from Manhattan after dark, but it must have its own charms. Why else would the group called Con-servation and the Outdoors be staging another nighttime hike so soon after its last? The organization, whose title tells the full story of its interests, is offering a walk through the Staten Island Greenbelt tonight. The Green-belt consists of some 5,000 acres of nature with glacial ponds and much of botanical and geological significance. Not that you'll are much on the night: walk; it's for hikers rather than sightseers, Covers six miles. Group meets at 6:30 this evening outside IRT South Ferry station (Broadway local). Take ferry and bus to Greenbelt. Trip should be over by midnight, and a flashlight is the only recommended equipment. There's a service fee of 50 cents; no reservation needed. Information: 682-7946; director of organization is Tom T. Yoannou, P.O. Box 284, N.Y. 10031.

'Two of Everything'

MUSICAL called "Two of Everything" will come quietly into the Marymount Manhat-tan Theater on Oct 14, stay there for ten days, and then, if all things work properly, move on to somewhere else. It will be a little like a tryout in New Haven, and the interesting thing about it is the people who are involved. There is, for ex-ample, the author, Andrew Rosenthal, who is also the composer, lyricist and director. In 1940, Mr. Rosenthal wrote "The Burning Deck" for Broadway. Then he wrote three more plays for Broadway, the sequently, Mr. Rosenthal spent most of bis time in London.

Sequency, Far. Rosenthal spent most of his time in London. For "Two of Everything," Mr. Rosenthal and Leoo-ard Patrick, the producer, have assembled a cast of 12. One of them is Erik Rhodes. He bas been in many plays and many movies, and if you remem-ber your old Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers movies you will remember Mr. Rhodes. He was Tonetti, the gigo-lo, in "The Gay Divorcee." Joan Wetmore is also in "Two of Everything," along with Elaine Swann and Jeri Archer. Miss Wetmore has been in 14 Broad-way shows, and Miss Swann io perhaps half that many, although none were very recent. Miss Archer has been on Broadway, too, and you may remember her as the topless Miss Britannia in Laurence Olivi-er's "The Entertainer." in 1958. "All the casting was done through friends," Mr. Rosenthal says. "It all evolved out of people I know."

John Cullum is an established, even celebrated, actor; his wife, Emily Frankel, is an established, even esteemed, dancar. And oo Monday at 8 P.M. and for the next three Mondays after that, they will be together at the Alvin Theater. They will appear in "Kings," three oce-act dance-dramas that explore three Greek legends, and the productioo, they say, is close to their hearts. They have talked about it, they have argued about it, and now, finally, they will do it. This is not the kind of thing of which ordinary marriages are made.

Mr. Jones knows how these people talk. He is sensitive to the subplots of their imaginations, and even just for this he must be hailed as a new voice in American drama. But a voice is not enough. The voice has to offer a statement.

The pathos of the piece has been very decently realized by the director, Alan Schneider, who has staged the whole trilogy as if it were minor Chekhov and hoped for the best. The acting throughout the three nights has been good — Fred Gwynne as the Colonel bere, gruff, grumpy and yet credible, was simply beautiful. Lee Richardson was bluffy aggressive as his Alchardson was bluffy aggressive as his son, Patricia Roe proved sympathetic as the daughter-in-law, and Henderson Forsythe seemed admirably ambigious as the son's speculating friend. All three plays of this "Texas Trilogy" have served to introduce to a new American playwright. Seen to-rather there of the seed is computed gether they do offer a sad if somewhat bland comment on small-town life in Texas. (It must be a kind of air-conditioned bell down there.) But all thes commentaries never quite add up to plays. Go and see them. You will be interested, and the writing and the acting meld together very sensitively. And at the end you will, I suspect, have a faste of Texas—not the big Texas we all know about, but the small Texas, so rarely celebrated. Understandably.

There was none of this from Miss Horne. She too has a big voice, but she meshed better with the ensemble and never forced. Hers was clean, musical, effortless singing. Her work was matched by Mr. Luchetti, one of the better tenors in circulation. He took as beautiful a B flat in the "Ingemisco" as anybody is going to hear today, and elsewhere it was a pleasure to hear his poised, accurately produced singing. The bass was that stalwart, Ruggero Raimondi, and he sang every-thing with accuracy and nobility of sound.

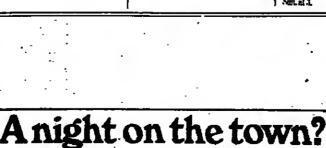

So New York had its taste of La Scala, and it was an exciting evening. It might be worth mentioning that this was a better performance than the one La Scala and Herbert von Karajian gave in 1967 when they came down from the Montreal World's Fair. Last night the orchestra sounded better, and there was much more temperament from allconcerned.

It's been 44 years since Mildred Dunnock first appeared on Broadway, and she has been in so many productions since theo that her Playbill biography reads like a catalogue of theater in our time. She's ao institutioo among first-nighters, a longtime lady of the theater who once shared a stage with Ethel Barry-more, the creator of Linda Loman and several other major characters in Amer-ican dramatic literature, a performer studied and revered by younger actors and actresses. Yet she walks down most streets with the same anonymity as the rest of us.

as the rest of us. "Twe been a character actress from the start, and the theater has been oriented to stars." she said by way of explanation, sitting primly in the fa-miliar settiog of a Broadway dressing room. She opeos Suoday in Marguerite Duras's "Days in the Trees" at the Circle in the Square. "They put on 'The Lady from the Sea' here last year, and they wouldn't have done it if they hadn't had Vanessa Redgrave." Was she sorry that kind of stardom

Was she sorry that kind of stardom had passed her by? She seemed of two minds. "No, I wouldo't bave wanted all minds. "No, I wouldo't bave wanted all those people following me arouod." A moment passed while the idea sank in. "But, I would have liked it, perhaps." She clasped ber hands firmly in her lap for final emphasis. "No," she repeated, "T'm really not unhappy about my stable. status.

"I like to play parts that are not like myself. I'm oot in the least bit exciting. I'm an ordinary person in an ordinary life, but in my imaginatioo there's no stopping me.'

A Clear, Resonant Voice

Miss Duonock is a small woman with slender features, made all the more lio-ear by a thin mouth that slices randomly across her face when she smiles. Dressed in a silk patterned dressing gown with reading soactacles hanging from a cord around ber neck, she looked graodmotherly and appeared every bit as old and fragile as ber age, which she won't admit to ("I've inter burger bert it corrat"). But all just always kept it secret"). But all suggestion of infirmity flees when she speaks, her voice a clear, resonant instrument that has never needed a body microphooe.

Io her "ordinary" life, Miss Dunnock is a native of Baltimore, a graduate of Goucher College and has been married to Keith Urmy, a retired banker, more than 40 years. Sbe and her husband live in a Norwalk, Conn., house that for years was a weekend and summer retreat from their Manhattan co-op oo Gramercy Park.

Among the higb points of her theatrical life bave been the original roles of Linda Loman io stage and screen versions of "Death of a Salesman"; La-vinia in Lillian Hellman's "Another Part of the Forest"; Big Mama in Tennessee Williams's "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof"; Vera Ridgeway Coodotti in Mr.' Wil-

"Fm not a women's libber, I'm just inter-ested in women," she said. (Even matinee women, it developed. "I know there are actresses who say they have there are actresses who say they hate to play for all those 'ladies with blue hair," but I think there's nothing better than matinees." she said. "It's women who really come and like the theater. Men are mostly dragged here.") Miss Dunnock has played older wom-

(The Urmys have a daughter, now married and living in Connecticut.) In the late 1960'a, she spent time teaching at the Yale Drama School. The period was a convulsive one at American universities, and she was exasperated to find that her stu-dents ware too preoccupied with real. dents were too preoccupied with reallife drama to appreciate what she was trying to coovey. "What was going on every day was much more theatrical," she said.

Blacklist Era Trauma

Even the stable life of a banker's wife and a large lack of interest in public affairs didn't insulate ber from the political harassment of theater people in the 1950's. "Red Channels," people in the 1950's. "Red Channels," the right-wing pamphlet that periodi-cally identified people as "Communist sympathizers," listed her in one issue because of her friendships with Arthur Miller, Lillian Hellman and Elia Kazan. Suddenly, job offers-particularly from television-stopped coming. Her hus-band promptly succeeded in obtaioing a retraction and in disabusing the net-works by making some threatening noises through backing aod business associates. But the experience left its liams's "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore," and Miss Ronberry in "The Corn Is Green," a 1940 Emlyn Williams play starring Ethel Barrymore. A recent arrangement with New Haven's Long Wharf Theater bas seen her playing Mrs. Tyrone in Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Joto Night," the mother in Mr. Williams's "The Glass Menagerie" and a featured role in another Marguerite Duras drama, "A Place Without Doors." That play had a brief ruo here io 1970, and Miss Dunnock has been pressing ber associates. But the experience left its mark.

'It gave me an emotional understanding of being accused," she said. "I felt contaminated, I felt I had leprosy, I felt I bad incriminated my busband, a conventional man." As for her life now, although she describes berself as a "chronic actress." she is no longer looking for roles. "I do she is no longer looking for roles. "I do one show at Long Wharf every year, and that keeps me quiet. It soothes me." She is resolute about oot revealing her age, But to "Days in the Trees," the character she plays admits at one point to being "over 77," and Miss Dunnock conceded she felt "close enough to her not to feel very objective about it "

Miss Le Gallienne said she was pleased to receive the award, although carlier she had said that she was carlier and had said that she was nervous, too. "Ceremonies fill me with terror," she said. "There are usually so many people at them. I'd rather be on a stage." Miss Le Gallienne, who was born in London 77 years ago, made her theatri-cal debut at the age of 14 io Maeter-linck's "Monna Vanna." In additioo to Miss Le Gallienne said she was now since the days with Miss Barrymore. She said that she and Nama, her landog and constant companion, as well as Sam Levene, Carole Shelley and Leon-ard Frey, who are the other stars of "The Royal Family," would take the play into at least ten cities. It will open at the Wilbur in Boston on Oct. 11, play there for five weeks, and then cross the country, playing in different places until sometime in the spring. Miss Le Gallienne said this delighted her.

"It's a wonderful tour," she said "It has no split weeks, no one-night stands. In 1918, we traveled by train. Miss Barrymore had a private car, of course, and the rest of us slept in up-per or lower berths, according to our position in the company.

"We played in places like Appleton, Wis, and Oshkosh, lots of the towns that were jokes in vaudeville, But there were audiences, good audiences, all over the country."

"Of course," she said, "I'm also a great admirer of Mis. Fiske. Mis. Fiske found out about audiences at the turn of the century. Everyone said, 'How brave of you to take plays out on tour,' and Mrs. Fiske said, 'Nonsense,' Mrs. Fiske knew about 'audiences." JOHN CORRY

Month of Mahlermania

sions of "Das Lied von der Erde" and the "Kindertotenlieder" and 16 separate accounts of the First and Fourth Symphonies. Mahler Month didn't just come about because somebody thought it would be a nice idea to celebrate Mahler's popularity. There were hard, practical reasons, for it.

Like most major orchestras, the Philharmonic works on a S2-week con-tract. This means 45 weeks of playing and 7 weeks of vacation. Depending on the year, there are 32 to 34 weeks of subscription concerts in Avery Fisher Hall, and the rest of the playing weeks are taken up with spe-cial events (Promenades, Rug Concerts) or tours.

"We had planned to start our 1976-77 season on Sept. 21, with Erich Leins-dorf leading the pension fund concert," said Carlos Moseley, the orchestra's president. "Mr. Boulez was going to be away for the first weeks of the season all along, because he had to be in Paris for the opening of the new culture center there. So we had Leinsdorf, and then two weeks of Levine and then Boulez.

"Then came the decision to rebuild Avery Fisher Hall, and we found we couldn't get in there until Oct. 19. As you can imagice, it meant a great ahifting of gears. We knew we'd have been out of the city a lot on tours, so

"Carnegie Hall posed difficulties-Isaac Stern and Friends and other advance committeents. They only had irregular dates, mostly on weekends. Obviously we couldo't have subscrip-tion concerts. Somebody came up with the idea of a festival, and then Frank" -Frank Milburn, the orchestra's press director—"suggested Mahler. From the moment he said it, we all felt the right-ress of it, and realized the possibility that it might be a real contributioo."

Homecoming for the Composer

Apart from the chance to offer a concentrated exposure to Mahler's muconcentrated exposure to Mahler's mu-sic, the festival has an appropriateness for the Philharmonic in particular. Mahler served as music director of the orchestra from 1909 to 1911, and con-ducted frequently in Carnegie Hall. Mr. Bernstein programmed all the Mahler symphonies once over a two-season span, but the orchestra bas oever pre-canted them in a festival.

The festival won't affect the length of the Philharmonic's subscription season. The reconstruction is still on schedule, Mr. Moseley said, and the season will simply proceed on a tight-er schedule than usual, with fewer nonsubscription events sandwiched in among the regular concerts. Ordinarily, with a composer as rooted in his bomeland as Mahler, one might wonder about the authenticity of a festival led by a oaturalized American of Austrian birth, an American and a Frenchman, with predominantly Americao forces. But, in fact, what Mabler performance tradition there is has long since taken root and flowered in English-speaking countries. Partly this is because Hiller not only stunted the growth of a Mahler style on his home soil but also drove Walter and Klemperer abroad, and partly because 5 " A sublighting to starting of the second shaped a Mahler style. "Maybe I'm rushing in where angels fear to tread," said Miss von Stade, the soloist in Sunday's opening concert. "But I don't think there is any particular style for Mahler other than the utmost straightforwardness. There's always something to he said for being totally at home in the language. But 1 thick it counts less with Mahler than with Schubert or Wolf. It has to do with how the lines lie in the voice and the way the words are distributed."

Whatever Mahler's sensibility may mean to the American spirit, there can mean to the American spirit, there can be no denying his vast popularity. One sign of that has been the response to the announcement of a pair of lectures with taped illustrations hy Jack Dieth-er, a Mahler specialist. The number of people who wanted to get into Mr. Diether's talks in the Carnegie Hall Café was so great that each will be Café was so great that each will be held both before and after the concerts on Sunday and Oct. 17, and all four events have long been sold out. The Oct. 17 talks will also offer wine and a special cake, created from a recipe passed down through the Mahler family for Mahler's favorite Apfclkuchen. It is being cooked by Gerald Fox, billed as the "former New York State male cooking champ." Mr. Fox is reportedly at this very moment out scouriog for additional cooking apples to meet the demand.

A Place for Mahlerites

The Diether talks are being sponsored by an organization called the New York Mahlerites, which Mr. Diether founded last spring, along with Nancy Karlins, whose idea it was. "She just thought there were so many Mahler lovers in New York, they ought to get to know one another," Mr. Diether said. The organization's first event was a mass visit (at specially arranged dis-count prices) to see Keo Russell's movie "Mahler." Reactions to Mr. Rusmovie "Mahler." Reactions to Mr. REs-sell's typically extravagant portrait were, says Mr. Diether, "extremely mixed." Other events are planned, and potential Mahlerites may get in touch with the society at 1 University Place, Apartment 7A, New York, N.Y. 10003. The New York Mahlerites is hardly be acting attent American Mehler for the rew fork Manieries is hardly the only extant American Mahler so-ciety. The Bruckner Society of America, which dates back to 1930, devotes about equal atteolion to Bruckner and Mahler There is also the Mahler Gr

What all this means is that Mahler has stopped being a subject for critical controversy and has reached out and touched people at every level of musi-cal sophistication. As Miss von Stade puts it: "I am the world's worst in the musicology department. I can only speak from the point of view of really loving the music. I find the way he writes for the voice and the poetry is so poignant. I guess I'm just a fan-I odore it."

At the Movies Guy Flatley

ot long ago, United Artists teased the public by placing ads in newspapers for a sneak preview of "a film that will open in De-Moviegoers anticipating a star-studded extravaganza may have been taken aback when the credits flashed oo "Rocky." a film starring and written by Sylvester Stallone.

Sylvester Stalkine himself may be taken aback if he is not proclaimed a star when the film opens, since stardom was bis goal when he sat down to write the role of Rocky, an inarticulate, tender-hearted bum of a boxer who dominates virtually every scene of the drama. Last week, the 30-year-old actor, previously seen as a restless youth in the low-budget "Lords of Flatbush," lounged confidently in his suite at the Sherry-Netberland and sbared his views on "It took shout three and a half days to write

'Rocky',' said Mr. Stallone, an impressively muscled Italian-American decked out in a vivid shirt, jeans and boots. "I'm astounded by people who take 18 years to write something. That's how long it took that guy to write 'Madame Bovary.' And was that ever oo a best-seller list? No. It was a yousy book and it made a lousy movie."

Mr. Stalkone's childhood in Hell's Kitchen reads like a page out of Zola. "I don't want to say I was mistreated, but the first thing my parents everbought for me was a leash. I was not an attractive child; I was sickly and even had rickets. My personality was abhorrent to other children, so I enjoyed my own company and did a lot of fantasizing."

Conditions did not brighten when his impoverished, hickering parents moved to Silver Springs, Md., and opened a gymnasium, nor later when they moved to a sleazy section of Philadelphia. "I was told by my teachers that my brain was dormant, and I took it to heart and channeled a tremendous amount of energy into my physical development, using the extra weights my mother brought home from the gym."

The weights high mouth in bought mome from the gym." The weight-kitting paid off when he won an athletic scholarship to the American College in Switzerland, and it was there that he first dipped into drama, playing Biff in "Death of a Salesman." "I knew I I give my mother the flowers and she won't accept them because I've left my father in a barroom toilet. I picked up the flowers in one hand and a radio in the other, and I threw the radio against the canvas wall. It collapsed, and there were the stagehands, drinking beer, putting on hot dogs and smitting glue. It was a comedy sensation."

Disastrous as it was, the slapstick "Salesman" sold him on acting. "I liked the gratification of making words come alive. It came naturally for me. I do oot believe you can have acting taught to you. The more you dissect the creative mechanism, the more self-conscious yoo become. I doo't polish my craft, I don't tune my instrument, and I don't sit up all night sipping hrandy and brooding about motivatioo. Either I can do it or I can't."

Yet it was a rocky road to "Rocky." the most calamitous pothole heing his nervous participation io the oude Off Broadway drama "Score," a role which he won hy walking across the stage and expanding his chest on command. Although he does not wish to disrohe on stage or screen again, Mr. Stallooe, who is 5 feet 10 joches tall and weighs 185. feels that physical fitness is of prime impor-tance. "An actor is what he looks like." he said. "People are always talking about tuning their instru-ments, but how can you tune an instrument that's coated in fat, a human pork chop with a face that's at the end of a tunnel? I exercise religiously every at the end of a unnel? I exercise rangeously every day. So does my wife. And so does my dog." Still, the flesh is not so sacred as the spirit, and that, according to Mr. Stallone, is wby "Rocky" does not have a fashionably downheat ending, "I wanted the human spirit to triumph for ooce," he explained. "This nihilistic idea that the only way to end a story is in the death of the human spirit has gooe too far. There are oo heroes anymore, only anti-Christs and hatchet murderers. Bring back comedies, bring back mirth and dreams. Bring back comedies, bring back mirth and dreams. If you want realism, cut a hole in the wall of your living room and charge people $3 to sit and watch what's going on in your front yard."

The long, stormy story of "Mikey and Nicky" ap-pears to be headed for a sumy ending. In August 1973, Paramount announced that "principal photography"-had been completed on the comedy-drama about two underworld huddies, one of whom has been marked for a hit by the Mafia Since the film was directed by Elaine May, who had recently tri-umphed with "The Heartbreak Kid," and since it starred Peter Falk and John Cassavetes, audiences had every reason to expect a substantial treat for the Christmas season.

Yet, a perusal of Paramount's release schedule for this December yielded no trace of "Mikey and Nicky." The film has in fact been missing in actioncourt action, to he precise. First, Miss May filed suit against Paramount, accusing them of breach of cootract. The studio retaliated by contending in court that oot only had she failed to complete her film on schedule hut that she also had neglected to hand over the fcotage which she had shot. Al-though Paramount now has the film in its possession, caving in, with eyes like a couple of raisins stuck the studio recently announced its plan to press crimioal contempt charges against Miss May and her hus-band, Dr. David L. Rubinfine, for the alleged theft of the film following a court order that it should remain where it was at the time, an order that the couple maintains was unknown to them when Dr. Rubinfine removed several cartons of film from a studio where it was being stored. studio where it was being stored.

studio where it was being stored. Within the last few days, flowever, all parties appear to have mellowed, paving the way for more cordial, less legalistic exchanges of opinion. In fact, David Picker, who became presideot of Paramount last January, says that both lawsuits are being dropped and that he and Miss May are now assembling the final version of "Mikey and Nicky" io complete harmony. According to Mr. Picker, the whole affair has been one long tragedy of errors stemming from a breakdown in communication. stemming from a breakdown in communication.

"Nobody ever wanted to put Elaine in jail." he said. "One of the first things I did when I came to Paramount was to work on getting that lawsuit resolved, and now we're going to see that the film is released in the form she bas always wanted, the final cut she bad io her contract from the beginning. I myself saw the movie for the first time about four weeks ago, and I can tell you that it is a supero drama, with comedy, a powerful story of relations between two buman beings."

Ooce John Schlesinger has run his "Marathon Man" through the paces of its New York premiere Oct. 6, he's going back to where he came from, namely England. "Twe done my last two films in Hollywood, and I'm keen to go home," said the director of such diverse fare as "Darling," 'Midnight Cowboy," "Sun-day Bloody Sunday" and "The Day of the Locust." Not that Mr. Schlesinger is disenchanted, despite his conviction that "Locust" was misinterpreted by some figures in the movie industry as "an attack on Hollywood, but I also like working in Europe. I think it is important to cross-pollinate. I'll be rejoin-ing the National Theater, where I'll direct 'Julius (Laesar,' as well as 'Cat oo a Hot Tin Roof' with Diana Rigg. And, of course, there'll be 'Yanks." "'Yanks." now being written by Colin Welland, will be Mr. Schlesinger's next film for Paramount. His ambitious plans for "Alive" are dead-because of "Survive," a Mexican movie about camibalism among the survivors of an Andean plane crash which is being released in this country by Robert Stigwood is being released in this country by Robert Stigwood and Allan Carr. "The subject has been done now, and done hadly," said Mr. Schlesinger, distinctly piqued. "I wouldn't have minded if it had been done well, but they just took a lousy Mexican exploitation film and ... well, I doo't think any of us really wants to talk about it." Mr. Schlesinger would prefer discussing "Marathoo

Man," a contemporary thriller about a New Yorker who is menaced by a sadistic Nazi, or "Yanks," which will take an affectionate look at a bygone era, "Yanks' is set in the oorth of England during World War IL just before D-Day, when there was a sudden influx of G.I.'s, young men who might be going off to fight in Normandy at any moment. The Americans wanted to get along with the British, but we are a proud and independent group of people. and we didn't want patrooage. There was a great deal of hostility." "Of ccurse," Mr. Schlesinger added, "many of the British girls were fanciers of the G.L's, and 'Yanks' is basically a love story, one which I hope will he touching, funny, vigorous and raunchy. I'm not in a mood just now to make a film about people io the doldrums." . . -

Screen: A Perilous Country

BY VINCENT CANBY

IVING in a city devastated by war can be as perpicious for the survivors as war was for the wictims. The daily, weekly, monthly, yearly contact with civiliza-tion's debris changes expectations, dulls some senses and sharpens others. The smells are particular---tot and kerosene and, eventually, newly poured concrete. In a place where nothing comes easily, nothing is freely given. Citizens may be seen in groups. They live together i as before, but each is a clandestine bermit.

Something of the same sort happens to people in a land long under an un-budgeable tyranny. Even to its artists. That's the effect of Victor Erice's 1973 Spanish film, "The Spirit of The Bee-hive," which opened yesterday at the D. W. Griffith Theater.

Secretive, deliberately paced, haunted and beautifully sorrowful, the movie is a ruined city, and I'm not sure that those of us who come to it for the first time, fresh from the airport, in effect, can adjust to it quickly enough to be able to see thrugh its various shades of twilight. It's not disorder that makes us uneasy here but the resolute way life goes on.

"The Spirit of the Beehlve" is set in a remote Castillian village in 1940, shortly after the end of the Spanish Civil War. Although the village was un-touched, the reminders of war are everywhere. When the traveling movie exhibitor arrives to give the villagers a showing of "Frankenstein," the audience at the city hall is composed en-tirely of old women and children.

urery of old women and children. The center of the film is an upper middle-class family—a father, a mother and two small daughters—that has fied to the village with what few posses-sions they could bring from another home that is never identified. They live in a beautiful, austere old farmhouse that once was a place they may have come to for vacations. They are clandestine hermits. The mother writes letters of longing to a lover who is probably dead. The father tends his bees and has a journal in which he tries to sort out the unsort-able facts of mankind's existence. He keeps life away by dealing in meta-phors, pondering at length a quotation from Maeterlinck's "Life of the Bee,"

Their daughters, Isabel, 10 years old. and Ana, 8, go to the village school and occupy free time roaming the coun-tryside, going to the occasional movie, making up laws for a universe no one would think they'd be interested in. They fill a void by playing on the rail-road tracks, around bonfires, often on the edge of self-destruction.

Isabel Telleria and Ana Torrent in Victor Erice's "The Spirit of the Beehive"

More out of boredom than malicious-ness, Isabel, after the screening of "Frankenstein," makes up a long, con-voluted story for Ana about how the monster was not killed in the film ("The movie is a lie") and that, in fact, she (Isabel) knows him quite well. He is, she says, a spirit who comes when-ever she calls him.

"The Spirit of The Beehive" is most-about Ana's search for Frankenstein'a monster, the spirit, who, at one point, she thinks she's found in a per-fectly ordinary fugitive she discovers in an abandoned farmhouse. Faith, su-perstition and emotional desolation then take their toll of Ama, played by a little girl named Ana Torrent, who may or may not be an actress, but who responds to the director and the demands of the film with remarkable feeling.

Women's Film Festival: Adrift in Brazil

By RICHARD EDER

"Branded for Life" is an attempt to make a critique of modern Brazilian society through a story of three young drifters. One is a small-time thug, the second a prostitute and the third a street urchin, a girl just past puberty. They meet, move into the same apart-ment, take up a three-way sexual re-lationship, and undertake a series of amateurish stickups, with dismal re-

Their small life of crime is intended as a denunciation of a larger crime: the organization of their country's life. But the film, shown at the International Festival of Women's Films at the Cinema Studio Theater, is turgid, wooden and clumsy,

Tessy Callado, who looks somewhat like Maria Schneider, plays the urchin with a tough and eccentric appeal that

Not since René Clement's "Forbidden Games" has any movie entered so deeply into the perilous country of children's nightmares and fantasies, which, I suppose, have metaphorical meaning to Mr. Erice, though the film is best taken without too much inter-metation. pretation.

Mr. Erice's style is eliptical. We al-ways want to know more than he's willing to tell us, which is better than the other way around. The photogra-phy is carefully underlit, so that even phy is carefully underlit, so that even sunny days have a darkening quality about them. Everything is a bit chilly at first, but as the film goes on, we realize it's because it has so much. It's as if Mr. Erice thought it would be rude to spell it out, and that, indeed, it would not do justice to the experience that haunts him experience that haunts him.

Responding to the Call of the Firehouse

By RICHARD F. SHEPARD

The firehouse at 104 Duane Street looks like most others in New York City, but the first thing that strikes the eye is an old open car, painted bright red, bearing a sign that identifies it as a 1920 Ford, a deputy chief's car. Budget cuts or no, department equipment is newer than that, so you will realize that you have arrived at the New York Fire Department Museum, three floors crowded with old engines, pumpers, helmets, medals, countless photographs, ancient bells, old torch lights and speaking trumpets. In short, a paradise for a fire huff or any normal child. And it is conveniently situated, two blocks north of Chambers Street and a few doors west of Broadway. The museum might perhaps horrify.

an uptown museum type. It is clean hut cluttered. Everything is just laid out, scattered over the floor with no out, scattered over the floor with no sense of unity. Explanations are like as not on labels that hang like price tags from the equipment, Smaller ob-jects are in display cabinets that are in themselves relice of old exhibition concepts. The displays are permanent and no curator schedules special shows for special occasions.

Three Firemen on Duty

But this is the very reason that the museum is a special place to visit-everything seems to be your own dis-covery, as though it were unearthed while runnaging through an attic. It is somewhat better than that because there are always three real firemen on duty to answer your questions and to keep the collection glowing in its pri-mary colors, red and brassy gold.

The museum, like most other museums, suffers from a lack of money. It has no curator nor any permanent staff. Its keepers are men who, because of disability, have been assigned to light duty. The three men on duty the other day were perfect hosts, genial and informative. Two visitors approached the desk and looked cantiously in-the museum shares its building with two working companies, Engine 7 and Ladder 1, and passers-by might confuse the present and the past functions. "Come right in, we have a little run-about on sale," said one of the firemen, pointing to the 1920 Ford. Most visitors receive an informal hut graclous welcome.

Cornelius C. Wallace, who is the senior museum man with eight months duty behind him, took two guests on a tour. He had never visited the museum during his 19 years in the department, before he was assigned to it, but he has become an enthusiast. He enjoys giving talks and running films for schoolchildren-in moderate-sized consignments—and said that group visits have already been scheduled for as far ahead as next March. Individuals, of course, need no appointments and can walk in, free of charge, from 9 to 4 P.M. on weekdays, and 3 to 1 P.M. on Saturdays. The phone number is 744-2100, Ext. 230.

"We get lots of foreign visitors here," Mr. Wallace said, "The other day we had a fire buff from Germany. He took pictures here all day and went out only to get more film." He stopped by an 1810 Goose Neck Hand Pump, about the size of a large ice-cream wagon.

"The Greeks had something similar to this more than 1,000 years ago," Mr. Wallace said, later checking it out against a drawing that showed Greeks with a hand pumper in 289 B.C. "Everyone had to come with water in one of these leather huckets and put it into this box for the pumper to shoot out." The leather buckets, a sign said, were the earliest city fire equipment, having been used in New Amsterdam, where they were made by shoemakers and required to be on hand in homes and shops.

Little Change in Fire Heimets

Fire heimets haven't much changed, Mr. Wallace said, as he went past a cavalcade of departmental beadgear. They are still made of hard leather as they were 150 years ago.

In a cabinet, a number of miniature models of fire bouses showed, among other things, the Dalmation that used to be a staple of every fire company m town.

"Do you know why they originally used Dalmatians?" asked Mr. Wallace. "The dogs worked. They had a calming effect on the borses and they even guided them into the right path. Later, they were just pets. There are still Dalmatians in some firchouses, but who wants to take care of them?"

Among the items to be seen are the first fire bell of the city of Brooklyn (1796), a sign in Yiddish prohibiting smoking and signed by Thomas J. Bren-nan, a bagel-like slice of an old wooden water main ("They used to put plugs water main ("They used to put plugs in to stop the flow of water, that's why hydrants are called fire plugs," Mr. Wallace explained), old masks to protect men in action, an old gas lamp, and a "clacker"—a ratchet noisemaker that firewatchers in the early 1800's used as alarms when time here the start of used as alarms when fires broke out. There are more than 2,000 three-by-five index cards in two boxes, with each item in the collection listed oo a ca Edward Kiel, another one of the fa men on duty, added: "Even the some of these pumps are 100 ye old they are as powerful as those today. A 1,000-gallon-a-minute pump gives you ideal output."

The Queen of Her Day'

He was reierring to an 1892 Side Rotary Steam Fire Engine that be a sign above it proclaiming that be machine was "The Queen of Her Day Jerry Wood, the third firemanies seum man, said that this engine is been loaded on a flat car in New You in 1904 and rushed to the high Balling in 1904 and rushed to the big Balting fire where it worked for 39 hours. The museum was the inspiration its first curator, Lieutenant Wall Beatty, who donated much equipme and rehuilt old machines. The cur tion, which also had grown with tions from private sources had be scattered about the city, mostly in Fire College in Long Island City, the it was moved into Duane Street 1957.

"The equipment stands up said Fireman Kiel, "But there's a more brass to polish here than is in the modern firehouse."

By JOHN S. WILSON

Jimmy Ryan's, the oldest jazz chub in New York, is starting its 37th year this month, still offering the same kind of jazz that was being played when it opened at 53 West 52d Street in 1940. The club is now at 154 West 54th Street, where it moved in 1962 to make way for the Columbia Broad-casting System huilding at the Aveoue of the Americas and 52d Street, but the only significant change that has occurred is that an apostrophe bas been inserted in the name, which was been inserted in the hame, which was originally "Jimmy Ryans." Matty Walsh, who was. Jimmy Ryan's partner, when the club opened; still owns it (Mr, Ryan died in 1963). This weekend the band will still be playing "Muskrat Ramble," "Lazy River," "Royal Garden Blues" and similar traditional jazt tonge Func Cil similar traditional jazz tunes. Even Gil-bert Pincus, for 35 years the doorman for Ryans and several other clubs on 52d Street, when he was known as "the mayor of 52d Street," has moved to the new Ryan's, complete with his Roxy usher's overcoat and, at 68, is now "the mayor of 54th Street."

A Sunday Morning · By ROBERT PALMER

THE NEW YORK TIMES, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1976

Each of the ragas or basic melodic forms of Indian classical music is associated with a particular time of day, and according to tradition it is to be performed only at that time: But of all the Indian musicians, who have performed widely in the metropolitan area, only one, the vocalist Pandit Pran Nath, has gone against the Western tradition of evening concerts by per-forming frequently in the morning and afternoon. The morning is Pandit Pran Nath's favorite time, and be is presenting another in his new series of morn-Ang raga concerts Sunday at 10 A.M. at Heiner Friedrich Inc., 141 Wooster Street, on the second floor. Pandit Pran Nath, a strikingly hand-soma man in his mid-50's with a long white hand and mid-solve with a long white beard and animated flashing eyes, takes the devotional and medita eyes, takes the devotional and media-tive aspects of Indian music very seriously. He recently talked about his preference for performing in the morning at the loft of one of his dis-ciples, the composer La Monte Young. "Morning is a worshiping time," he wid "ind almost in my own or the said, "and always, in my own expe-Hence, this is the time a man goes to the church to the temple, when the bells are ringing. Every morning the world is created anew."

Mr. Young added that the mood of the listeners at a morning concert differs from that of an after-dinner crowd. "At night, people are out for relaxation and entertainment," he said. "But anybody who will get up on Sunday morn-ing to go to a concert is going for the music and not for the social scene. People are in a cleaner, purer state, and they can concentrate better." and they can concentrate better. Pandit Pran Nath nodded. "Yes," he agreed "the morning audiences are quiet. I never heard any noise or talk then, and this is important. The feeling of morning ragas is very soft and devotione!" devotional.

Teaches on Both Coasts

Pandit Pran Nath teaches at his Kirana Center for Indian Classical Music in New York and is associate pro-fessor of music at Mills College in Oakland, Calif. In recent years he has performed widely in Europe as well as in the United States, and has been awarded fellowships from the state's Creative Artists Public Service program and the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. In a way, these awards and activities are ironic, be-cause Pandit Pran Nath originally intended to live a reclusive life of devotion and prayer, like his master, Ustad Abdul Waheed Khan. In fact, he actually spent five years leading the hermetic existence of a nage or naked nemetic existence of a nage of nation singing devotee, remaining in a remote cave temple, his body covered with ashes, serving his guru and singing only in solitude. The Kirana style, of which Pandit Pran Nath is a leading exponent, stresses the "alap" or slow, out-of-fempo section of a rage as the most tempo section of a raga as the most important-part. He says that "raga is created between the tones," for while two different ragas may have the same melodic structure, their moods will vary according to the use of microtonal shadings and ornaments and the characteristic phrase patterns the artist introduces during an alap. At Pandit Pran Nath's concerts, these alaps last 30 minutes or longer and create a hypnotic, trancelike.-mood.

Simply a Bar at First

Mr. Walsh and Mr. Ryan had no intention of getting into jazz when they opened their club 36 years ago. What : they had in mind was simply a bar, Mr. Ryan had been a lifeguard and chorus boy (he referred to himself as "the last of the chorus boys"), while Mr. Walsh whose horther married Mr. Mr. Walsh, whose brother married Mr. Ryan's sister, had worked for his hrother as a waiter and bartender in Washington Heights. After they had scoured Brooklyn and Queens for a lo-cation, a friend of Mr. Ryan's, another lifeguard, named George McGough, of-fered to sell them a place at 53 West 52d Street. He had been running it. as the Troc, featuring a 14-piece band led by Bobby Hackett, the cornetist. Although Mr. Walsb and Mr. Ryan were equal partners, they named the club for Mr. Ryan because, Mr. Walsh sions there that attracted, at one time or another, almost every notable jazz musician of the period. They continued through the 1940's until 1949 when, with strippers replacing jazz musicians on 52d Street, the jam sessions were moved downing to the Central Plaza moved downtown to the Central Plaza on Second Avenue under the aegis of says, "it had a nice ring to it."

At the club's opening (with martinis at 25 cents as a lure on opening night), music was provided by a strolling trio ----violin, accordion and guitar. Two or three times a night; Mr. Ryan, who fancied himself as a singer of senti-meotal ballads and show tunes, got up and indulged his fancy. Milt Gabler, who ran a branch of the commodore Music shop across the street from

Commodore Records, suggested that they might do better if they put in a jazz group. There were eight other clubs on the block offering jazz at the time have thought of that ourselves if we'd had half a brain."

Shortly after the nightly jazz policy began at Ryans, Mr. Gabler inaugurated a series of Sunday afternoon iam sec-

Jack Crystal, who had assisted Mr. Gabler at Ryans. Even before the strippers moved in, the musical tone of 52d Street had been changing from Divieland and swing to the new jazz called be-hop. But Ryans beld adamantly to a policy of music for so-called "moldy figs" and has con-tinued that policy to this day. In addition to keeping the same music, the club also kept the same musicians for long periods. Engagements of six or nine months were commonof SIX or time monins were common-place in the 40's for Art Hodes, the pianist; Red Allen and Max Kaminsky, the trampeters; J. In 1952, Wilbur De Paris, the trombonist, brought in a hand featuring his brother, Sidney, the trumpeter, which remained at Ryan's for 10 years until the club was closed in 1962. Tony Parenti led the band at the new Ryan's for six years, and Roy Ekkridge has been there for seven. Bohhy Pratt, Mr. Ekkridge's trombonist, goes back to the Parenti regime, while other members of the band-Joe Mu-ranyi, clarinetist, Eddie Locke, drums -have been there, off and on, longer than Mr. Eldridge.

They Know What to Expect

"People know what to expect when they come in," says Mr. Walsh in ex-plaining these long engagements... "They look forward to hearing Roy and the others. People like to be able to talk to the musicians, to sit down and have a drink with them."

Mr. Walsh attributes Ryan's longevity to-"with all due modesty," he says

-giving valoe. We have no cover, no minimum and good entertainment," he points out. The club's location is, for its pur-poses, ideal. It is little more than a block from three major hotels, the Americana the New York Hilton and the New York Sberaton.

Guys on conventions arrive at the hotels on Simday and get set up," Mr. Walsh explains, "and they function Monday through Wednesday. That's good for us. We get them at night from. Sunday to Wednesday, or Thursday, and then on Friday and Saturday we get New Yorkers and the younger crowd."

Unlike other jazz rooms, Ryan's . opens as a bar at 9 o'clock in the morning and, during the day, it is a neighborhood bar, without music, in an area where there are relatively few such drop-in saloons 'This has been the best summer ance we've been bere," Mr. Walsh said, "what with the Bicentennial, the tail ships, the Democratic convention and the Veterans of Foreign Wars con-vention. The Veterans of Foreign Wars would be around here in their hats at 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning. And then at night, they'd be back again with their wives."

Profound Pitch Relationships

Mr. Young, who plays the tamboura drone instrument for Pandit Pran Nath at most of his performances, maintains that the effects of the singer's music are due to his ability to differentiate fine levels of tuning, and not just to a mood or atmosphere. "I have never heard better intonation from any living heard better intonation from any living musician," he says. "His music is really, all about profound pitch relationships and how to execute them perfectly in

Pandit Pran Nath adds that "perfect concentration is necessary." He says: "I keep my eyes closed and work between the notes. This is holy work, and morn-ing is the hest time for it. This is the time I can feel that the audience is in me, and I am in them. And this feeling is very nice."

For each concert there is a suggested contribution of $3. The others in the series, same time, same place, will be Oct. 3 and 10.

CABARET GUIDE

By BARBARA CROSSETTE Folk dancing, true to its small town, informal character, is oot a highly publicized part of weekend city life. But ooce found and enjoyed, folk dancing seems to breed a race of dogged devotees with a common language and an internationalism they like to say rivals the United Nations. And it costs very the United Nations. And it costs very little to participate. Walk along West 14th Street any-where between Fifth and Seventh Ave-nues on a Saturday evening or Sunday afternoon now that the fall folk dance season is about to get under way and depending which way the wind is blow-ing, the reedy sound of a peasant tune —maybe Greek, Polish or Middle East-erh—will sooner or later drift by. But unless the passerby is looking for it, he or she is likely to miss the small sign taped to the door of 69 West 14th Street marking the entrance to the Folk Dance Center. A climb up several flights of indifferently tended stairs. brings a would-be dancer to a couple brings a would-be dancer to a couple of large, airy dance rehearsal studiosand possibly straight into a Balkan

People folk dance for a lot of reasons: to find a lost ethnic heritage, for exer-cise, to meet people, to develop concentration, for fun. "Social dancing is real-ly folk dancing, and folk dancing is really social," Jack Kallish, the exuberant raconteur who runs the Folk Dance Ceoter (a commercial operation) said during a break in Sunday afternoon sessions recently.

"Most of the people who come here are middle-class professional types," he added. "Ordinary workers don't folk dance. They go to discos. But isn't that folk dancing, too-real folk?"

Sociology of the Sport Mr. Kallish loves to wander over the sociology of the sport, and its many paradoxes. He developed an interest in folk dancing while in the Navy and the merchant marine during World War IL "I went everywhere, and everywhere I-wanted to see people dance, local dances. It wasn't easy. I went to Morocco. hoping to: find some North Africao dances, and they were all doing the latest American thing." "Greeks even laugh at my traditional

Some Balkan dances combine Slavic and Arabic qualities. There are Slovak-Hungarian dances. And the Polish mazurka turns up in the Swedish Varsovienne-the name comes from War-saw-and in Italian and Israeli dances. The mazurka was taken to Mexico in the Napoleonic age. NE OF THE MORE IMPORTANT criteria in evaluating a restaurant is its ability to do what it claims to do. Decor, prices, the food on the menu, the way the menu is written is tone of the publicity all serve to indicate the a restaurateur aspires to and imply a promise public. An eatery frankly gotten up as a diner its one set of expectations, while an elaborately interior with a French menu and prices to promises something quite different. the come on at Regine's, the recently discotileque supper clab in the Delmonico on Park Attique, we are led to expect a great that first of all, it is billed as French, and is that creation of the crimson-hair Regine Zyl-re, whose clubs in Paris. Monte Carlo and the in certain circles, at least, already legen-it is a private club with membership dues of a person a year, and nonmembers pay a stiff person cover charge. A sign tacked up on the one warns that entrance is permitted only to wearing dark suits and use and women in ing elegance." What's more, the door is locked.

wearing dark suits and ties and women in ing elegance." What's more, the door is locked, 1 knock brings the discreet sliding back of a igular peephole so the manager can see if the 1-be entrants are properly garbed." • décor is expensive in a cheap way, with dark aglow with the reflections of rose-gold mosaic rs and glassy beading, and the tub chairs are rrow you feel that an extra bite of pastry will it impossible to extricate yourself from so a fit. Add to this the noise and darkness, and night think "nightchb" and eat elsewhere, a move, as we later found out. move, as we later found out.

Regine promises haute cuisine, with a menu f recipes devised by Michel Guerard, the cur-"in" French chef who specializes in cuisines minceur and nouvelle, although at Regine's his ons are billed as "Le Style Gourmand." arly, Regine wants to be considered a fine restaurant, and here's where the trouble sets in. Two of the appetizers we tried were so good we were afraid we would want to go back, and at the prices listed on the menu that desire could rarely be ful-filled. Eggshells filled with creamy scramhled eggs wearing pearl-gray crowns of caviar ($20 for a two-egg portion) was the more extraordinary, while the pull-pastry square enclosing perfectly cooked green asparagus tips in parsley butter ($12) was a close runner up. Other appetizers disappointed. There were several prettily gotted-up salads, one with foie gras several prettily gottest-up salads, one with foie gras, another with raw vegetables and a third with lobster that had far more appeal to the eye than the palate. All ware meagerly portioned and could have been surpassed by any one of several health-food restau-rants in town. rants in town." . . .

Two hot appetizers were frankly awful--!'escalope de saumon à l'oseille, which turned out to be stiff, dry alices of fresh salmon sautéed in what tasted like overheated oil, and the sauteed in what tasted like overheated oil, and the sauteed artichoke-heart. Slices with four thy nuggets of lobster. The sorrel sauce on the first dish end the basil on the second were banal and indistinguishable, one from the other.

Both appetizers and main courses were beautifully presented on oversize dinnerplates of ivy-and-honey-suckle-rim French porcelain, covered with huge silver duomos, supposedly to keep the food warm, but in-explicably, it was barely tepid. The best main course, a roast rack of lamb, was served on an ice-cold plate, its fat congealing even as it was presented and uncovered

Two nondescript duck dishes, que garnished only with a few apple slices, the other with cold though well-made noodles, and a tough veal chop said to be encased in lettuce but actually served with a knot of santeed escarole on the side, were not worth the $16 to $19 price tags they carried.

Pot au Feu Michel Guerard, translated on the menu as "the famous pot of Michel Guerard," in-cluded fatty and grisly chunks of beef, and if you want to know how much more expensive it is to say things in French, order le gigot de poulette for $18 and see how you feel when you get one perfect boiled chicken drumstick, even if boned and filled with sweetbreads and affoat in a verdant and fra-grant watercress sauce with well-cooked vegetable slivers

All desserts were sad here, from the artificialtasting lime sherbet to the gross puff pastry sand-wich of strawberries and whipped cream.

The help bere is very efficient, pleasant and well informed, the wine list moderately priced, especially in relation to the food. For example, a 1973 Trim-bach Gewürztraminer was $11, and a 1971. Faiveley Mercurey Clos des Myglands was $17.

Dinner for two here with aperitifs but no wine came to $111-including surcharge, tax and tips-and we had been careful not to order the most expensive of the offerings. On a second visit, dinner for four with wine came to $289. If the tab had been $35, we might have been more tolerant but at these prices, Regine's doesn't begin to deliver on her promise.

A la Carte: Since reopening after vacation, Frank, Valenza, proprietor of the Palace, has raised the price of his table d'hôte dinner from $50 to $60 a person, undoubtedly in an attempt to keep out the riffraff. Even so, compared with Regine's, it's a steal. . . At the suggestion of several readers, I visited the new Indian Oven, on Columbus Avenue near 73d Street. What I found were food-stained near 73d Street. What I found were food-stained tablecloths, dirty ashtrays and a filthy carpet crawl-ing with cockroaches. The food was mediocre, and a tanduri baked pompano was served half-taw, in con-sideration of which the manager deducted half the price of the fish from our bill. . . . The spaghetti primavera at Le Cirque, 58 East 65th Street, is a far happier memory. Served as an appetizer or a main course, the medium-fine spaghetti is tossed with highly compared of the flowerst of homeoolic eliverst bright green al dente flowerets of broccoli, slivers of zucchini and snow peas, slices of mushrooms, sautéed cherry tomatoes and toasted pignoli nuts all in a silken cream, butter and cheese sauce, fragrant with gentle hints of garlic, parsley and fresh basil-an extraordinary dish, and a classic.

immense spatial vistas-are the only really familiar photographs on view. The great virtue of the present exhibition, which consists of more than 100 items, is the way it places these famil-iar works in the context of a career that is a good deal more variegated than one had suspected.

We do not associate the Feininger style, for example, with pictures of people, yet there are some remarkable por-traits and self-portraits from the 20's maits and sen-portraits from the 20's and 30's in this show. It is, however, as a photographer of urban scenes and of both mechanical and natural structures that Mr. Feininger has produced his most memorable work, and the show abounds in superlative pictures in, these categories.

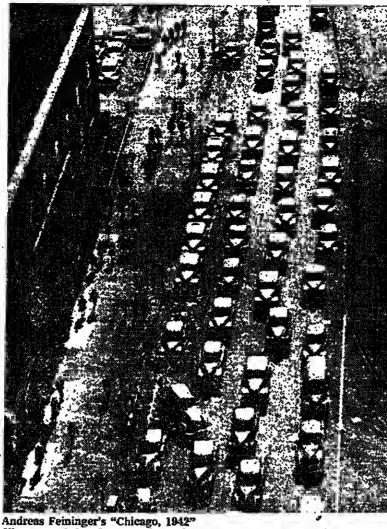

Whether he is photographing the sky-scrapers of Manhattan, the street traf-fic of Cbicago or the forms of a sea-shell or a leaf, Mr. Feininger brings an extraordinary eye to the basic struc-ture of his subject. His sense of detachment-of emotional distance-is formidable, but so is his sense of beauty.

This sense of beauty is more various than one had supposed. If it is some-times very cool, sacrificing everything to an almost superhuman purity of form, it is also often very romantic romantic, ooe is tempted to say, in the 19th-century German manner. Seeing his great picture of "Brooklyn Bridge in the Fog" (1948), one thinks of certain landscapes by Casper David Friedrich

Indeed, he often photographs cities as if be were a poet, and the objects of nature as if he were an engineerthis is at once the paradox and the glory of his achievement, and it is the special pleasure of this exhibition to allow us to see these various sides of his sensibility in proper balance. Emphasis on Precious Effects

With the photographs of Karl Struss, we are recalled to an earlier period in photographic history—to the painterly style of the Photo-Secession movement at the turn of the century, with its emphasis on precious effects and ex-quisite images, and its deliherate use of the darkroom as a rivsl to the painter's and the etcher's studio.

Mr. Struss emerges from this ex-hibition as an immensely accomplished exponent of this style. Certain of his landscapes remind one, indeed, of Degas's monotypes, and there are pictures that recall us to Whistler's etchings and to his "Nocturne" paiota great deal-delicacy in the initial act of vision, and delicacy in the initial act more formidable technical tasks that awaited the photographer in the dark-room—and Mr. Struss was fully equal to the challenge. There is nothing more beautiful from its period than his 1912 bromide print of "Lower Broadway" oo Japanese tissue paper-a masterpiece of graphic art,

"His sense of detachment-of emotional distance-is formidable"

Between the preciosities of these early photographs and his later work as a Hollywood cinematographer, Mr. Struss turned his attention to a more documentary approach. He photo-graphed Hollywood personalities even before he became part of the industry, and there are some wonderful period portraits in this show of subjects such as Cecil B. DeMille and Gioria Swanson. There are also some excellent portraits of Mr. Struss himself, by Clareoce White from the Photo-Succession days and by Edward Weston from the Hollywood period of the 20's. Both the Feinsinger show, organized by Bhupendia Karia, and the Strinss show, organized by Susan and John Harvith, add significantly to our knowledge of photographic history. For such an account of Theraes For such an account of Therese Bonney's accomplishments, we will have to wait for the later exhibition to come. The present show, with its views of interior design and women's fash-ions, will be of interest primarily to aficianados of Art Deco, which these pictures document and celebrate in unremitting detail. Even to those-like the present writer-who find Art Deco a subject of comedy, the show is not without its interest, however.

Karl Struss's "Gloria Swanson With Ball-III. 1919" "A deliberate use of the darkroom as a rival to the painter's studio"

All three exhibitions remain at the International Center of Photography through Nov. 7. The Center is open every day but Monday from 11 to 5; and admission is by voluntary contribution.

Finns Offer Bicentennial Musical Gift

By ALLEN HUGHES

Twenty years ago, Jean Sibelius was a towering figure whose works were performed with great frequency all over the world. In recent years his seputation has declined somewhat, but now the Finnish Government seems_ determined to revive the stature of its nation's greatest composer.

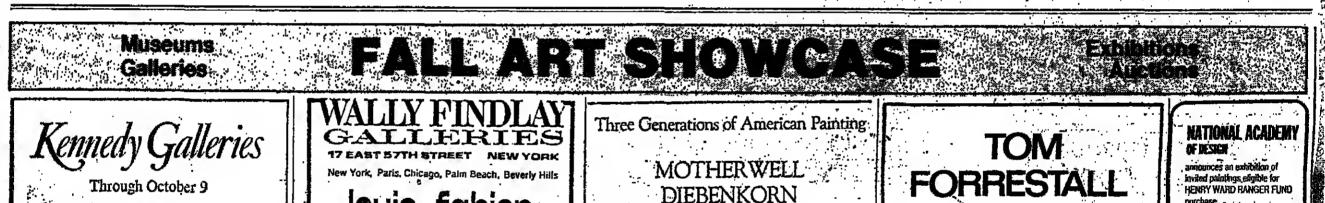

As Finland's contribution to the Bi-centennial, Jussi Jalas, Sibelius's son-in-law and the country's leading conduclaw and the country's leading conduc-tor, has come here to conduct a special Sibelius concert Sunday afternoon at Carnegie Hall, Joining him will be the Yale Philharmonia, and the soloist will be:Taru Valijakka, the Finnish soprano. The program will consist of "The Oceanides," "The Swan of Tuonela," "Luonnotar" (for voice and orchestra), Incidental Music to "The Tempest" and the Symphony No. 5. A seneration ago, a Sibelius concert - the Symphony No. 5. A generation ago, a Sibelius concert-at Carnegie Hall would not have been so unusual as it is today. His works were played with considerable fra-quency in symphony concerts, and the tone poem "Finlandia"—with the cho-ral theng known here as "Dear Land of Home"—was one of the most popu-lar classical works of the 1940's. At that time, Sibelius was romanti-cized as the rugged individualist who tramped the forests of the Finnish countryside and composed music that celebrated the natural world he loved so much so much

By the time Sibelins died in 1957 at the age of 91, performance of his works had begun to diminish in this country, and during the 1960's the symphonies did not turn up very often in orchestra programs. Recently, how-ever, there have been indications of a renewed interest by conductors. Why Yale and its Philharmonia?

Well, Sibelius's only visit to the United States was made in 1914 at the invitation of Carl Stoeckel, a wealthy 'arts patron whose estate at Norfolk, Conn., was ultimately given to Yale and became the site of its annual sum-mer music festival. Stoeckel had com-missioned Sibelius to commone a Work missioned Sibelius to compose a work to be performed during the visit and that work was "The Oceanides."

Art: A Fine Omen for New Season

By JOHN RUSSELL

T IS A GOOD SEASON in the galleries that begins with a show that would be worthy of one room in a major museum. Shows of this sort have a point to make, don't go on too long and touch in a worthwhile way on the nerve of the times.

One such is a two-part venture, to be seen through Oct. 30 at the Gruene-baum Gallery, 25 East 77th Street, and at Gimpel & Weitzenhoffer, 1040 Madison Avenue at 79th Street. It's called "Three Generations of American Painting," and the painters concerned are Robert Motherwell, Richard Diebenkorn, and Stephen Edlich. It could have been just a promotional job on behalf of Mr. Edlich, who was born in 1944 and is therefore very much junior to the others. But his work turns out to bold its own even where the show has been designed in terms of a direct confrontation.

Between Motherwell (born in 1915) and Diebenkorn (born in 1922) the gap in age is not large. But in bistorical opportunity it is (and was) enormous. Motherwell was young enough and hright enough to soak up what Euro-pean art had to give him hy the time he was 30. Ha looked, he read, he talked and he listened, and be was around New York when several major European artists were here as exiles during World War IL When important art began to come out of New York in the late 1940's he was right in there." alike as historian, as witness and as participant. In all these matters, he still both solitary and rumioative. To come of age in the year 1943 was no fun for anyone, in any country. Diehen-korn bas pever aimed to "make it" in New York, still less to settle here; io the "Ocean Park" paintings with which he has had a great international suc-cess be never pretends to be other than what he is-someone who works over and over until the finished painting is like a diary in which every stop and start is recorded. Motherwell hy contrast has a many-sided seduction; and now that he has just turned 60, his output has the geoerosity, the physical amplitude and fulfillmeet, which very good French painters used to achieve at that same age.

So the Grueoebaum/Weizenhoffer double-header starts with two very fine senior painters, one of whom has for several years stuck quietly to one single set of problems, while the other turns this way and that as the fancy takes him. Mothewell in a collage like "The Photographer" floats free io the history of 20th-century art. Diebenkorn in the "Ocean Park" paintiogs pegs away at what might end up as pedes-trian hut in point of fact sends us away

T'S A GREAT leap from the re-gal subjects of Velásquez, an artist whom Juan Downey has 'lovingly" rejected to the naked (though painted) Guahido Indians oo the banks of Venezuela's Orinoco. But, with the aid of a PortaPak video camera. Mr. Downey has made the jump. For the last three years the Chilean-born artist has here video-taoing the Guahibos and other isolated Indian tribes of Central and South America, aiming to expand their sense America, annug to expand their sense of "the greatness of their past—and present." The result is "Video Trans America," a complex installation using video and film, on view at the Whitney Museum starting next Thursday. "Every tribe is bound together hy strong myths, concepts of oature, ideas of time," Mr. Downey says. "The idea is to extend these bonds to other tribes, evoke a whole realization of a shared heritage." And so he vidcotapes the indians as they live in their landscape, hunting, farming, cooking, dancing, hacking away at the relentless jungle; then shows the tapes of one tribe to another.

"It goes in stages," Mr. Downey ays. "At first when you arrive, they don't know who you are—you may be hunting diamonds or running guns. You set up your equipment and show them first the ancient past—the Indian ruins at Uxmal, Palenque. It evokes something in their unconscious-they want to see them over and over again. Then you show them other Indians, say the dancing of a tribe from Bolivia. They get to try the equipment and then they ask to be taped themselves. "And what an audience! They'll sit up all night watching the results. It changes their patterns. They start looking at themselves, re-examining relationships—there's fighting and loving and much commotion. They're spurred to new activities—they want to see their images. They begin to see the Trans America work as a hig document, an encyclopedia, of Indian lives." The Indians are somewhat amhivalent about civilization, Mr. Downey bas discovered. "They worry about sky-scrapers-why do people live piled up like that? What if there's an earth-like that? What if there's an earth-quake? They'd rather see trees, animals, hills, plants, people--what they can name and identify with." Mr. Downey, now 36, arrived at his present mission by a roundabout route. After study in Santiago, Barcelona and Paris, be came here in 1965 as a painter, and then began to design audio environments. By 1968 he was dabbling in video, one of the first artists to work in the medium. (Thieves stole his first video camera but, finding stole bis first video camera but, finding it unpawnable, returned it a week

His preoccupation with the Indians "just grew," he says, noting: "Id always been interested—as a child I way raised by an Indian woman who told me better stories than Snow White." In 1973 he drove deep into the Mexican desert, found a primitive the-Mexican desert, found a primitive tribe, and hegan taping. One of his pieces at the Whitney show is a videotape hased on "The Maids of Honor," the famous painting hy Velásquez, in which dancers perform gestures appropriate to the artist's painted nobles. To Mr. Downey, it's a rejection of "white cultural imperial-ism, done with lots of love and care-a turning away from colonialism to an a turning away from colooialism to an affirmation of Indian culture." "At first I thought I'd keep a distance, just act as a catalyst,"-be reports. "I came as a teacher, an elitist. Bat in getting the Indians to leave their cultural imprint on the 20th ceotry, I'm winning, hecause I'm changing, too."

Don Mason is not about to write a book, "Eleven Years of Tracking Stolen Art for the F.B.L." He has other fish to fry. But last week at a party given by two focal art dealers, Lynn G. Epsteen and Rooald Feldman, to mark Mr. Mason's retirement as senior art crime- investigator for the Federal agency, it was evident that ha could produce some sneppy chapters. Only recently, for example, there was the case of the EI Greco drawing. was the case of the El Greco drawing, missing 40 years from a house in Madrid, and its return to a pair of elderly Spanish sisters; the Kandinsky painting taken from the office of the movie maker Otto Preminger last De-cember and returned to him in August; and the Fantin-Latour painting stolen from Kennedy Airport. ("You seem O.K. but you could be an F.B.L agent," said one of the thieves attempting to peddle the loot to Mr. Mason, who peddle the loot to Mr. Mason, who posed as an art appraiser.) One of the Federal agent's easiest arrests occurred in a hotel room where, again in the guise of an art appraiser, he was examining a stolen work. In the street below, fellow agents waited for a prearranged signal, the opening of the window draparies. Peering at

Over the years Mr. Mason, an ardent art gazer and auctiongoer himself, has stressed the need for a worldwide sys-tem of reporting stolen works of art. Now he will serve as special consultant to the Central Archive for Stolen Art, recently established here by the Interrecently established here by the Inter-national Foundation for Art Research, a scholarly body that deals with questions of authentication and attribution of art works.

Mr. Mason will also set up as a consultant on art security, and work with Miss Epsteen and Mr. Feldman on world Miss epsteen and Mr. retainan on a project to collate and publish on a continuing basis records of stolen art from police agencies throughout the world. pianist who could play Mozart A pianist who could play Mozart and Schumann with equal conviction and stylistic authority would be some-thing of a freak, a Jekyll and Hyde personality to be approached with caution. And yet there is this split within every artist, a split that Niet-szche recognized when he named the two dialectically opposed, personelities Apollo and Dionysius. On the evidence of his ninco recital at Alice Tully Hall of his piano recital at Alice Tully Hall on Wednesday night, Edward Auer lives most comfortably in the camp of Mozart and Apollo.

Mr. Auer began with a patrician ac-count of Mozar's Sonata No. 4 in E-flat (K. 282), applying a crisp and detached touch that kept things clear without ever lapsing into a pseudo-harpsichord manner. He gave the sona-ta its maximum importance and logic by observing all possible repeats, not merely the exposition repeats, as is common recital practice. It was gra-mous reserved and elegant playing. cious, reserved and elegant playing.

Music: Auer Contrasts Mozart and Schumann

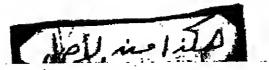

Turning to Schumann's "Davids-bundlertänze," Mr. Auer brought some of these same pranistic techniques and temperamental characteristics to an entirely different kind of music. The Schumann revels in eccentricities and contrasts, calling for unbottoned exmessiveness and extravagant fanfasies. Mr. Auer made the leap from Mozart with some success, though here his concern for clarity of textures and his emotional restraint were somewhat beside tha musical point. It was certainly deft pienism, but the music making was

After that the Pure Food and Drug Act ruled such bottles had to be of clear glass, and fattery shapes and decorated sur-faces, disappeared." That law eleminated "cure" bottles, two, which makes these relics relatively scarce today. ### Publishing: The Harry Crosby Case

By RICHARD R. LINGEMAN

C18

HE PARIS of the 1920's and the literary generation that so-journed there have acquired an almost legendary aura, like Camelot. And keeping the coals glowing have been the many memoirs of the sojourners, from Malcolm Cowley's classic "Exile's Return" to the recently publisbed "The Vary Rich Hours of Adrienne Monnier" by Richard McDougall.

One of those expatriate Americans, who might normally have occupied a short footnote to the literary history of those times, was Harry Crosby, minor poet; proprietor of the Black Sun Press; blacksheep scion of a distinguished Boston family; nephew of J. P. Morgan Jr.; cousin nf Walter Van Rensselaer Berry, a distinguished expatriate and friend of Edith Wharton; notorious seducer and dabbler in decadence. Two things happened that saved Crosby from obscurity. The first was his death in 1929, the result of a hizarre double-suicide pact with one of his mistresses, tha very social Josephine Rotch Bigelow. The other was that Malcolm Cow-ley devoted a chapter to him in "Ex-ile's Return," which attempted to make his life and death emblematic of the end of the Lost Generation.

A recent bonk hy Geoffrey Wolff, "Black Sun," has thrown considerable light on Crosby's curious life, not only scaling away the encrustations of time but also altering the role on the 1920's stage in which Mr. Cowley had cast him. Mr. Wolff (whosa interest in Crosby would crash in an airplane together in . Paris. But Crosby couldn't wait, and he bad found a willing accomplice in Josephine Bigelow. So, while Uncle J. Pierpont, his mother and Caresse were waiting for him to join them at tea, he and Mrs. Bigelow retired to a friend's studio in the Hotel des Artistes on West 67th Street, There they drank some Scotch and then Crosby put a bullet into Josephine's bead. Two bours later, the coroner later calculated, he shot himself. Mr. Wolff doesn't claim to know what triggered Crosby's act that particular time with that particular person, nor can be explain his obsession with death. But he is convinced that for Harry Crosby, suicide was "a trap be built for himself. He had announced it so often that there was no way he could not do it." A "fourth-rate poet" who made a religion of genius, Harry Crosby fashioned, in his suicide, his most enduring work.

It is a pretty safe generality that most writers would prefer not to die young, and certainly not by their own hand, lurid examples like Harry Crosby to the contrary. Consider the case of Frank Swinnerton, the British novelist and critic who has achieved tha age of 92 and has just published his 57th book, a novel called "Some Achieve Greetness," In a time when writers change publishers more frequently than they do wives and/nr mistresses, Mr. Swinnerton has had the same publish-er, Doubleday, since 1910. Since Mr. Swinnerton lives cosily be the slim young fellow she married." •

Again on the subject of authorial longevity, John Hall Wheelock, one-time senior editor at Charles Scribner's Sons and a still practicing poet, cele-brated his 90th birthday on Sept. 9. Mr. Wheelock had a poem in The New Yorker recently and will probably have enough of them for a book in a couple of years, his publishers say. His last book of poetry, a retrospective collec-tion entitled "By Daylight and in Dream," was published by Scribner's in 1970, so Mr. Wheelock is overdue. On that occasion, we talked with Mr. Wheelock, and his words about growing old still seem fresh: "I've always wanted to live long. I had a lot of work I wanted to do. In old age, things be-come more intense rather than less so. come more intense rather than less so. Things get more poignant—so many associations—everything reverberating with everything else. You don't feel you are any older, but suddenly you realize you are. But instead of life get-ting dimmer and dullar it nets so roiting dimmer and duller it gets so poi-grant, it's unbearable. Like looking at the sun, you can't stand it because it's unbearable."

Searching for his roots, Alex Haley helps us discover our own

Twelve years ago, Alex Haley went searching for answers to questions we all ask. Who am i? Where did I come from? Who were my ancestors? The quest was more difficult for him than it would be for most Americans: his ancestors arrived in this country neither on the Mayflower nor in steerage, but in chains. Yet.Haley persevered in his genealogical detective work. What he found makes a book unique in American publishing and in American history. ROOTS reconstructs the story of seven generations of one family, beginning with the birth in West Africa in 1750 of a boy named Kunta Kinte who, 17 years later, was abducted, shipped to Maryland, and sold to a Virginia planter. Primarily the story of this proud man who never accepted the slave name "Toby," ROOTS is also the chronicle of Grandmammy Kizzy and the flamboyant Chicken George, of slaves and freedmen, farmers and blacksmiths, lumber mill workers and Pullman porters, lawyers and architects - and one author. Poignant, exciting, and in the end, exhilarating, ROOTS has much to tell us about ourselves personally and as a nation. The most eagerly awaited book of this publishing season, it has become an immediate national bestseller. More important, it promises also to become an enduring part of our heritage.

Or is it because one grows weary of the author's pervasive sense of resignation, which makes him will-ing to settle for "a little commoo deceocy" instead of "love," and for his sister's tragic death dismissed as "slap-stick"? Or is it that the tone of under-statement that worked for Mr. Vonnestatement that worked for Mr. Vonne-gut in "Slaughterhouse Five," where being a prisoner in Dresden during its firebombing was the subject, is no longer effective in "Slapstick," where nothing much in particular, except per-haps the author's way of fantasizing, the atmospheric physicist who discov-ered the rain-making powers of silver iodide, fly off to Indianapolis for the funeral of a favorite uncle. (As one paragraph Informs us, "This really hap-pened.") After all, it is here that we learn some interesting, If melancholy, history of the Voncent finith history of the Vonnegut family. (Among its several members who died

. By JOAN LEE FAUST ....

The flowers of spring are already formed inside the stored food tissue of bulbs. But unless the gardener ear-nestly begins to set his bulbs into the ground this weekend or soon after, be may never realize the fragrant promise of bygeinths, daffodils and tulins next of byacinths, daffodils and tulips next

March, April or May. Late stragglers may have until Elec-tion Day to plant their bulbs, but that is really testing the challenge of the weather. The sooner the dormant bubs are planted the better, because roots must form before tha soil chills and freezes

There is another good reason for planting early. First customers have the top chnices of bulb varieties and flower colors. Latecomers will have to make do with leftnvers nr none.

-While thinking about spring; give some thought to planting the very early bulbs-or minnrs as they are called, a group that is often overlooked 'by gardeners. Some of the best are crocus, snowtops, grape hyacinth, daisylike windflowers and the tiny spring stars with stripes called puschkinia, named for the Russian botanist, Count Mussin-

The size of the minor bulbs is emaz-ing. You can bold 25 winter aconites ing. You can bond 25 white acousts in the palm of your band. When these shy little bulbs choose to bloom in late February or early March, there will be scores of flat buttercops, the size of a dime, flat on the ground.

Prepackaged and Labeled

Bulbs are sold at garden shops, plant stores, dime stores, garden centers and supermarkets. Most of the cash-andfor discount bulbs. The cheaper bulbs may disappoint you and produce little or no flowers. A bulb shopping list is as essential as a grocery list. There is nothing worse than finding in the middle of the deep-knew planting bends that there are not enough tulps to finisb out the row or too many crocus bulbs to fill the terrace tubs. With good planning, bloom from bulbs is possible all through spring. Flower surprises will start in February with the snnwdrops and finish off in May with the Darwin tulips. In batween are wide choices of flower colors and forms to make up the shopping list.

Covering All tha Season

The following groups cover the bulk flowering seasons. A few bulb selections from each group will supply all the flower color possible. Very early: (minor bulbs) Snowdrops (Galanthus); winter aconites (Eronthis); windfinwer (Anemona blanda); Pusch-kinia; glory of the snow (Chionodoxa) and Crocus.

Early: (minor bulbs) Snowflakes (Leucojum); Siberian squill (Scilla si-berica): grape hyacinth (Muscari); mafor bulbs: species or botanical tulips plus the Kaufmanniane and Fosteriana tulips; single and early tulips; bye-cinths and miniature daffodils.

Midseason: (major bulbs) Daffodils and Greigi, Mendet, Cottage, Triumph and Datwin Hybrid tulips. Late: (major bulbs) Double, Parrot, Lilly-flowered and Darwin tulips.

Flower bloim varies according to the weather, and "very early" is usually somewhere hetween the end of Febru-ary and the first few weeks of March. This melts into the "early" season of

The where is easy-wherever there The where is easy wherever there is a planting space of ground, fairly flat, well-drained, in sun or light shade. The minor bulbs put or a diminutive display. Most of them are under 6 inches tall so they should be placed near the house where they will be easihear the house when they will be call ly seen-by the doorways or walks. Patio gardeners often put them in deep swooden containers, and city terrace gardeners delight in keeping them in planters near the living room and bed-room windows.

Plant Parmers for Planting

Minor bulbs need companions. Here are some good partners to plant togeth-er: snowdrops and the buttercupilke eranthis; glory of the snow with the puschkinia stars or the daisies of the windflowers. Snowflakes and grape nyacinths of deepest blue also flower well together well together. The species botanical nr wild tulips are direct descendants of those tulins found in the fields and mountain slopes of Persia, Turkey, Greece and Crete. They are great tuck in bulbs for rock some of the early tiny daffodils.

Kaufmannianas suggest glant water-Greigi hybrids show off their splashy two-toned flowers from a cluster of oddly striped leaves. All of the tullis mentioned plus the single earlies. Cottage and hyacinths, are ideal for patio, container and city terrace gardens as they are short in stature and bave some natural wind resistance grouping-10 bulbs will do-of the Darwin Eybrid tulips. These are the ultimate of the Dutch tulip breeding.

A story is told that wheo the tulip hybridizers had finally achieved this megnificent cross between the Darwin and the early Fosterianas, they took but one flower to Queen Juliana of The but one flower to Queen Jillians of the Netherlands to emphasize to ber the significance of their achievement. The flowers are stately, tall—about three feet with huge-size blooms. Everyone settles on a favorite or two and few can go wrong with either Elizabeth Avien a rich rose pick or the vellow Arden, a rich rose pink, or the yellow streaked with red glamour of Gudosh-

The golden daffodils immortalized by Wordsworth are now found in every sort of color: white, cream, orange, pink and shadings in between Daffodils.are casual flowers and look best when scattered informally around the garden-at the base of trees in the lawn, grouped in a tub planter or tucked in bare and there in deep window boxes.

How many bulbs? Now is the time for the diagram paper and pencils. The diagram is a very useful tool, as it forces the actual counting of how many bulbs will be needed for a particular planting site. The names of the bulbs and their varieties and colors can be written on the diagram at planting time. This handy reference saves confusion next spring when the bulbs start in bloom. Few people can remember what was planted where. (It's also a good way to keep track of winning and losing combinations.)

"Minor bulbs are planted three inches deep and spaced two to three inches spart. Since they are tiny, plant plenty of them. No fewer than 25; 50 are even better. They are not expensive and are long-lasting investment. Grape byacinths, crocus and snowdrops especially multiply over the years.

Opera: New Faces in 'Traviata

William Harness took the part of Al-fredo in Verdi's "La Traviata" for the first time with the New York City Opera in the performance given at the New York State Theater Wednesday night. He appeared with Meralin Niska (Violetta), Richard, Fredricks (the eider Germont) and Kathleen Hegiersid (Flora), all familiar with their roles from previous performances. The only other newcomer to the cast was Margaret Goodman, who was Annina for the first time.

Mr. Harness is a big man with a tenor voice that can sound quite good and communicate dramatic urgency when things are going well for him. Unfortunately, he was not baving a run of luck in the first act, and his pitch sagged badly at crucial moments. It was not subtle flatting. One could hear specific intervals go awry. In addition. some of his top tones were insecure.

Weekend Gardening: Fruit Trees

By RICHARD W. LANGER

There are few pleasures in life more tranquilizing than spending a crisp fall evening in front nf a roaring fire, a bowl nf fragrant, freshly plucked apples near nne hand and a basket of chest-nuts to most may the wher Nibling on nuts to roast near the other. Nibbling on the fruits of labors past, ooe dreams of grander things for the future. And although the approaching winter sols-tice is a time of planning and contentment for the gardener, the falling leaves are also a call to action.

Nurseries have attempted for some time to persuade gardeners to plant trees in autumn as well as in spring. From their point of view, it would spread business nut more evenly over the years. Like most people, however, I tended to shy away from fall plant-ing. It seemed somebow unnatural. Spring, when ona knew the trees would shortly be covered with a lacework of green buds always promised more success.

But last year, with more time avail-able at the end of tha growing season than in its beginning, I planted a num-ber of deciduous trees and shrubs in the fall. Throughout the winter, when-ever I passed their bare snow-covered intication of the season latticework, I mumbled to myself about foolishness. Yet this year some of the plants, the gooseberries and currants, for instance, are definitely ahead of their spring-planted counterparts. The plums are doing at least as well, if nnt slightly better.

If you haven't thought about it be-fore, consider planting a fruit tree this fall. Peruse your catalogues this week, or better still, visit a nursery and check what they have in atock for fall plantwhat they have in atock for fail plan-ing. Mail-order trees come with their roots bare and ere considerably less expensive than their nursery B&B. counterparts. (B&B. stands for balled and buriapped and even though the plants now often come in plastic tubs instead, the term remains with . us.) Mail-order houses usually give you a larger selection to choose from, and with careful planting, the trees deliver a high percentage of success. Still, ex-cept for varieties not available at the nursery, my teodency is to buy B. & B.'s. They heve a faster, stronger start the first year and they stay ahead. Whatever your source, think about the future when you select your tree.

For one thing, trying not to snund like Johnny Appleseed, I would nevertheless highly recommend a fruit tree of some variety or other. Or if room for that is lacking, consider at least e berry bush. Fruiting timber offers so much more in the garden than purely-decorative shrubs-more for you, more for the birds and more for the children down the street.

There is a strategy to placing plants. If it fails, it usually does so because it's hard to envision the mighty boost mother. nature will give your young tree in a very little while. For the motree in a very little while. For the mo-ment a sapling might look barren and alnne planted even 10 feet away from the bouse. Yet 15 feet away would be a wiser choice, fur in a few short years those pencil-thin branches will have grown to limbs, and the buds of spring will be scraping at your win-dowsill as if trying to enter.

Sun is another consideration in . placement, especially for fruit trees, Fruit production is a plant's most energy-intensive phase. An apple tree may grow beneath the shade of an nid oak, but it will probably never fruit

While on the subject of the absence of fruit, if you have room for only one fuit tree, make sure it is self-pollinat-ing. Pears, for Instance, and many varieties of apples and atone fruits such as peaches and plums need other varieties nearby for cross-pollination. Another solution is to enlist the help of your neighbor, persuading him to

of your neighbor, persuading him to plant a tree, too. Once you've made up your mind to plant a tree, chosen which one it's to be and decided where to put it. it's time to get down to the real spade-work: digging a hole. Although the old saying about digging a 5-dollar hole for a 50 cent tree may be modified for inflation, the underlying thought is as true, as ever. Unlike Con Edison; you'll only bave to dig that bole once, so the extra labor nf making it large enough is not really much in the ling run. Ideally the hole should be at least one foot larger all around, including one foot larger all around, including underneath, than the root ball of the tree to be transplanted. For most young trees this means a hale two to three feet deep and as wide or even wider. It might not be a bad idea to start digging this weekend, even if the tree won't be planted until next month. No ons says the bole has to be dug all at once. Also, by leaving the bole open for a week or two before putting in the treet one can check to make sure drainage is good. Few things will kill a transplanted tree as quickly as a layer of hardpan beneath the roots to collect. rain water. If you see a puddle of water in your hole the day after it has rained, dig down another six inches and line the bottom with an equivalent layer of coarse pebbles.

When it comes to filling up the hole. again, you don't want to put the old dirt back. At least not by itself. You dirt back. At least not by itself. You want to mix in large quantities of: moisture-retaining material such as peat moss, humus, leaf mold and aged manure. Do not add wood chips or bark, since these decay differently, often producing various: unbeathy fungi. A half pound of bone or blood meal stirred in and a good bandful of powdered limestone will get the tree off to a good start in spring. When a dormant tree arrives: plant

When a dormant tree arrives, plant it at once. Check first for any broken roots. Trim these off. In the case of a roots. Trim these off. In the case of a B.&B. tree, scratch the ball to free some of the exterior roots; too offen these bave grown tightly in confine-ment and will keep growing around and around rather than ont into that big comfortable bed you've made for them.

Set the tree so the soil line will be at. the same depth it was before. Usually you'll find a ring of dirt ground the trunk to indicate the old level. He carefel not to plant the tree lower. In the case of grafted fruit trees, the wild rootstock will take over if the graft;

union is below ground level. Spread out the roots as much as possible and sht dirt between them, pressing and sht out between them, pressing it down firmly. Once the bole is two-thirds full, flood it with water till it all turns to mud If you don't, air pockets will remain and cause the roots in rot. Now full the rest of the hole, sloping the soil level down toward the trunk so it sits in the middle of a shallow funnel. Give it nne more thorough dousing. Then wrap the trank of the tree with tar-inpregnated paper to a. height of two feet if there are hungry rabbits about, and put a good layer of much such as bark or wood chips around the tree's base.

As a last tnuch, trim off about a third of the tree's top growth to compensate for the root loss incurred dur-ing transplanting. Everything in nature depends on balance. In this case the loss, of roots will hinder new leaf growth unless some of the branches. are cut back as well Now go back to the house, collapse in front of the fire, and think about thet overflowing fruit bowl at your side in a few years.

and are larger in size. The are planted six inches deep and six inches apart from one another. A trowel is about seven inches deep; so is the hollow bulb planter. Either tool is a handy planting holes. The depth means that the bottom of the bulb is six inches deep in the soil. City gardeners plant-ing in deep terrace boxes or tubs must be suce that they have a soil depth of at least 14 inches so the bulbs bave sufficient soil bulk to protect them in cold weather. Tulips look best when grouped in circles or clumps in a border or planted in several rows of compatibla colors. If a two-color scheme is planned, be sure to choose tulip varieties that will bloom at the same time. Watch color combinations; be wary of the mauves; pinks and oranges when making two-toned plantings. And one never, bever, dn not plant me single skinny row of tulips. It will look ridicu-lous next spring. If a single row it must be, then choose the formal and fat hyacinths, which are more adaptable to such a design. Most bulbs are sold in groups of 10, 25 and 50, an buying bulk quantities

Enrichment for the Future

And now for the planting. The bulbs already have their own food supply for 1977'e flowers but the soil will need excidence for the future springs' lowers.

Fertilization cas be accomplished in two ways. Either drop a small amount - about a quarter teaspoon or so of - bonemeal or fertilizer 6-12-6 into the - bottom of each planting hola and stratch it in a bit before dropping each bulb in the hole. over the bulb planting area before or after planting and rake it in well. One trick when planting the minor bulbs. They are so tiny and hard to see when tossed on tha soil fir a casual planting arrangement, they will show up better if fertilizer or bonemeal is distributed on the ground first. Then when the bulbs are tossed out on the white dusted soil surface, they will be easy to see and can be planted where they fall. When planting a large area of major bulbs such as tulips or a large firmal bed of hyecinths many find it simpler to dig the whole bed to a depth of six inches, place the bulbs in position on the soil and then cover the entire bed completely.

Second Ave. to Lexington

Across Second, 57th Street begins its transition to a commercial street. There are still apartment houses, but they are mostly new and undistinguished, and storefronts have begun to appear along their ground floors. Indeed, the quality of architecture along this block is so poor that the mediocre yellow pan-eled, blue-bricked box of the High School of Art and Design, by William Lescaze and Kahn & Jacobs, offers a welcome visual relief. The street gets shriller west of Third venue, by which time it has switched into commercial high gear but not yet acquired the patina of elegance it takes on a bit farther west. Worth noting on the corner of Third Avenue is 950 Third, the city's first reflective glass skysoraper, designed by Kahn & Jacobs. Sophistication in the use of reflective glass facades has increased considerably since its construction a few years Just past 950 Third Avenue is 57th

Lilain Val

An interesting contrast is 40 West 57th Street, built at the same time to the designs of Jack Brown, the staff architect of the builder, Samuel L Lefrak. No 40 is less polished in its details, but its street arcade, mid-block passage, and overall relationship to its neighbors is far more civilized.

The block west of Fifth Avenue, long a major center of art galleries, is becoming even more active as low rents in 57th Street office buildings encourage other art galleries to move from nptown locations. It is an active retail block as well, although the only store-front of any architectural note is the OTB branch on the north side just east of the Avenue of the Americas, where in a surprising act of deference to the 57th Street atmosphere, OTB aban-doned its standard green sign for a set of gold letters engraved in black granold studio buildings, now converted largely to commercial use, and just down the block from them is one of the city's best-known buildings, Car-negie Hall. Designed in 1889-91 by William B. Tuthill, the loosely Italian Renaissance structure is a somewhat awkward architectural composition, but this hardly gets in the way of the fine functioning of its auditorium and the vital role the building plays in the city's cultural life in general.

Seventh to Ninth Ave.

Two of the city's finest 19th-century buildings stand just across Seventh Avenue: the Osborne at 205 West 57th, the 1885 apartment house by James E. Ware whose heavy stone exterior has vague Chicago School overtones, and the Art Students League at No. 215, the French Renaissance building that is perhaus the means show the state that is perhaps the most elegant facade composition of Henry J. Hardenbergh, architect of the Dakota and the Plaza.

Across the street, No. 224 still carries stone sign set into its summit marking it as the original New York bead-quarters of General Motors, No. 225 is a surprise—an appealing, although extremely heavy-handed, Chicago-School influenced building with horizontal window banks and abstract ornament between the windows.

The architectural highlight of this stretch, however, is William Randolph

The Pop Life John Rockwell

The unusual interior space of the Galleria on East 57th Street

Hearst's building for his magazine operations. Only Hearst would commission an architect to put seven-story high columns around a six-story building, the result is an amalgam of sculp-ture, columns, and other ornaments that is utterly pretentious, but so silly that it comes off as funny rather than offensive.

Down the block is the Parc Veodome. one of the solid old apartment bouses in town that, like London Terrace on 23d Street, has always had a certain appeal that transcended its location. Builder Hyman Shapiro started erecting an enormous tower addition to the Parc Vendome a few years ago and then went bankrupt; the tower stands halffinished, with crane atop it like a permaneot sculpture, while the banks hag-gle over the building's future.

Ninth Avenue West

The street becomes a bit more disheveled to the west, and after Tenth Avenue the buge CBS Broadcast Center dominates. But there is one building very inuch worth a look at the southwast corner of 57th and Ninth—a fine 19th century block of flats, with an elabo-rate cornice, and arched and bay windows. It is all of hrick, and it is a re-minder of bow skilled the 19th century was in the use of brick-the final product here is so strong that its architec-ture overcomes the destrucive store-fronts on the ground floors and even the billboards that have been slapped onto the facade.

Restaurants

Fifty-seventh Street is oot in itself a great restaurant street, but its eat-ing places nonetheless echo the diversity of the street at large. There are Irish specialties at the Irish Pavilion (130 East 57th, PL 9-9041), Danish salads at lunch at Old Denmark (135 East 57th, PL 3-5856), crepes at the Magic Pan (149 East 57th, 371-3266) and blini and caviar at New York's beloved Rus-sian Tea Room (150 West 57th, CO 5-0947).

There are also Freoch restaurants, bealth-food places, and fast food out-lets. And just off 57th Street is one of the city's most heavily restauranted blocks, West 56th Street west of Fifth Avenue.

Shopping

Listing the stores on 57th Street would be like listing the churches in Rome—possible, but impractical. There is everything here from the chic of Henri Bendel, Bonwit Teller and Bergdorf Goodman to the gadget jumble of Hammacher Schlemmer. Hunrath's, just west of Third Avenue, has the city's best stock of doorknobs and drawer handles; the Irish Pavision (yes, it is also a store) is full of sweaters and tweed caps. And on and on.

Lexington to Fifth

Here, commercial 57th Street begins to get uppity: the stores are more ex-pensive, the stores are more ex-the buildings more elegant. The gaping mouth of the Galleria's entrance just east of Park Avenue is worth entering; within is a decent atrium space designed by David Kenneth Specter, who also designed Stewart Mott's triplex apartment up top. The design of the Galleria tower itself was left to Philip Birn-baum, who did the Excelsior and many of the city's other recent white-brick efforts.

Next door is the Ritz Tower, the splendid 1925 skyscraper by Emery Roth and Cerrere & Hastings. Its cartouches atop a rusticated stone base and elegant profile have made it a long beloved landmark at the corner of 57th and Park. Within, the former space of Le Pavillon restaurant has been taken over by the First Women's Bank; the new banking room is elegant and solid, yet unpretentious. It was the design of Judith Stockman, with the architects Furgueon & Sorrentino. On the south side of 57th is the Universal Pictures Building, Kahn & Jacobs's 1947 building, whose strip windows and setbacks make it a text-book example of pre-curtain wall modernism. And across Park Avenue, on the southwest corner of 57th Street, is an equally classic example of a later genre of skyscrapers, 450 Park Avenue —a sheer tower whose only visual re-lief comes in the form of some rather pretentious shaping of its windows. Behind 450 Park on the 57th Street side is one of the city's most useless "bonus" plazas-a dark and uninviting space for which the builder was per-push, as they embark on fall tours. They open at My Father's Place in Roslyn, I.I., tonight, and both are due (separately) into Manhattan soon. And both have received the sort of critical praise that makes nervous Nellies nervous about overkill. So far, this observer has only heard them on records. Mr. Pratt's "Resolution," his first Nemperor-Atlantic album, came out a couple of months ago; Mr. Forman's first album, "David Forman" on Arista, has just been released.

Mr. Pratt and Mr. Forman have their differences. But linking them is a sensitive, slightly precious sen-sibility that expresses itself in idioms that sound like a catalogue of pop styles of the last 10 years. And they have both been burdened with string washed productions that bring soft rock uncomfortably close to middle of the road. This is romantic art-pop that borders on the portentous.

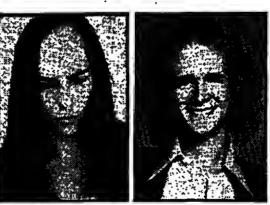

On records, Mr. Pratt is the simpler and more immediately appealing of the two. His lyrics are mostly about love, and they ramble on in a straightforward, self-effacing way. The music is a McCartnevesque mélange, and engaging on that level. Mr. Forman takes more risks, sounds more affected and may ultimately have more potential for develop-ing at least a fanatic cult following. At the moment his biggest liability is that he sounds in some songs quite amazingly like Randy Newman, without the wit. But Mr. Forman, with his variety of moods and concerns and his frequent extensions into a Smokey Robinsonlike falsetto, definitely has a compelling

One wonders, though, whether the best ends of popular music are being pursued with this sort of pensive artsiness. It often seems as if the best clever pop music blends subtle thoughts with simple, vital music, If you want complex music, try jazz or contemporary classical scores.

In the meantime, some people tend to confuse soft pop-music banalities with musical profundity, and the result over the years has been a raft of critics' darlings, full of earnest lyrics and bland music, that the public rightly rejects. Perhaps Mr. Forman and Mr. Prait, both of whom clearly have talent, will escape that pattern.

Hard oo the heels of last week's Bob Dylan television special comes the singer's lastest disk, "Hard Rain." There has been some confusion about its provenance. Everybody knew it was to be a Rolling Thunder Revue live abum, but nobody seemed sure whether it was the actual soundtrack of the special or not.

The answer is: partly. The tracks for "Hard Rain" were recorded at two concerts a week apart last May in Fort Worth and in Fort Collins, Colo.; the May in Fort worth and in Fort Colims, Color; the Colorado site was the source of the telecast. The song selection will be a further cause for comment, Mr. Dylan opts here mostly for new songs, and subjects the old ones (e.g., "Maggie's Farm") to reworkings so radical as to emount to new songs. Don Devito, co-producer of the album with Mr. Dylan, explained that they had originally intended a two-record set, but that the selection process grew so unwieldy that they finally shrank back to one record. "To do two records we would really have had to do three," Mr. DeVito said.

When the Rolling Thunder Revue played bere last December, there were those who complained that the "Desire" studio album lacked the passion of the live performances. But one imagines that "Desire" will prove more ingratiating over the years than "Hard Rain."

There is energy here, certainly, but this is the rawest, roughest Dylan record yet. It's almost as if any musician caught playing or singing in tune had been sharply reprimanded.

"Bob liked the energy and feeling of the rough tracks," Mr. DeVito said. "When I cleaned it up, it sounded too much like a studio album." Some may recall that Mr. Dylan went through a similar process when he rejected the Florida studio sessions originally meant for the television special and chose to shoot the live Fort Collins performance, instead. "Hard Rain" is, in short, bardly for the Simon and Garfunkel folkie. But as a memorial to raucous energy it has rarely been equaled on records, and it is a tangible document of an important part of the always evolving Dylan career.

The Isley Brothers, beadliners on a show at Madi-had been performing together loog before that, even before their brother Vernon was killed in a traffic accident at the age of 11 in 1954.

During the 1960's and early 70's the group forged on, enjoying an occasional success but oot following it up consistently. The basis was the sort of rhythm, and blues that appealed to white college audiences in the 60's, bot there were also attempts at specifical-in the 60's, bot there were also attempts at specificat-ly white styles (Bob Dylan, James Taylor). All of that changed in 1973, when the group's album "3 + 3" went to No. 1. Since then, there has been a steady succession of million-selling albums—"Live It Up," "The Heat Is On" and the current "Harvest for the World." Why the burst of popularity?

Part of the enswer is an influx of new energy Part of the answer is an influx of new energy in the form of the two youngest Isley brothers, Mar-vin and Ernie, along with Chris Jasper, a brother-in-law, who joined the three older Isleys, Ronald, Ru-dolph and Kefly. But that was in 1969. Four years later came "3 + 3," whose title reflects the change. In it the Isleys forged boldy into a contemporary stylistic area, full of the loog, danceable instrumen-tele and measure brites that so many black ecours tais and message lyrics that so many black groups now espouse

There has been talk that the Isleys appeal more exclosively to a black audience today, and that the white rock press has slighted them and other successful black groups in its coverage. But Marvin Isley put it this way: "The black press is where it starts, and that following stays with you wi's always there. But we do sell a lot of records, and that means you aren't limited to one particular group." . .

There will be yet another Beatles convention m New York, tomorrow and Sunday, this one at the Statler Hilton Hotel. Admission is $7.50 daily ($14 for both days), and activities run from 10 A.M. to 3 A.M. Asked how Beatles '76 would differ from similar conventions held bere and in Boston, Elliott Coral, the event's 16 year-old organizer, said: "Not much But we hope to do it better."

The third annual Beatlefest, originally set for this month, will now take place Feb. 26-27, also at the Statler Hilton. ٠

A couple of weeks ago this column took note of an early Wallers reissue and a new disk by Peter Tosh, one of the three original principals of that premier reggae group. Now Bunny Waller, the third of the three (the other is, of course, Bob Mariey, who heads the current Wailers), has come forth with a solo album that is being released in the United States this week, it's called "Blackheart Man," and it's right up there with Mr. Marley's and Mr. Tosh's efforts. Forget about the Beatles-let's reunite the Wailers

HOLIDAY RITUAL

This weekend, the pace of New York slows somewhat because of the celebration of Rosh ha-Shanah, the $1 for Sierra Club re-Jewish New Year. On Sunday in the rmation: 351-8700. By bus late afternoon, perhaps about 4 or S P.M., thousands of observant or tra-ditionally minded Jewish New Yorkers will gather at places in the water-girt city to observe tashlich, a ceremony h and next, almost every that represents a symbolic cleansing of sins in a stream of running water. Pockets, which should be empty, are "emptied" into the waters to the reci-tation of appropriate Bible verses and psalms dealing with the casting of sins into the water. This may be obere's a new installment e Festival at the Garden Center, in Holmdel, N.J. served in many locations, most nota-bly perhaps, along the East and Hud-son Rivers above 72d Street, at reservoirs (fed by running water), at Brighton Beach in Brooklyn. Friday

This being new season week, atten-tion is focused on those series, good or bad, making their debuts. CBS's "Spencer's Pilots," shown at 8 P.M., took off last Friday with a special pre-view and promptly crashed with a dull thud, The only other new series sched-uled for Fridays is "Serpico," which begins tonight at 10 on NBC. The series uses the figure of Frank

And, for good measure, Mr. T bas invented a machine that allows him to float around the upper reaches of his living room. Whatever else might be said about it, "Mr. T and Tina" is an aston-ishing concoction.

Sunday

CBS is bringing back its prestigious "Festival of Lively Arts for Young Peo-ple" series but, for various reasons, in-cluding footbal, the latest hour is being shoved into the awkward slot of 1 P.M. on Sunday. The presentation is "Dance of the Athletes," produced by New York City Ballet's Edward VIIlella, choreographed by Mr. Villella and Richard Tanner, and directed by David Saperstein.

Filmed entirely in outdoor settings, Filmed entirely in outdoor settings, the program explores the familiar com-parison between athletes and dancers —the intensive training, the body as instrument, the worklog within a given space. Star athletes (baseball's Tom Seaver and Jerry Grote, football's Bob Griese, tennis's Virginia Wade) are con-trasted with Mr. Villella and his small correst of upwing dancers. # A Conductor For Year of The Dragon

BY RAYMOND ERICSON

A woman conductor has a has enough time of it in a field dominant by men, but if she happens to be for nese she has a double problem.

That is the case with Helen Que (rhymes with Bach, if you're man with block if you're not). She attra ed local attention in 1967, when was one of the first-prize winner the highly regarded International De tri Mitropoulos Competition for G ductors. IRVINE, Calif., Sept. 23-More than 2,000 families gathered in a parking lot near bere Sunday, and a lot of them the families: their names were drawn from a steel drum, and this meant they could buy one of 82 new townhouses that were for sale that day.

Not far away, 65 families camped out for as long as five days this month during California's worst tropical storm in atmost 40 years so they could buy homes in a new housing development called Sunwood. But the vigil was wasted time for most of them: only 29 new homes were available.

"It was a pretty crazy scene and it got pretty exciting at times," Arlon Collins, the real estate broker who oversees sales at Sunwood, where three and four-bedroom homes were sold for $58,000 to $67,000, observed.

"People were fighting and scratching and arguing over who was at the front of the line," he said. "We bad one guy pitch a bent, and when the rains came,

In this process, which be has con-ducted eight times a year for the last 17 years, Mr. Leslie requests current data on the condition and volume of the nation's corn, wheat and soybeans from the leading managers of the country'a crop elevators. He never ventures himself into farm country, nor does he interview farmers.

. "The best analysts of the crop," he said in a recent interview in his simple two-room canary-yellow modern office, "are the elevator operators. They are the most sensitive to changing crop conditions. They have to determine the likely size of the harvest, how much they will have to store, how much they will have to store, how much money they may have to borrow to finance inventory, and how impor-tant any recent rains might bave been. And they are constantly driving down country roads to appraise the crop."

Mr. Leslie and his wife then calculate the returns, each taking half of the responses, but Mr. Leslie bimself, a veteran of more than a quarter century in the commodity business, does the analysis and commentary after three or four days and nights of sifting the figures.

He says his crop surveys cost about $2,000, plus the time spent in preparing them, but be does not impose any charge for the service.

His income, which he declines to disclose, comes from his advisory commodity role with Thomson & McKinnon, the brokerage house, from his own trading activities in the commodity markets (which he says he suspends for the period immedistely before and after tha survey), and from his personal stock-market investments.

Management Buying Out Small Stockholders

Communicating with stockholders can be expensive, especially for small companies. As a result, at least three companies recently have made offers to buy out their amall stockholders, thereby reducing their sbareowner list. Stockholders must receive annual reports, proxy statements, quarterly reports, dividend checks, letters to stockholders and other communications. To entice small atockholders to sell their shares. Interway offered them about $11 a share, at a time when the shares were selling in the open mar-ket for 9<sup>5</sup>s. About 25 percent of its small stockholders accepted the offer, according to Thomas Daly, an official of the company. He noted that two other companies, the Dynamics Cor-poration of America and Martin Processing, made similar offers earlier this year.

Patrick J. Dorme, treasurer of the Dynamics Corporation, said that "we got about a 28 percent return or 1,400 out of 5,000 smallstockholder accounts." The company aimed at stock-price

Mr. Dorme figured that the cost to the company, which makes farm and industrial machinery and electronic components, was just under $76,000 for the 9,298 shares acquired and returned to the treasury. "I figure that shareholders cost us about $5 or more each." he said,

He sald that the Dynamics Corporation had a special situation because many of its small shareholders had been creditors of the company when it went into a Chaper XI reorganization in 1972. Many of the creditors were happy, he reported, to receive cash for their holdings. Some of the small stockholders had even forgotten that they owned shares in the company. They too, were pleased at the opportunity to cash in at a slight profit and without incurring a brokerage commission.

Market Place Investing in Hospital Companies

By ROBERT METZ

Investors in companies that own hos-pitals were recently disappointed when Congress decided not to sweeten a tax measure under which bospitals are built with the proceeds of tax-exempt bonds.

Thus, the private hospital companies remain limited to $5 million industrial hond issues to finance new hospitals in a world in which the $10 million to $15 million bospital is the rule.

The legis at on for which tovestors bad hoped would have authorized tax-exempt bond issues of up to $20 million and its failure to be included in the omnibus tax bill was a blow.

In 1974, 31 percent of the $3,2 billion raised to build bosplials came from tax-exempt bond issues, 27 percent from other debt proceeds, 19 percent from Government grants, 10 percent from philanthropy and 13 percent generated by hospitals internally. In 1973, by contrast, tax-exempts accounted for just 20 percent of the total.

Still, Edward Turville, vice president ann senior analyst for Robinson-Hum-phrey Inc. of Atlanta, and othed analysts of hospital owner-managers be-lieve the stocks of such companies are undervalued.

The group includea such New York Stock, Exchange companies listed as American Medical International, American Medicorp, Hospital Affiliates Inter-national, the Hospital Corporation of America, Humana and National Medical Enterprises.

U.S. Steel Plans Outlay in Spain Of $225 Million

By HENRY GINIGER Special to The New York Times

MADRID, Sept 23-The United States Steel Corporation is contemplating a $225 million investment in Spain in what Edgar Speer, chairman of the board , termed a vote of confidence in the Spanish political and economic future.

The announcement of the company's plans, to be made final in a few weeks, was made at the end of a visit by the board of directors to the investment site at Sagunto north of Valencia where a cold-rolling mill is being completed. The enlargement of the plant into a fully inte-grated steel-manufacturing facility calls for the expenditure of about $1.5 billion, the largest private investment ever made in Spain.

United States Steel controls 25 percent of the capital of Altos Hornos of Vizcaya centered in Bilhao, the country'a largest steel company. Altos Hornos, in turn, has 40 percent of the Sagunto plant and Unit-ed Steel's equity comes to 15 percent. Near the Sagunto plant, at Almusafes, the Ford Motor Company has nearly com-pleted an automobile plant whose total investment is expected to come close to $1 billion.

period of political, social and economic uncertainty created by the present transition toward a Western European-type democracy.

Mr. Speer and his fellow board mem-bers conferred with King Juan Carlos I, Prime Minister Adolfo Suarez and other Spanish officials during their visit here. In a telephone interview, Mr. Speer said "there is nothing to indicate that as tran-sition goes forward Spain will not remain a good country to invest in. This is a vote of confidence in Spain's future."

The first phase of Sagunto's development has involved a cold-rolling mill with a capacity of 1.5 million tons of sheet steel a year. The second phase, which would take about three years to complete, involves what Mr. Speer called "back-ward integration" in which facilities will be built for the menufacture of unfinished be built for the manufacture of unfinished steel with a capacity of 2 million tons a year, which would supply the cold-rol-bing mill.

Good News for Spain

United States Steel's interest in increasing its financial investment in Spain was good news for a Government trying to push forward political reform in the midst of Industrial stagnation and one of the lowest levels of domestic invest-ment in years. Mr. Suarez and others have acknowledged that Spain's economic troubles, involving both inflation and unemployment, were endangering the en-thre political process.

The Government's economic measures have in part tried to promote investment to create new job opportunities and pre-pare for Spanish entry into the European Economic Community. Stockholders having Shares registered in the name of a broker, dealer, commercial bank, trust company or nominee are urged to contact such person if they desire to tender their Shares.

1. Terms of Offer. If not more than 1.500.000 Shares shall have been duly tendered by the Expiration Date and not withdrawn as permitted by Section 2 below, the Par-chaser will be obligated to purchase all of the Shares duly tendered (and not withdrawn) chaser will be obligated to purchase all of the Shares duly tendered (and not withdrawn) by the Expiration Date. In the event that more than 1,500,000 Shares shall be duly tendered by the Erpiration Date, the Purchaser will be obligated to purchase shall be duly Shares and may elect (but shall not be obligated) to purchase some or all of the Shares so teodered to the extent they exceed 1,500,000. In the event that the Purchaser purchases fewer than all the Shares duly tendered by 5:00 P.M. New York City time on October 5, 1976 (the "Initial Expiration Date") and not withdrawn as permitted by Section 2 below, Shares will be purchased, as nearly as practicable on a pro rate basis (disregarding fractions) according to the number of Shares so tendered (and not so withdrawn) by each tendering stockholder. If the Purchaser extends the Offer past the Initial Expiration Date and fewer than all of the Shares tendered after that time are to be purchased, the Shares to be purchased which shall have been duly tendered after that time will be purchased on a first-come first-served basis. Certificates tendered after that time will be purchased on a first-come first-served basis. Certificates for Shares not being purchased by the Purchaser will be returned, without expense to the tendering stockholders, as soon as practicable after the Expiration Date in accordance with the Letter of Transmittal.

2. Right of Withdrawal. Tenders are irrevocable, except that Shares tendered pursuant to the Offer may be withdrawn prior to 5:00 P.M. New York City time on October 1, 1976, and, unless theretofore purchased by the Purchaser, may also be withdrawn after November 21, 1976. To be effective, a written, telegraphic or facsimile notice of withdrawal must be timely received by the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent at the addresses specified below. Any notice of withdrawal must specify the name of the person who deposited the Shares to be withdrawn on particular Letters of Transmittal, the number of Shares to be withdrawn, the same of the presidence and (if certification here delivered to the Thenceitary or the registered holder and (if certificates have been delivered to the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent) the certificate numbers of the particular certificates evidencing the Shares to be withdrawn. All questions as to validity, including time of receipt, of notices of withdrawal, will be determined by the Porchaser, which determination will be final and binding.

3. Payment of Purchase Price; Tax Consequences. Subject to the terms and conditions of the Offer, payment for Shares duly undered prior to the Initial Expira-tion Date and purchased pursuant to the Offer will be made as soon as practicable after the Initial Expiration Date. Subject to the terms and conditions of the Offer, payment for Shares duly tendered and purchased pursuant to any extension of the Offer will be made as soon as practicable after acceptance of such Shares. Payment for Shares purchased pursuant to the Offer will be by deposit of the purchase price therefor with the Depositary, as agent for the tendering stockbolders. Subject to In-struction 6 to the Letter of Transmittal, the Purchaser will pay all stock transfer taxes, if any, on the purchase of Shares by it, as well as all charges and expenses of the Depositary and the Forwarding Agent.

Sales of Shares by stockholders of the Company pursuant to the Offer will be taxable transactions. 1,500,000 Shares constitutes approximately 48% of the Shares presently outstanding. The Purchaser is presently seeking to purchase less than 50% of the outstanding Shares in order to retain flexibility to propose in the future a

For the convenience of holders of Shares whose certificates are not immediately available, tenders may be made without the concurrent deposit of certificates if such tenders are made by or through a member of any registered national securities ex-change or of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. or by or through a commercial bank or trust company in the United States (an "Eligible Institution"). In such cases a property completed and duly executed Letter of Transmittal must be received by the Depositary or by the Forwarding Agent for forwarding to the Depositary prior to the Expiration Date, the guaranty of delivery contained in the Letter of Trans-mittal must have been executed by an Eligible Institution, and the certificates for all tendered Shares and all other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal must be received by the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent within eight business days after the date of the Letter of Transmittal.

If a stockholder desires to accept the Offer and time will not permit such stock-holder's Letter of Transmittal, certificates or other required documents to reach the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent before the Expiration Date, such stockholder's Depositivy of the Forwarding Agent before the Expiration Date, such subcander's tender may be effected if (i) a properly completed and duly executed Letter of Trans-mittal, together with certificates for all tendered Shares and any other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal, have been deposited with an Eligible Institution, (ii) prior to the Expiration Date either the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent has received a telegram, factimile transmission or letter from such Eligible Institution setting forth the name and address of the stockholder and the number of Shares tensetting forth the name and address of the stockholder and the number of Shares ten-dered and stating that the tender is being made thereby and that, within eight business days after the date of such telegram, facsimils transmission or letter, the Letter of Transmittal, together with the certificates and any other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal, will be deposited by such Eligible Institution with the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent and (iii) such Letter of Transmittal, certificates for all ten-dered Shares and other documents are received by the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent within eight business days after the date of such telegram, facsimile transmission or letter.

In all cases, payment for Shares tendered and purchased pursuant to the Offer will be made only after receipt of the certificates therefor and any other required documents by the Depositary.

The Offer will constitute an agreement between the tendering stockholder and the Purchaser, upon the terms and subject to the conditions of the Offer, only upon timely receipt by the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent of (i) a Letter of Transmittal ac-companied by the certificates for the Shares specified and any other documents required thereby, or (ii) a Letter of Transmittal containing a guaranty by an Eligible Institution or a telegram, facsimile transmission or letter from an Eligible Institution as pro-rided above. or a telegral vided above.

By executing the Letter of Transmittal as set forth above, the tendering stockholder irrevocably appoints designees of the Furchaser as proxies, to the extent of said stockholder's rights with respect to the Shares tendered by such stockholder and purchased by the Purchaser and any and all other shares of capital stock or other securities issued or issuable in respect of such Shares and purchased hereunder. Such appointment is effective upon purchase of such Shares by the Purchaser. Upon such purchase, all prior proxies given by such stockholder will be revoked. Such designees will be empowered to exercise all voting and other rights of such stockholder as filey in their discretion may deem proper in respect of any meeting (whether annual or special and whether or not an adjourned meeting) of the Company or otherwise.

All questions as to the validity, form, eligibility (incloding time of receipt) and acceptance of any tender of Shares will be determined by the Purchaser, which deter-mination shall be final and binding. The Purchaser reserves the absolute right to reject any and all tenders not in proper form or the payment for which would, in the opinion of the Purchaser's counsel, be unlawful or to waive any of the conditions of the Offer or any defect or irregularity in the tender of any Shares, and the Purchaser's interpre-tation of the terms and conditions of the Offer (including the Letter of Transmittal and the instructions thereto) will be final. Neither the Purchaser nor the Depositary or the Forwarding Assett shall be index and due to first structure or the Depositary nor the Forwarding Agent shall be under any duty to give notification of any defects or irregularities in tenders or shall incur any liability for failure to give such notification.

Share Prices. The Shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The follow-ing table (which, for all figures through the third quarter of 1975, is based oo infor-mation set forth in a Prospectus of the Company dated October 24, 1975, and for all figures thereafter is based on information reported by The Wall Street Journal) sets forth the high and low sales prices for the periods indicated of the Company's Com-mon Stock on the American Stock Exchange from 1971 until May 22, 1974, on the New York Stock Exchange thromas the sale of the Company's Com-New York Stock Exchange thereafter through January 23, 1976 and on the composite tape thereafter. Prices have been adjusted for a 4% stock dividend paid in March 1972, and a 3% stock dividend paid in May 1973, and a 3% stock dividend paid in January 1975.

Oo September 21, 1976, the last trading day before the announcement of the Offer, the reported high sale price on the composite tape was $50 and the low price was $49. Stockholders are urged to obtain a current quotation for the Shares.

General Availability of Information about the Company, The Company is pre-sently subject to the informational filing requirements of the Securities Exchange Ad of 1934 and in accordance therewith is obligated to file reports and other information with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") relating to in business, financial statements and other matters. Information, as of particular dates, concerning the Company's directors and officers, their remuneration, options granted to them, the principal holders of the Company's securities and any material interest of methors in transactions with the Company's scouries and any material interest of such persons in transactions with the Company is required to be disclosed in proxy statements distributed to the Company's stockholders and filed with the Commission Such reports, proxy statements and other information may be inspected at the Com-mission's office in Room 6101, 1100 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20549 and copies may be obtained upon payment of the Commission's customary charges by writing to the Commission's principal office at 500 North Capitol Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20349. Such material also should be available for inspection at the lineary of the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., 20 Broad Street, New York, New York 10005.

Reduction of Outstanding Shares and Possible Delisting. The purchase of shares by the Purchaser will reduce the number of Shares that might otherwise trade publicly and, depending upon the number of Shares so purchased, could adversely affect the liquidity and market value of the remaining Shares held by the public. In addition, it is possible that, depending upon the number of Shares purchased pursuant to the Offer, the Shares may no longer meet the requirements of the New York Stock Er-change for continued listing. Published guidelines of the New York Stock Exchange indicate that such Exchange would consider delisting the Shares if the number of publicly held Shares were less than 600,000 or if there were fewer than 1,200 halders of 100 or more Shares (round lot holders) or if the market value of the publicly held Initiated held Shares were less than 600,000 or if there were fewer than 1,200 holders of 100 or more Shares (round lot holders) or if the market value of the publicly held Shares did not exceed $5,000,000. The Company bas reported approximately 3,976 holders of record of Shares as of January 30, 1976 and 3,146,133 Shares outstanding as of June 30, 1976. If such criteria were no longer met and the New York Stock Exchange were to delist the Shares, it is possible that the Shares would be reported by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., through NASDAQ, or by other sources. The availability of such quotations would depend upon the number of stockholders remaining at such time, the interest in maintaining a market in the Shares on the part of brokerage houses and other factors. Depending on similar factors, the Shares might no longer constitute a "margin security" for purposes of fewer than 300 stockholders of record following consummation of the Offer, rep-tration under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 may be terminated. Anown to the Purchaser. More than one year ago Mr. Frederic C. Hamilton, Chairman of the Board of the Purchaser, held an initial meeting with the President of the Company to discuss the possibility of a combination of the Company with the Purchaser. The Company expressed no interest in exploring the possibility of any such transaction until June 1976. A meeting was held in June 1976 and another meeting in July 1976 between Mr. Hamilton and management of the Company. Such discussions did not result in any agreement regarding a combination of the company to the other, consisting, as to the Company, of publicly available documents and certain non-public information as discussed below. The principal items of such non-public information were a forecast of income of the Company for 1976 and a statement that the oll and gas reserves of the Company were still substantially the same as set forth in a Prospectus of the Company dated October 24, 1975. The Purchaser is not necessarily in a position to evaluate the materiality of such information or the correctness thereof. The Company be Purchaser and described in this Section and certain of such information may not be of the type normally considered appropriate for public release by a public com-many. The Purchaser believes that such forecast was prepared on the assumption that the Fulcture of the value of the sale of such properties is on an all cash basis in the artiy cash and partly debt, as was originally announced by the Company; as stated over, the final agreement for the sale of such properties is on an all cash basis in the nount of $45,000,000.

The Company also furnished to the Purchaser a letter dated August 20, 1976 the effect that the oil and gas reserves of the Company were still substantially the me as set forth in a Prospectus of the Company dated October 24, 1975. Such ospectus stated as follows:

be required for the acquisition of Shares by the Purchaser as contemplated herein. Should any such approval or action be required, it will be sought, but there is no present intent to delay the purchase of Shares tendered pursuant to the Offer pending the outcome of any such matter. There is no assurance that any such approval or action, if needed, would be obtained, or that adverse consequences might not result to the Company's business, or that cartain parts of the Company's business might not have to be disposed of, if such approvals were not obtained.

Based on a preliminary review of the Company's business, the Purchaser bas found no reason to belive that acquisition by it of the Shares, or any subsequent combining of the Company with the Purchaser or an affiliate of the Purchaser, will violate the antitust laws. The Offer has not been submitted for review by the Antitust Division of the Department of Justice or the Federal Trade Commission.

6. Certain Information Concerning the Purchaser, The Purchaser is an indirectly held wholly owned subsidiary of Hamilton Brothers Petroleum Corporation (which, together with its wholly owned subsidiaries, is herein sometimes referred to as the "Parent"). The Purchaser was recently incorporated under the laws of Delaware for the purpose of making the Offer and acquiring the Shares. The Purchaser is nom-inally capitalized and presently conducts no business. The Parent is an international oil and gas exploration and production company that began operations in 1969. At the present time its producing properties are located principally in Canada, the North Sea and the United States. In its exploratory activities, the Parent joint ventures with its partly owhed subsidiary Hamilton Brothers Exploration Company and with its af-biliste. Hamilton Brothers Oil Company and with its af-Bilate, Hamilton Brothers Oil Company and certain of its affiliates. Each year the participants form an exploration joint venture with each participant owning all prop-erty interests acquired during a calendar year in accordance with its interest in that year's exploration joint venture.

The names, business addresses and principal occupations of the offices and di-rectors of the Purchaser, of its immediate parent, Hamilton Brothers Oil and Gas Corporation, and of the Parent are set forth in Exhibit A hereto. Messrs, Frederic C. Hamilton and Ferris F. Hamilton each own 1,465,343 shares of Class A Stock of the Barret Parent are set for the parent of the parent o Parent, constituting an aggregate of approximately 47% of the voting power of the outstanding stock of the Parent. Messre. Hamilton may be deemed to be controlling stockholders of the Parent and the Purchaser.

Neither the Parent nor the Purchaser nor any of their subsidiaries or affiliates nor, to the best of the knowledge of the Parent and the Purchaser, any director or officer of the Parent or the Purchaser or their associates beneficially owns, nor has any right to acquire, directly or indirectly, any Shares, except that Mr. Frederic C. Hamilton, Chairman of the Board of the Parent and President of the Purchaser, is a trustee and beneficiary of a trust which holds 1,000 shares, and that children of Mr. Robert G. beneficiary of a trust which holds 1,000 shares, and that children of Mr. Robert G. Stone, Jr., a Director of the Parent, own an aggregate of 636 shares. No transactions in the Shares were entered into during the past 60 days by or for the account of the Purchaser or the Parent or any of their subsidiaries or affiliates or, to the best of the Purchaser's knowledge, by or for the account of any of their officers or directors or affiliates nor, to the best knowledge of the Purchaser, any of their officers or directors has any contract, arrangement or understanding with any person with respect to any securities of the Company, including but not limited to transfers of any securities of the Company, joint ventures, loan or option arrangements, puts or calls, guarantees of loans, guarantees against loss or guarantees of profits, division of losses or profits, or the giving or withholding of proxies, except as set forth in Section 7 "Source and Amount of Funds." For information as to prior discussions between the Purchaser and the Company, see Section 5 "Certain Information Concerning the Shares and the Com-pany." Except for a small investment in one non-producing leasehold in which the Company also has an interest, the Purchaser does not, to its hest knowledge, participate with the Company in any property or project.

7. Source and Amount of Funds. The Purchaser intends to finance the entire cost of the purchase of the Shares through bank borrowings, but the Purchaser may also use some of its own funds. If all of the 1,500,000 Shares which are the subject of this Offer are purchased, the price to be paid by the Purchaser plos related fees and expenses will be approximately $92,750,000. The Purchaser has obtained a commit-ment pursuant to which two banks will furnish to the Purchaser, funds to a maximum of $175,000,000, subject to completion of this Offer and various conditions, of the commitment period balance. Borrowings under the commitment may be used initially commitment as noted below. Borrowings under the commitment may be used initially for the purchase of Shares and payment of expenses of the Offer and after completion of the Offer for further purchases of Shares and/or any other transactions for combining the Company with the Purchaser or a wholly owned subsidiary thereof. The Purchaser may seek additional financing.

The commitment provides for loans on the following basis: Borrowings under the commitment may be made until December 31, 1977 and are required to be repaid in 26 substantially, equal quarterly installments commencing July 1, 1977 and with the last installment due on October 1, 1983. The Purchaser may elect to borrow either domestic U.S. dollars or Eurodollars. Interest will be payable quarterly at an annual rate, in the case of Eurodollar loans, equal to the London-U.S. Dollar Interbank, Offering Rate for the maturities as determined by the principal lending bank (the "Bank") during the term of the loans plus 134 % per annum (112 % per annum 25 to the first $130,000,000 of such loans for the first four years of the term of the loans). In the case of domestic U.S. dollar loans, interest will be payable quarterly at the annual rate of 125% of the Bank's prime rate (or, if elected by the Purchaser on or before the date of the initial borrowing, 11212% of such prime rate plus compensa-ting balances in an amount equal to 10% of such loans, $130,000,000 thereof will be at the annual interest rate of 12216% of such prime rate (or, if elected by the Purchaser in balances in an anount equal to 10% of such loans, $130,000,000 thereof will be at the annual interest rate of 12212% of such prime rate (or, if elected by the Purchaser ting balances in all amount equal to 10% of such loars, except that for the inst four years of the term of the loans, interest on the first $130,000,000 thereof will be at the annual interest rate of 122½% of such prime rate (or, if elected by the Purchaser on or before the date of the initial borrowing, 116% thereof plus compensating balances in an amount equal to 10% of such loans). The Purchaser has agreed to pay a standby fee ou the unused portion of the commitment at the rate of ½ of 1% per annum until December 31, 1977 and has paid a commitment fee of ½ of 1% per annum until December 31, 1977 and has paid a commitment fee of ½ of 1% of the total amount committed by the banks. The Purchaser has algoed to pay a manager's fee to the Bank of up to $100,000 and to reimburse it for certain expenses. The Purchaser will have the right to prepay, without penalty, all or any part of the loans at any time in the case of domestic U.S. loans or on the last day of an interest deter-mination period in the case of Eurodollar loans. The amount of the loans in excess of the first $130,000,000 thereof will be subject to mandatory prepayment on December 31, 1978, unless the Company shall have theretofore been merged or otherwise com-bined with the Furchaser (or a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Purchaser) or liquidated and the Bank shall have been provided with additional security acceptable to it. See Section 8 "Purpose of the Offer". The loans will be guaranteed by the Parent and be secured by the following: a pledge of all of the Parent's producing oil and gas property interests in Canada and the United States, a pledge of all of the capital stock of a subsidiary holding the eights to receive production from the Parent's interest in the producing Argyll field in the United Kingdom Sector of the Noth Sea and an assignment, subject to appropriate governmental elegrance, by such subsidiary of the assignment, subject to appropriate governmental elearance, by such subsidiary of the proceeds from the sale of such production. In addition, it is contemplated that a portion of the loans may be secured by a pledge of Shares acquired by the Purchaser subject to compliance with applicablo margin rules.

equitable to the stockholders of both the Company and Purchaser and would be based noon such factors as are appropriate under conditions prevailing at the time. Any such merger would be subject to a vote of stockholders of the Company (unless the Purchaser acquires at least 90% of the outstanding Shares, in which case it would have the right to cause such a merger without calling a stockholders meeting to vote on such merger); if the Purchaser acquires at least two-thirds of the outstanding Shares, the votes of such Shares will he sufficient to approve such a merger without the votes of other stockholders. The Purchaser believes that under the Totas Business Corpora-tion Act, in the event of a merger or consolidation with, or a sale, lease, exchange or other disposition of all or substantially all of the Company's assets to, the Purchaser or any other person, the holders of Shares would have the right to elect to receive the appraised "fair value" of their Shares in lieu of the cash, securities or other property otherwise issuable to them under the terms of such transaction.

The Purchaser believes that a combination of the Company and the Purchaser would be desirable as it would result in a larger economic entity with a more balanced geographical distribution of oil and gas properties which would be able to compete more effectively in the industry. Depending upon the number of Shares purchased pursuant to the Offer, complete acquisition of the Company after the conclusion of the Offer may also be important to the Purchaser so as to make the assets of the Company available to help service the bank indebtedness being incurred by the Purchaser (see Station 7 "Shares and Amount of Funder") and on at a diminate motential coefficience Section 7 "Source and Amount of Funds") and so as to eliminate potential conflicts of interest between the business of the Company and the business of the Purchaser and its subsidiaries and affiliates as discussed below. The Purchaser might also obtain income tax benefits if any such transaction should result in an increased tax basis for the assets of the Company.

If the Purchaser should acquire Shares representing more than 331/3 % of the total number of Shares outstanding, it would be in a position, by reason of provisions of the Texas Business Corporation Act, to prevent the Company from (i) consummating mergers or consolidations, (ii) selling, leasing, exchanging or otherwise disposing of all or substantially all of its assets (other than in the ordinary course of its business) or (iii) dissolving. The Purchaser would be in a position, by reason of the provisions of the Texas Purchaser would be in a position, by reason of the provisions or (iii) dissolving. The Furchaser would be in a position, by reason of the provisions of the Texas Business Corporation Act, to cause the Company to take any of such actions if it should acquire Shares representing 66%% of the total number of Shares outstanding. Based upon the Company's 10-Q Report for the period ended June 30, 1976 and assuming that no Shares are issued upon exercise of stock options or other-wise, the Purchaser helieves that the smallest number of Shares which would represent more than 33%% of the number of Shares outstanding at June 30, 1976, would be 1,048,711, and that the smallest number of Shares which would represent 66%% of he total number of Shares outstanding at that date would be 2,097,422,

The notes to the consolidated financial statements of the Company at December 31, 1975 included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K indicate that while certain long term debt of the Company (approximately $12,000,000 at December 31, 1975) remains outstanding, the Company is prohibited, among other matters, without the prior eonsent of the leaders, from merging or consolidating with other corporations where the Company is not the surviving corporation or changing its top management or normal course of business. Whether the leaders would consent to proposals of the Purchaser cannot be predicted nor what action, if any, the Purchaser will propose if the leaders do not consent. the lenders do pot con

Because both the Company and the Purchaser and its subsidiaries and affiliates Because both the Company and the Purchaser and its subsidiaries and affiliates are engaged in oil and gas exploration activities, until complete acquisition of the Company by the Purchaser has been accomplished, if management of the Purchaser participates in management of the Company, such management may have conflicts of interest with respect to duties to the Company, to the Purchaser and to affiliates of the Purchaser, particularly with respect to seeking acquisition of additional oil and gas properties for exploration purposes. In view of such potential conflicts of interest, it is the present intention of the Purchaser, so long as completion of the acquisition of the Company hy the Purchaser has not been accomplished, to maintain in the Company a separate staff which functions with respect to evaluation and acquisition of oil and gas properties for exploration purposes. Such intention, however, is subject to change and may be affected by review of the operations of the Company by personnel of the Purchaser after completion of this Offer. Purchaser after completion of this Offer.

Except as set forth herein, the Purchaser has no present intention with respect to Integr as set form match, the Parchaset has no present mitching with respect to liquidation of the Company, sale of its assets or its merger with any other person or the making of any other major changes in its business or corporate structure or man-agement. The Purchaser nevertheless reserves the right at some future date to make such changes or to propose major transactions affecting the Company and decisions in this respect may be affected by the Purchaser's review of the Company's operations after completion of this Offer. The Purchaser also reserves the right to acquire addi-tional Charge following extinction of the Offer through prime prime purchaser additional Shares following expiration of the Offer through private purchases, market trans-actions or otherwise on terms and at prices determined by it which may be more or less favorable than those of the Offer or to dispose of any or all of the Shares acquired by the Purchaser. There are substantial restrictions on any such dispositions pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 and Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the rules and regulations thereunder

9. Dividends and Distributions. If the Company should declare any dividend or distribution or issue any rights with respect to the Shares, which are payable to bolders of record determined as of a date prior to the transfer to the name of the Purchaser, on the stock transfer records of the Company of the Shares purchased pursuant to the Offer, then (a) the purchase price per Share payable by the Purchaser pursuant to the Offer, may be reduced by the amount of any cash dividends; and (b) the gross amount of any other such distributions or rights may be required to be remitted by the tendering stockholders to the Depositary or to the Forwarding Agent for forwarding to the Depositary for the account of the Purchaser, and pending such remittence or appropriate assurance thereof, the Purchaser may withhold the purchase price or deduct from the purchase price the amount or value of such other distributions or rights as to any Shares purchased by the Purchaser but not transferred to the name of the Purchaser prior to the record date thereof. If, during the pendency of the Offer, the Company should split the Shares one combine or or otherwise chances, subject to Section 12 hereof, the Purchaser may make appropriate adjustment in the purchase price, the number of Shares offered to be purchased, the fees payable and other terms of the Offer. In this connection, see the recent newspaper article quoted in Section 5 "Certain Information Concerning the Shares and the Company—Business of the Company" above for information areading a recently announced two-for-one stock apit of the Shares proposed by the Company for the Shares proposed by the Company s Board of Directors.

The closing of such loans is subject to the satisfaction of appropriate conditions for such loans, including the execution of a satisfactory loan agreement and appro-priate security documents and the completion of recordings and filings relating to the security documents, the receipt of favorable opinions of counsel for the Purchaser and the Bank, including an opinion as to the effectiveness of the security documents, the absence of litigation which, if determined adversely, would have a material adverse effect on the ability of the Furchaser to repay the loans, the accuracy of the Pur-chaser's warrantics and representations and certain other matters usual to bank loan agreements. The loan agreement will impose various restrictions on the Purchaser if agreements. The loan agreement will impose various restrictions on the Purchaser if the borrowings thereunder exceed approximately $150,000,000, meinding restrictions relating to additional indebtedness, working capital, dividends and purchases of re-demptions of securities, certain mergers or comolidations, capital expenditures, dis-position or encumbrance of assets and other matters.

The Purchaser plans to repay the loans for the purchase of 1,500,000 Shares with funds generated in the course of its business, but if and when the Company is merged or otherwise combined with the Purchaser (or a wholly owned subsidiary of the Purchaser) or liquidated, the combined assets will be available for deht service. If the Purchaser) or liquidated, the combined assets will be available for deht service. If the funds required for the purchase of the Shares and costs related thereto exceed approx-imately $130,000,000 (which would involve the purchase of approximately 2,115,000 Shares or approximately 6676% of the presently outstanding Shares), the Purchaser may not, if a merger or combination with or liquidation of the Company is not accomplished, have sufficient cash flow to repay the loan under the terms presently provided in the commitment. If sufficient cash flow were not generated by the Por-chaser, it would be obligated to seak alternate means to handle its deht service. Such means might include modification of the terms of the loan agreement, addional financing sale of Shares of the Company purchased in the Offer or other assets of the Purchaser, or sale of equity securities of the Parent. No assurance can be given that any such alternate means would be obtainable or, if obtainable, that the terms thereof would be favorable. See Section 8 "Purpose of the Offer".

8. Purpose of the Offer. The Purchaser is seeking effective control of the Com-pany and ultimately a combination of the Company with the Purchaser or the Parent. If the Purchaser acquires any Shares pursuant to the Offer, the Purchaser presently intends, irrespective of the fact that the Company has held its 1976 Annual Meeting for the election of directors, to seek representation on the Company's Board of Direc-tors, and, depending upon such working relationship as may develop with present management of the Company, the Purchaser may seek the maximum representation on the Company's Board of Directors as ownership of such Shares would warrent or permit, including control of the Board of Directors. In this connection Purchaser may request the Company, to or the Purchaser itself may call a special meeting of permit, including control of the Board of Directors. In this connection Purchaser may request the Company to or the Purchaser itself may call a special meeting of stockholders for such purpose. The Purchaser understands that the Texas Business Corporation Act provides for the calling of a special meeting of stockholders by the holder of 10% or more of the outstanding stock of a Texas corporation. If the Pur-chaser acquires more than 50% of the outstanding shares, it will be in a position to elect all the directors of the Company, and the remaining stockholders of the Company will not be ablo to elect any directors. The Purchaser has not discussed with the Company whether any of its directors and officers will wish to retain their positions upon completion of the Offer, and it has not determined whether it would attempt to replace some or all of such persons, except that the Purchaser may seek to obtain control of the Board of Directors of the Company.

Upon completion of the Offer, the Purchaser intends to consider what action, if any, it may wish to take with respect to the remaining Shares. Among other things, the Purchaser may propose a merger or other combination between the Purchaser (or a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Purchaser) and the Company or a liquidation of the Company. Any such merger or combination might be on terms more attractive or less attractive than the Offer, including, without limitation, a higher or lower price or the pay-ment of cash or the issuance of debt or equity securities or any combination thereof in exchange for Shares. There can, of course, be no assurance that any such trans-action will be proposed by the Purchaser or consummated, or, if such were proposed, what the terms thereof would be or whether such transaction would be taxable or non-taxable to holders of Shares (see Section 3 "Payment of Purchase Price; Tax Consequences"), but the Purchaser intends that any such terms would be fair and

10. Solicitation and Other Fres. The Purchaser will pay to any broker or dealer (including the Dealer Manager referred to below) which is a member of a registered national securities exchange or of the Nanonal Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., or to any foreign broker or dealer which agrees, in making solicitations in the United States, to conform to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the Rules of Pair Practice of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. to the same extent as though it were a member thereof, or to any commercial bank or trust company ("Soliciting Dealer"), the name of which appears in the appropriate space in a Letter of Transmittal and which bas solicited the tender to which such Letter of Transmittal relates, a solicitation fee of 50.85 for each Share purchased pursuant to the Offer and covered by such Letter of Transmittal (subject to adjustment in certain events as provided in Section 9). No such fee will be paid in respect of Shares tendered by a Soliciting Dealer for its own account unless beneficial ownership thereof was acquired by such Soliciting Dealer in the performance of arbitrage functions. No Solieiting Dealer shall be the agent of the Purchaser, the Dealer Manager, the Depositary or the Forwarding Agent for the purpose of the Offer. purpose of the Offer.

Dillon, Read & Co. Inc. is acting as Dealer Manager in connection with the Offer and has acted as financial adviser to the Purchaser in connection with certain matters concerning the Offer. The Purchaser has agreed to pay the Dealer Manager (in addition to any fees it may receive as a Soliciting Dealer) a fee equal to $0.20 for each Share purchased hereunder, but such fee will not aggregate less than $150,000 even if no Shares are purchased. The Dealer Manager will be reimbursed by the Purchaser for its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses, including reasonable counsel fees. The Pur-chaser has agreed to indemnify the Dealer Manager against certain liabilities and expenses in connection with the Offer.

--- The Depositary and the Forwarding Agent will each receivo reasonable and customary compensation from the Purchaser for services relating to the Offer and will be reimbursed for certain out-of-pocket expenses in connection therewith.

11. Extension of Tender Period; Termination; Amendments. The Purchaser re-serves the right, at any time and from time to time, to extend the period of time during which the Offer is open by giving oral or written notice of such extension to the Depositary. The Purchaser reserves the right to terminate the Offer and not to pur-Depositary. The Furchaser reserves the right to terminate the other and not to put-chase or pay for any Shares not theretofore purchased or paid for upon the occurrence. of any of the conditions specified in Section 12 "Certain Conditions of the Offer", by giving oral or written notice of such termination to the Depositary. Any such exten-sion or termination will be followed as promptly as practicable by public announcement thereof. .

12. Certain Conditions of the Offer. The Purchaser shall not be required to pur-chase or may for any Shares tendered and may delay acceptance of the Shares tendered and/or antend or terminate the Offer if, prior to the time of payment for such Shares:

(a) there shall be threatened, instituted or pending any action or proceeding before any court or governmental agency, by any governmental agency or any other person, domestic or foreign, challenging the acquisition by the Purchaser of any Shares or otherwise directly or indirectly relating to the Offer and affecting the Purchaser or the Company or any of their respective subsidiaries or affiliates;

(h) there shall have been any action taken by any government or governmental agency, domestic or foreign, rendering the Purchaser unable to purchase or pay for the Shares or making such purchase or payment illegal;

(c) any change shall occur or he threatened in the business, financial condition, operations or results of operations of the Company and its subsidiaries taken as a whole, or of the Parent and the Parent's subsidiaries taken as a whole, which, in the sole judgment of the Purchaser, is or may be materially adverse, or the Purchaser shall have become aware of any presently existing facts which, in the sole judgment of the Purchaser, have or may have material adverse significance with respect to the value of the Shares;

(d) there shall occur (i) any general suspension of, or limitation on prices for trading in securities ou the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., (ii) a declaration of a banking moratorium by United States or New York authorities, or (iii) a commencement of a war, armed hostilities or other international or national calamity directly or indirectly involving the United States;

(o) except for the recently announced two-for-one stock split and increase in the anthorized number of Shares and the change of state of incorporation proposed by the Company's Board of Directors (see Section 5 above), the Company shall have (i) issued, or authorized or proposed the issuance of; additional shares of capital stock of any class or securities convertible into, or rights, warrants or options to acquire, any such shares or other convertible securities, other than Shares issued upon the exercise of stock options or the conversion of securities outstanding on the date hereof, (ii) issued, or authorized or proposed the issuance of, any other securities in respect of, in lieu of, or in substitution for its Shares outstanding on the date bereof, or (iii) authorized or proposed or announced its intention to propose any merger, consolidation, acquisition of assets, disposition of assets or material change in its capitalization, or any comparable event, not in the ordinary course of business;

(f) a tender or exchange offer for some or all of the Shares is made, or publicly proposed to be made, or a merger or other husiness combination including the Company is proposed to be made, by a person other than the Purchaser; or

(g) any state or Federal statute, rule or regulation shall have been proposed or enacted which, in the sole judgment of the Purchaser, would or might prohibit, restrict or delay consummation of the Offer; and, in the sole judgment of the Purchaser in any such case, and regardless of the circumstances (including any action by the Purchaser) giving rise to any such condition, such condition makes it inadvisable to proceed with such purchase or payment.

The foregoing conditions are for the sole benefit of the Purchaser and may be waived by the Purchaser in whole or in part. Any determination by the Purchaser con-cerning the events described in this Section shall be final and binding upon all parties.

13. Miscelismoons. The Offer is not being made to, nor will tenders be accepted from, holders of Shares residing in any jurisdiction in the United States or in any other jurisdiction in which the making or acceptance thereof would not be in compliance with the securities or blue sky laws of such jurisdiction. In any jurisdiction where the secur-ties or blue sky laws require the Offer to be made by a licensed broker or dealer, the Offer shall be deemed to be made on behalf of the Purchaser by one or more regis-tered brokers or dealers which are licensed under the laws of such jurisdiction.

The Pitrchaser has filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a statement on Schedule 13D pursuant to Rule 14d-1 of the General Rules and Regulations under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 furnishing certain additional information with respect to the Offer. Such statement may be examined and copies may be obtained at the same places and in the same manner as set forth with respect to the Company in Section 5. Section 5

No soliciting dealer or other person has been authorized to give any information or make any representation on behalf of the Purchaser other than as contained in this Offer to Purchase and in the Letter of Transmittal and, if given or made, such informa-tion or representation must not be relied upon as having been authorized.

Simon Presents Burns of Reserve WithTreasury's Highest Honor

Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon broke with precedent yesterday and awarded the Treasury's highest honor, the Alexander Hamilton award, to Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

The award is normally limited to Treasury employees. Mr. Simon, who sought to keep the award a surprise, lured Dr. Burns to the Treasury late yesterday afternoon, ostensihly to-discuss issues involving gold in advance of the annual meeting in Manila of the International Monetary Fund.

Fears that the economic recovery in the United States "is running out of steam are unfounded and exaggerated," according to a leading American banker.

Gabriel Hauge, chairman of the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company, said at a news conference yesterday in London that significant corporate spending "should add to the strength of the United States recovery hy early 1977."

Mr. Hauge said that the healthy increase in orders for machinery over the last several months and reports in the second quarter of strong increases in capital appropriations supported this

He stressed that the groundwork was being laid now for a "long-term, well-balanced expansion that could last well into 1978."

Thomas P. Mullaney, who for the last six years has been president and chief executive officer of Wilson Sporting Goods, a division of PepsiCo, has been elected president of Dart Indus-tries effective Nov. 1. He succeeds Gary A. Childress, 42 years old, who resigned as president of the private crop reports, many billions of dollars may be at stake in the commodity and food markets and many important economic and political decisions may be based on them, but that realization doesn't faze the dapper, soft-spoken, 53-year-old forecaster.

Seated behind his 10-foot, reportladen desk, frequently fielding calls on six telephones and constantly monitoring the dozen closed-circuit television screens reporting crop prices and charts facing him, Mr. Leslie gave his view of the crop-forecaster's role.

"These estimates," he remarked "are all done for information purposes and to enable our free markets to operate as efficiently as they do. They help every one-farmers, Government of-ficials, traders, transportation people and the numerous companies involved in the business of food and farm products-to respond to the latest crop conditions."

• • In his most recent crop forecast on Sept. 7 which correctly predicted the size of the declines indicated in a slightly later Department of Agriculture re-port for this year's near-record corn and soybean crops, Mr. Leslie stressed the effect of inadequate moisture on this year's harvest of those two key crops and the potential problem for next year. In his typical, succinct and colorful way, he commented: "It is difficult to recall a Sept. I (the latest crop-estimate date) when the shortage of moisture was so pronounced and widespread. Unless abnormal moisture appears this fall, or in the spring, next year's crops are likely to be seeded under a very im-portant handicap. If one were a pessimist, reflecting about the possible broad economic ramifications from such a background could make one turn to booze. Is it time to start thinking about a dry 1977 America?"

His latest reports from Illinois, Iowa,

Missouri, Kansas, Nehraska, Minnes and Oklahoma, the leading products states for corn, soyheans and whe indicate a severe shortage of moist in 75 to 100 percent of the countier the various farm belt states.

"The cycles of sunspots," Mr. Les said, "suggest we are getting abaum weather patterns in the worki. Man changing the atmosphere, too. waste is going into the oceans, man is creating more dust by extent his land under cultivation. Today. a result, we have a lack of suffici moisture reserves for American a cultural production. Unless there s return to normalcy in moisture a buildup in moisture reserves r next six months, it will greatly all farm and general economic condition

This year's estimates have been d rect in predicting another set of burn crops, though the forecasts have b progressively reduced because c drought conditions. Mr. Leslie sur United States will have a big sur wheat crop this year, but "product of corn and soybeans has been refao the point of balance between plies and demands for next year All of this is producing mixed by ings. Because of the reduced com farmers have been marketing more stock in 1976, causing prices to d But prices for meat appear to be ed higher next year as feed sur dwindle and herds become thims

The crop situation here and 20 will also determine the volution united States farm exports, which been one of the nation's most in tant elements in its foreign-trade ture, running at a $22-hillion 12 recent years.

But the nation's authoritative P crop forecaster strikes a calmer for the future. "We don't wan!" alarmed and nervous beyond the term." he said, "because we migenough rain."

Mr. Sportk added that sales for the latest quarter were between $110 mil-lion and $111 million, but because of the watch problems, the consumer products had experienced a loss in the first matter first quarter.

He said that the watch assembly problems had been completely solved and that sales for all of the 1977 fiscal year would improve from a year earlier. In its first quarter last year, the company earned $5.2 million, or 40 cents a share, on sales of $82.4 million. In all of last, year, it earned $19 mil-lion, or $1.44 a share, on sales of $325.1 million.

Firestone Plans Outlays Of $275 Million in '77

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Com-pany will spead about $275 million on capital projects in 1977 with emphasis on non-tire operations, Richard A. Riley, its president, told the Society of Financial Analysis of the Society of Financial Analysis of St. Louis. He noted that capital spending this year would be about $170 million, substantially lower than planned because of a recent four-month strike.

Mr. Riley, who will become Fire-stone's chairman Oct. 1, commented that the company had enough capacity to meet tire-market growth for the pext several years and is not intend-ing to de-emphasize its tire business. However, he noted the commission and However, he noted, the company'a non-tire sales last year amounted to $700 million, or 20 percent of total sales.

invlated deficit to $5.055 billion. For the city's total deficit as of the current moment, one must add the deficit incurred in the 1975-76 fiscal year, which had been estimated at about $1 billion. The official figure is to be disclosed next week. The deficit for the current fiscal year is estimated at $686 million. The deficit next year is supposed to be zero, as long as the city adheres to Federal and state law in meeting its three-year financial plan of cuts and other savings.

G.M. Pushes Lighter Full-Size Car

By PHILIP H. DOUGHERTY

The big challenge for General Motors and its ad agencies this year is convincing the American consumer that smal-ler, lighter full-sized cars are worth more than the old full-sized, or standard, models.

The corporation began its argument last Sunday in an eight-page insert in Sunday newspaper supplements that ran in 400 newspapers with a total circulation of 50 million. It was a corporate effort that did not affect the budgets of the divisions, nor did it actually show the new models. But it did make a pitch for the comfort and roominess of the new cars, their styling and their improved mileage.

The first divisional advertising, with the exception of Cadillac's, which has already broken, will appear this Sun-day on television with the actual Chev-rolets, Buicks, Pontacs and Oldsmobles going on view in showrooms on bites going on view in showrooms on Thursday. Most of the divisions will continue with their old advertising themes. Cadillac, however, has a new one "The new generation of luxury car," and so does Chevy, "Now that's more like it." At G.M. the only cars affected this year by the new think-small philosophy are the full-sized, or standard, models. They make up some 20 percent of the total industry's unit sales. In a telephone interview yesterday Gail Smith, corporate director of adver-tising and merchandising (and the man tising and merchandising (and the man with the broad overview), said, "Every-body is excited" about the new models both inside and outside the company. .

Mr. Smith said that the divisions were not planning any particularly dif-ferent media use for the introduction of the 1977 models but that they would be allocating a greater portion of their budgets to the introduction quarter.

During last year, he said, about 50 percent of the divisional budgets went into network television and with the into network television and with the exception of a partial sponsorship by Chevrolet of college football most of the advertising ran in prime-time fami-ly-type programming. In addition to network television the divisions use spot TV, radio, news-papers, outdoor and magazines. The eightprage insert that ran last Sunday eight-page insert that ran last Sunday will be condensed to four pages and will run next month in a select list of national magazines, which includes the three newsweeklies and Sports IIinstrated. Mr. Smith said, because they are usually respected for their knowledge by their friends and neighbors who frequently seek their advice on new-car buying. Asked if any of the divisional promotion efforts would include comparative advertising-comparing a G.M. product to a competitor's by name-Mr. Smith said, no; they are all to be promoted for their own consumer benefits.

The only reason G.M. even lowered the barriers to such advertising last year, he said, was to allow its Chevette to take on some specific imports. This year it's back to the kid gloves.

Business Screen Sold

Business Screen Magazine, a bi-monthly with 12,000 circulation, ac-quired last year from Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich by the REM Corporation, bas been sold to Back Stage Publications

Back stage says that it will change the 38-year-old Business Screen to a monthly and besides sending it to its regular subscribers also insert it into Back Stage magazine as a regular fea-ture. That will increase the Business Screen circulation to 30,000 bnt, "there will be no immediate hike in advertising rates."

Public Relations Tie

The Public Relations Society of America and the National Communication Council for Human Services plan to consolidate their memberships. The latter organization was previously known as the National Public Relations Council of Health and Welfare Serv-ices. The plan calls for all of its mem-bers to become P.R.S.A. members.

The Wrong Toothpaste The supreme embarrassment: In the interview with David R. Foster, Chair-man of Colgate-Palmolive, that appeared bere yesterday, one of his tooth-paste brands was identified as Close-up when it should have been Ultra-Brite. Close-up is a product of Lever Broth-ers, you should excuse the expression. New BBDO Shop

BBDO International said yesterday it was setting up a new agency in Mex-ico City in which it would have a 40 percent interest, Billings of the shop will be some $1.S million and BBDO's four partners will be former employees of the Mexican subsidiary of Needham, Harper & Steers.

Team Has Losing Streak To Thievery

By ARTHUR PINCUS While such famous graduates of George Washington High. School as Heory Rissinger and Rod Carew pur-sue such goals as peace treaties and American League batting titles: Sam Rutiferford (Class of '27) has a simpler aim: :He .would like to High have enough equipment. School to finish this football season. Last weekend the locker room at the upper Sports. Manhattan school was broken into and for the secood was carted away. Rutherford, a senior linebacker and the team captain, was there both ties when the team eotered the locker room and found that pads, shoes, helmets and other, paraphernalia had nisited. "They really did a good job," said vanished. the 6-foot-1-inch; 200-pound senior. "I was beginning to think it was an anniversary." Everything was carted away except game uniforms; which had been locked in another location. The vandals appareotive tried to break in through the locker-room doors, but they had been reinforced since last year. The wiregrated windows gave way and the room; was cleaned out. "They must have had a truck," said. Coach Jim Weish after he took an accounting of the loss. "They outfitted an entire team." Righerford, who hopes his 91 scholastic average and football ability take him away from the city to college, said: We were ready to play and this accident hit us. Is thought that was the whole season. But we still have the spirit With that spirit and some hastily put together equipment, Washington will have a successful season just being sble to play. Io Brandt, Ohio, tha profilem has never been equipment theft, but it did seem that every number except zero had been swiped whenever Bethel High was playing. Bethel went 14 games without scoring a poiot (beiog outsoured 723-0 over that stretch); and hadn't won a game since Oct. 19, 1973: Then last week Ansonia came to town and Bethel went to town. Final score: Bethel 40, Ansonia 0. "The oonsense is over," proclaimed Coach Larry Glangulio. One wonders , how Ansonia feels.

Flanagan Outpitches Hunter in 2-1 Game -Lead Cut to 7½

BY MURRAY CHASS The days of the 1976 baseball season are dwindling and so is the Yankees'

The Baltimore Orioles bit another chunk from that lead last night, com-pleting their three-day, four-game devastation of the Yankees with a 2-1 victory at the Stadium, Behind the pitching of Mike Flanagan, the hitting of Ken Singleton and the running of Paul Blair, the Orioles sliced the Yankees' lead to 71/2 games. It is New York's smallest first-place margin since July-2.

margin since July 2. The loss was the fifth straight for the Yankees, creating the longest los-ing streak of the season for the team that was only two victories from clinch-ing the American League's Eastern Divisioon championship when this series began.

'Magic Number' Stays at 3

Now the Yankees have 10 games to play, starting with s doubleheader in Detroit tonight, and to wrap up the title they must still manage a com-hination of Yankee victories and Oriole defects totaling three. Baltimore has nine games left. "They'll win some games if they get pitching like that," Earl Weaver, the Baltimore manager, said of the six-hitter thrown by Catfish Hunter. "But we're gonne try to pull it out. We'll give it our hest shot."

Hunter gave it his best shot for most of the game, but still wound up losing to the Orioles for the fifth time in six starts this season. Of the six hits, Singleton had two, driving in the tying

Singleton had two, driving in the typing run with a triple in the seventh inning and knocking in the tiebreaking run with a single in the ninth. The Yankees got six hits off Flana-gan, hut the 24-year-old left-hander, who spent part of this season at. CHICAGO, Sept. 23-Pittshurgh Pirate fans could have been excused if they put their hands over their eyes today. For the fourth sucessive game it was the hottom of the ninth with the score tied. This time it was Wrigley Field, the Chicago Cubs were threaten-ing and the fading Pirates looked as if they were going to lose the sixth of their last seven games.

With Jerry Tabh of Chicago on sec ond base, Jerry Morales singled to deep short. When Willie Stargell dropped the throw at first, Tabb, who scored the winning run yesterday, came racing toward home again. But this time, Stargeil picked up the hall, fell down as he pivoted and threw to Ed Ott, the catcher, who tagged out ite. S that fate had turned back to their side, the Pirates scored a run in the 10th, held the Cuhs scoreless and woo, 5-4. Pirates Build 4-Run Lead By winning, on Ott's double, scoring Rennie Stennett, the Pirates stayed 6 games hack of first-place Philadelphia, which beat the Cards tonight, 7-3. They ended a two-game losing streak and hegan what many of their players consider a "last-ditch attempt" to win all nine of their remaining games, hoping the Phillies lose most of their remaining 11.

Stargell's first-inning double knocked in two runs, and Stennett's triple and Demery's sacrifice fly scored two more in the fourth.

But Demery's magic ended in the sixth when he hit Mick Kelleher with a pitch, walked Tabb and, after two outs, gave up three straight hits, to Bill Madlock, Morales and Larry Bittner. The last safety, a double, scored two runners, tied the game and brought in Boh Moose, the second of four Pirate hurlers.

appear to end: "Neal has his head screwed hack on again," said one of his teanmates as the 6-foot-10-inch center checked into the hotel that houses the Knicks during training camp, which opened today. "Maybe he is back to reality again." In reality, Walk has had two pro basketball careers since 1969, when, right out of the University of Florida, he was the second player taken in the college draft after the Phoenix Suns had lost a coin toss to Milwaukee. The Bucks took Lew Alcindor, now Kareem Abdul-Jahbar, and the Suns took Walk. By the end of Walk's fourth season, his National Basketball Association statistics had soared to the top of the # page. He averaged 20 points and 12 rebounds a game in that season, and he was walking taller than some of his peers had thought he would. Ha Has Gained Weight

But then something happened, and for the next three seasons Walk's career headed steadily downhill, When he traded Walk to the New Orleans-Jazz in September 1974, Jerry Colangelo, the Suns' general manager, talked about that "something." "Neal lost the vibrant glow he had on his face at 21 and 22 years old. That glow is gone. The game became too moch of an effort. It became a

The man who had been hailed as the Messiah of the Giants had been increasingly morose, grumpy and moody as it became more apparent that the National Football League team would get no farther than New Jersey this season.

"I know I've been less than cooperative," Csonka said before practice. "But, in terms of publicity there's a time to be a turtle and a time to he a rabhit. There's a danger in talking too much."

Had Avoided Many Interviews

Until today, Csooka was playing it safe off the field, shedding newsmen the way he used to shed tacklers. On the field, the 6-foot-3-ioch, 240-pound fullback has not had much to talk about. In two games, he has gained 111 yards on 33 carries, a rate that would give him 777 yards for the season. At that same rate, though, the Giants would have an 0-14 won-lost record.

But two disappointing losses in two games and a five-game stretch, starting Sunday in Los Angeles with the Rams, against five of last season's playoff teams, do not worry Csonka. "I tried

Miller Shoots Record 63, With Hole-in-One

THE NEW YORK TIMES, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1976

Wright Cards a Record 65 for 211

And Takes Met. P.G.A. by 9 Shots

NAPA, Calif., Sept. 23 (AP)-With his parents looking on from the front lawn of his home, Johnny Miller scored a hole-in-one and went on to a courserecord, nine-under-par 63 and the first-round lead in the $175,000 Kaiser International open golf tournament today. Miller, who has won the tournament the last two years, started from the 10th tee on the north course of the Silverado Country Club. He scored his ace with a 4-iron shot on the 182-yard 11th hole.

Special to The New York Time

OLD WESTBURY, L.L, Sept. 23 - Jim

swirling winds, toured the Glen Oaks

Club course today in a record 65, seven strokes under par, and won the $26,000

Izod Metropolitan P.G.A. championship

"This will have to go into golf history as one of the great rounds of all time in view of the stiff winds and difficulty of the course with its tough pinplace-ments," said 75-year-old Johnny Farrell of Del Ray, Fla., who beat Bobby Jones at Chicago in the 1928 United States

Open. "I had a 62 in the last Westchester

Classic, but this had to be my greatest career round because of the difficulty of the course and the conditions," in-sisted the 36-year-old Wright, an alum-nus of Oklahoma State. "I missed the by nine shots with a 211.

His home is betwen the 10th green and the 11th tee, and his parents were watching when he made his second hole-in-one in the last three years in this tournament.

His 63 hroke the record of 64 on the north course, which at 6,849 yards is considered the tougher of the two lay-outs used for the first two rounds of the event. The players shift courses tomorrow, with Miller playing the 6,602-yard south. The north will be used for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. "That hole-in-one lifted me right off my feet," said Miller, who won the last patt from 15 feet that would have put me eight under. But I stroked all

Don January, a 46-year-old veteran who had won the Tournament of Champions, was nine under par on the south course, hut bogeyed two of his last three holes for a 65 and second place.

Gihby Gilbert, J. C. Snead and George Archer, all of whom played the north course, were at 66. Archer one-putted the first nine holes he played.

At 67, five under par, were Dan Sikes, Jim Dent, Tom Watson and Forrest Fezier.

Le Trevino could do no better than 72. Hale Irwin, who needs a secondplace finish to take over the season's money-winning lead, shot 71. Jerry Pate, United States Open champion, withdrew, complaining of fatigue. Ray Floyd, Jack Nicklaus and the leading money-winner, Beo Crenshaw were not competing.

Misses Austin, Berning Tie

CALABASAS, Calif., Sept. 23 (UPI)-Debbie Austin, a 28-year-old who has Golf Association tour, fired a four-un-der-par 68 today to join Susie Berning as co-leader in the first round of the $205,000 Carlton golf tournament.

Miss Austin, a stock pro from West Palm Beach, Fla., handled the 6,218-yard Calabasas Park Country Club layout in 34, 34. Miss Berning, 35, from Crystal Bay, Nev., who captured the Lady Keystone open this season, had nines of 32, 36. Donna Caponi Young, last week's winner at Portland, Ore., finished at 69 with Mary Mills of Boca Raton, Fla.

A total of 91 pros are competing for the first prize of $35,000 and a cut of the gate receipts, which could amount to $20,000, according to tournameot officials. It is the richest prize in women's golf history.

Ferrari to Release Driver

MODENA, Italy, Sept. 23 (UPI)-The Ferrari auto company said today it would release Clay Regazzoni from his contract after the Swiss racing driver honors commitmeets to compete in the final three races of the 1976 Formula One grand prix season. Ferrari had earlier informed Regazzoni, No. 2 team driver behind Niki Lauda, world cham-pioo from Austria, it would not rehire him for 1977. Regazzoni is being re-placed by Carlos Reutemann of Ar-capting. geotina.

my shots well." In addition to the three triumphs in the Met P.G.A., Wright has captured one New York State title, one Met. open, four Long Island opens, three Long Island P.G.A. tourneys, four inter-The victory, his third io the event, gave him $5,000 pins $500 for wearing a shirt of the sponsor. In addition, he .clinched the Metropolitan Professional Golfers' Association player-of-the-year award and an additional $1,000.

national pro-ams in Scotland and the Minuteman at Concord, Mass. He broke open this event with a 33 on the froot nine today, three under par, and finished with a 32, collecting seven birdies and 11 pars. He ran down putts of from five to 15 feet for the birdies.

Rex Baxter of the host club carded a 75 for 220 and second place in the $50,000 event. Austin Straub of Silver $50,000 event. Austin Straub of Silver Springs, Vt.,the Vermont open cham-pion, shared third at 222 with Jkn Alhus of LaTourette on Staten Island, the Long Island P.G.A. champion, whose 69 in the opening round had set a course record at Glen Oaks. Rick Whitfield of Creek, who shot a 73, second best card of the day, fin-isbed fifth with 233.

Buckner Finally Accepts Bucks' Multiyear Contract

Ending negotiations that had been going on since the end of the Olympic Games in Montreal, Quinn Buckner yesterday signed a multiver contract with the Milwaukee Bucks. The 6-foot-3-inch guard from Indiana University, who was the captain of the United States baskethsll team that won a gold medal in the Olympics, was the No. 1 choice of the Bucks in the college player draft. The terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Buckner was a starting guard for four years at Indiana and last season aver-aged 5.9 points as the Hoosiers won the National Collegiate championship. The Bucks also signed Alex English of South Carolina, their selection in the second round of the draft. The 6-8 forward averaged 22.6 points and 10.3 rebounds for the Gamecocks. With the signing of Buckner, only three first-round draft picks remain un-signed by National Basketball Association teams. They are Scott May of Indiana, picked by the Chicago Bulls; Mitch Kupchak of North Carolina, by the Washington Bullets, and Wally Walker of Virginia, by the Portland Trail Blazers.

Niki Lauda of Austria, the racing car driver whose face was partly disfigured by burns in a crash oo Aug. I, may seek facial surgery before the end of the year in Brazil, London or Vienna.

"We have been shopping around for the hest specialists in plastic surgery," said Wilhelm Dungi, Lauda's personal masseur.

Wayne Stephenson, who was the starting goalie for the Philadelphia Flyors last season, has asked the National Hockey League team to trade him. Acquired two years ago from St. Louis as a hack-up goalie to Bernie Parent, Stephenson played in 66 games last season when Parent was sidelined with a neck injury. He compiled a 2.58 goals-against average and led the Flyers into the final of the Stanley Cup playoffs where they lost to the Montreal Canadiens. Stephenson contends that his original contract was based on the premise that be would be a substitute and that it should be renegotiated after his performance last season. The ability of Parent to return as a starting goalie is still in doubt.

Bill Veeck, the president of the Chi-cago White Sox, has sigoed Max Pat-kin, as a coach for the team's final home series starting tonight against the Oakland A's. Patkin, who was a comedian-coach for Veeck in 1948 when Veeck nwned the Cleveland Indians, will perform tomorrow night when a sellout crowd is expected for "Bill Veeck Appreciation Night."

Lee May, the league leader with 108 runs batted in, hit a fly to left for the second out, but Ken Single-ton lashed a triple over Roy White's head in center field and Baltimore had tied the game, I-I. The Yankees had scored their run in the fifth inning on consecutive singles by Otto Velez, Fred Sanley and Randolph. DETROIT, Sept. 23 (UPI) - Three members of the Detroit Pistons failed to appear today when the N.B.A. team had its physicel examinations.

But the other 20 players, who will be reporting tomorrow when Detroit opens its training camp at Crisler Arena on the University of Michigan campus, passed their examinations and were declared ready to take part in workouts.

Curtis Rowe, a forward; Roger Brown, a center, and Marvin Barnes, who was a star forward in the A.B.A.

Havlicek and Silas Absent

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Sept. 23 (AP)—John Havlicek and Paul Silas fsiled to appear at the opening of the Boston Celtics' training camp today and were threatened with stiff fines by General Manager Red Auerbach.

"As far ss we're concerned, they're under contract and should be here," Auerbsch said. "Their contracts may have expired, but they still have an option year.

Havlicek, the fourth-highest scorer in N.B.A. history, and Silas, a powerful forward, were the only players absent from the Celtical court of the second from the Celtics' camp, at Massachu-setts Maritime Academy, on the Cape Cod Canal. Seventeen were on hand.

and Larry McNeill, acquired from Kansas City in a trade, and Jan Van Breda Kolff, chosen by the Nets in the A.B.A. dispersal draft.

Among others invited to camp for tryouts are five centers (Bill Campion, John Hummer, Steve Patterson, Earl Williama and Mel Daniels) and three ended. He was ready to do battle for a apot on the 12-man roster, aware that earning that spot would be more difficult than at any previous time dur-ing bis career. But he was botter pre-pared than he had been the previous two seasons.

"I went back to lifting weights dur-ing the entire offsesson," said Walk. "I don't like lifting weights; it's not a natural thing. It gives me pains in my neck, puts pressure on my backbone and makes me grind my teeth. But I have to do it in order to play basket-ball, and I want to play pro basket-ball."

There are players like Walk in all N.B.A. training camps, all of which opened today or will open tomorrow. With the folding of the American Bas-ketball Association, the rosters are overstocked, and by the time the sea-son opens Oct. 21 dozens of players, many with fancy cars, will be without iobs.

Recently Phil Jackson of the Knicks was seen jogging in Central Park. Someone asked him, "What are the Knicks going to do with all their front-conrt men?" Jackson said, "What do you think I'm jogging for?" Walk is one of five centers among the 22 players who began sweating and groaning today during the two-a-day workouts at the Knick camp. The other centers are John Gianelli: Randy Denton, acquired in the A.B.A. dispersal draft; Lonnie Shelton, the Knicks' top choice in the college draft, and Rick Bullock, a 6-9. 230-pounder out of Texas Tech who showed promise in the Moose Glusti (W,5-4) rookie camp. Kison P. Reuschal Unless there are some trades-and Eddie Donovan, the general manager, Sutter Knowles (L, 5-7) is still looking-10 spots appear to be definitely filled. The backcourt will have Walt Frazier, Earl Monroe, Butch Beard and Ticky Burden, and the frontcourt Spencer Haywood, Jim McMillian, Bill Bradley, Gianelli, Sholton and Jackson.

Walk has two years remaining on his contract, and this in addition to his added weight and hard work during the offseason could persuade Coscb Red Holzman to carry three centers, especially since Gianelli can also play forward.

On Late Goal by Stamler

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23 (AP)-Lorne Stamler scored midway in the third period last night to help Los Angeles gain a 4-4 tie with the New York Islanders in a preseason National Hockey League game.

Jean Potvin, with two goals, and Jude Drouin, with one goal and two assists, led the Islander attack against the Kings. Potvin snapped a 3-3 deadlock at 7:49 of the final period when his shot deflected into the net from FITNESS TEST i five feet out to give New York a shortlived 4-3 lead. Stamler then tied it less than two minutes later when ha scored after Jimmy Smith made a fine save on a shot by Gene Carr.

Jets and Giants Billed for Games On Road With Tough Foes Sunday

By WILLIAM N. WALLACE Four defeats in their first four games for the Giants and Jets mark the poorest combined start ever for New York's two pro football teams. So the national television game, Baltimore at Dallas (Channel 4, 4 P.M.), holds chief interest in Sunday's schedule. Both About local teams face formidable opposition on the road, the Jets at Miami (Channel 4, Pro Football 1 P.M.), and the Giants at Los Angeles (Channel 2, 4 P.M.). The Monday night game matches Washington and Philadelphia (Channel 7, 9 P.M.). Here is a preview of all games with won-lost-tied records in parentheses:

LOCAL TEAMS

Jets (0-2-0) at Miami (1-1-0)-Dolphins have given up six scoring passes and Don Sbula blames a poor pass rush. But in their last four games, Miami has.

But in their last four games, Miami has. intercepted 14 of Joe Namath's passes and outscored the Jets, 105-41. Betting favorite—Miami by 19. Giants (0-2-0) at Los Angeles (1-0-1) —Rams will start James Harris over Pat Haden at quarterback with Harris's fractured thumb healed. They need a quarterback merely to hand off to John Cannelletti, Gimts wood't be she to Cappelletti. Giants won't be able to run and their passer, Craig Morton, wits against strong defenses. Betting favorite—Los Angeels by 13. INTERCONFERENCE

Baltimore (2-0-0) at Dallas (2-0-0)-Derrel Luce, the Colts' new linebacker and Baylor alumnus, will have 90 rela-tives and friends watching as Cow-boys' Scott Laidlaw and Doug Denni-son run right at him. Dallas looked Son fun fight at min. Dails flower good against weak foes, Eagles and Saints. Betting favorite—Dallas by 7. or Green Bay. Jackie Smith rejoins the lineup at tight end but Mel Gray may not play. Pat Tilley, a rookie, will re-place him. Chargers call this their first

"big game" in years. Rickey Young has been the key runner while the de-fense has allowed no points in last six quarters, but four against Tampa Bay. Betting favorite-St. Louis by 6. New Orleans (0-2-0) at Kansas City (0-2-0) — Hank Stram, the deposed coach, returns to Arrowhead Stadium with punchless Saints team. The Chiefs are somewhat better off. His successor, are somewhat better off, his successor, Paul Wiggin, says of Stram, "Twe never met the man and have oothing against him, but I want us to look real good." Betting favorite—Kansas Oity by 6. Green Bay (0-2-0) at Cincinnati (1-1-0)—Ken Anderson is all right and will play for Bengals. Archie Griffin danced too much so Lenvil Elliott will start too much so Lenvil Elliott will start at running back. Packers may start Eric Torkelson, a onetime star at Connecticut at halfback. Betting favorite-Cincinnati by 17.

AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Buffalo (0-2-0) at Tampa Bay (0-2-0)—Bills may have to play without their best receivers, Bob Chandler and Paul Seymour. The defense has improved. Buccaneers bave yet to score. Betting favorite-Buffalo by 10.

Cleveland (1-1-0) at Denver (1-1-0)-Browns start at running back non-related Greg Pruitt and Mike Pruitt. Latter is rookie who fumbled three times in late loss to Steelers. Brian Sipe continues at quarterback. It's a big game for Denver, which has easy schedule, Betting favorite-Denver by 7. New England (1-1-0) at Pittsburgh (1-1-0)—Patriots upset Dolphins be-cause the quarterback, Steve Grogan, got away with running the hall. He won't against the Steelers, who regain Lynn Swano at wide receiver. The other one, John Stallworth, is good, too. Betting favorite—Pittsburgh by 15. Oakland (2-0-0) at Houston (2-0-0)—

Raiders will double cover the Oiler wide receivers, Ken Burrough and Bill Johnsoo, and not worry about the tight terback, is fit. Oiler defense has given up only 3 points. Betting favorite— Oakland by 3. NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Minnesota (1-0-1) at Detroit (1-1-0) - Vikings' Jim Marshall starts his 225th consecutive game, a record. Vikes, who have passed more than they bave run, want to tune up ground game and Lions bave lost their best defensive lineman, Herb Orvis. Greg Landry is to start at quarterback for first time in a year. Betting favorite —Minnesota by 8.

San Fraocisco (1-1-0) at Seattle (0-2-0)—Jim Zorn, their quarterback, is Seahawks' leading rusher, which explains impoteot offense. With Del Williams and Wilbur Jackson the runners, the 49ers are stressing the ground game, leaving Jim Plankett overpaid. Betting favorite—San Francisco by 11.

MONDAY NIGHT

Washington (2-0-0) at Philadelphia (1-1-0)—Eagles upset the Redskins twice last season, which caused George Allen much grief. His players have been reminded all week. Mike Hogan, impressive Eagles' rookie runner, was coached by Joe Morrison, former Giant, at Tennessee - Chattanooga. Betting favorite-Washington by 8.

German Leads in Skating

ROME, Sept. 23 (DPI)-Thomas Nieder of West Germany led the men's in-dividual standing at the end of compulsory figures today in the world artistic roller skating championships. Nieder had 500.5 points. Another West German, Michel Butzke, was second with 492.6. Sports Today BASEBALL

Judge Seeks Rehearing

For Suspended Players

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 23 (AP)--A Federal judge said today be was trying to get the National Collegiate Athletic Association to conduct a new hearing oo suspensions imposed upon two Michigan State University_ football starters. They were suspended for using a fan's credit card to buy clothing.

United States District Court Judge Noel Fox said he sought the rehearing Noel Fox said he sought the rehearing for Joe Hunt, a defensive back, and Michael Cobb, a tigbtend, in a confer-ence call involving lawyers for the N.C.A.A., Michigan State, Cobb and Hunt. The reason for the judge's call was a letter he received from Hunt's mother. Nola Hunt of Toledo Ohio, said her son wants to play professional football to relieve ber of the burden of supporting six sons.

"They put it back together again," he said. "It happened last year, I've learned to live with it." The Jets like his strength and quick-ness. What remains to be seen before he'is considered a major leaguer is he is considered a major leaguer is what he does with the talents. "He's smart," says the offensive-line coach, Bob Fry, "But be needs a lot of work on technique, just like all mokies do. Sometimes he starts off the wrong foot, and he's late coming off the ball, but maybe that's just our terminology and he's not adjustiog to

; Roman will have to be ready by tomorrow ("If you're undecided by Friday," says Fry, "How will it be oo Sunday?"). On the field he was matched against

Richard Neal, the defensive right end. They collided three times, and each was a stand off. That's a victory for Roman since, theoretically, Neal didn't get to the quarterback or the ball-carri-

Coming to the Jets means his family, which lives near Atlentic City, will finally get a chance to see him. "I went to Idaho State, a small school, and they saw me play only once," he said. Now they can see bim play for a second time, at least.

"I'm a young baliplayer, 24 years old. Fye got to work, for everything I want."

Nick Buonicouti of Miami bas suf-fered an injured left knee in practice, forcing a change in the Miami defensive strategy. Coach Don Shula had planned to go with four linebackers in the wake of last Sunday's loss to New England in which the Patriots gained almost 300 yards on the ground. But with Buoniconti hurt, the word from Miami is that the Dolphins will use the traditional three linebackers.

"My wife would love to see me retire. But I enjoy playing in football games now. And I believe in this team. But nothing worthwhile has ever been achieved easily. It'll take time." Meanwhile, Csonka indicated he would try and be less moody off the field. "Twe enjoyed this superstar syn-drome very little," he said. "But I have come to realize I can't just play foot-ball. I am part of the publicity that has made the league so popular. I do recognize my obligations."

Henry Stuckey's sore knee has been slow to respond, and the cornerback remained on the Giants' "questionable" list. If Stuckey can't make it, Coach Bill Amsparger will have to start two former W.F.L. players in the secondary -Bill Bryant at cornerback and Larry Mallory for the injured Jim Stienke at free safety. . . . Joe Danelo was feeling much better and was kicking well in practice. ... The Giants' main con-cern Sunday will be stopping the Rams' running game ... John Cappelletti and Lawrence McCutcheon rank 1.2 in the league with 230 and 225 yards rushing, respectively. . . . THE NEW YORK TIMES, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1976

Continued From Page Al tial in the decision to freeze payments The freeze will be announced to the state today in a telegram from Wallace F. Warren, regional administrator of the Agriculture. Department's Food and Nutrition Service. It was made public yesterday evening by Representative Elizabeth Holtzman, Democrat of Brooklyn, who released a letter she had neceived from Mr. Knebel and the text of Mr. Warren'a planned telegram.

Dr. Thomas Calvio, state administrator of the program, responded angrily last night to the Agriculture Department actioo, stating that it "never had any question on how we were processing our final claims," and hlaming "political pres-sure" for the freeze of funds.

"The department [U.S.D.A.] is starting something that may leave them with the program themselves oaxt year," Dr. Calvin said. Earlier in the day, Dr. Calvin had said that his office was still processing foodprogram participants' claims for meals they had served in July, and had not yet hegun making final payments for August. The telegram indicated that the pro-cedure for the release of funds had oot vet been determined. One Agriculture Department source: said that Agricultura Department auditors would assist the state, and that no funds would be re-leased unless both the state and the

Of his autobiograpby, "Irregular Gen-tleman," published in 1948, Mr. Poore wrote that the writer 'may leave you a little breathless at times with his sudden shifts of scene and emphasis, but we doubt that you'll he bored." The critic lauded Mr. Bellah's "lively and purgent" style and ability to "make the apparently commooplace look vital and important."

Besides "Liberty Valance," Mr. Ballah's screen credits included "The Sea Chase," starring John Wayne; "Taget Zero," "A Thunder of Drums," "X-IS" and "Ser-geant Rutledge." Many of his short stor-ies, includiog: "She Wore a Yellow Rib-hon," were also adapted for the screen. Mr. Bellah's books included "The Val-iant Virginians." "The Bones of Napol-

endur bank can't tell us apart. 99

THE NEW YORK TIMES, FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 24, 1976

••Which one of us makes $20,000? We both do. And we like to spend it on the same kinds of things, too.

Like travel. Before we met, Steve and I did a lot of it. Because we felt that exploring the world was a good way to find yourself.

Now that we're married, we have twice as much money and twice as much savings. We'll be traveling farther And a lot

We'll be traveling farther. And a lot more often.

We'll also get to play more tennis. Spend more weekends skiing. Or camping.

And, now, we can have our once-a-month wine and cheese party, once-a-week.

I guess we know what we want from life. And with twice as much money we not only can put more into it, we can get more out of it.99

The way Ellen and Steve feel about life is an example of the new values many young adults have today.

And because Psychology Today responds to those values, it attracts over four and a half million people every month.

People who believe in living their dreams today, not tomorrow.

For example, according to Simmons, PT's women readers outdo, outplay and outbuy the male readers of just about every other major magazine. And our male readers outdo our women. Our readers are young, affluent and always in the market for quality products and services. And PT readers set the trends others follow.
